East Prairie Boy Dies After Crash

An East Prairie boy died Saturday after a car-bicycle collision. A Bloomfield man was killed Sunday eight miles west of Advance when he lost control of his car.

Mark Stanley Williams, seven, East Prairie, died enroute to the Missouri Delta Community hospital Saturday afternoon following an accident at 1:20 p.m. on route 105, three miles north of East Prairie.

Thomas L. Rainwater, 41, Bloomfield, as killed instantly in a one-car accident at 1:50 a.m. on route C in Bollinger county, eight miles west of Advance.

Williams was traveling south on the highway on his bicycle, when it struck a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by W. C. Bryant, 56, route two, East Prairie was also traveling south.

The youth turned left into the path of the Bryant car and was thrown from the bicycle to the highway, the state patrol reported.

Young Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lee Williams, rural, East Prairie, was born Sept. 11, 1960 in Wyatt.

Other survivors are two sisters, Sherry Williams and Cecilia Williams, and two brothers, Clinton Lee Williams and Christopher Williams, his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ray Williams, East Prairie; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Myers, Sikeston; and his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards, East Prairie.

Services were today at 3:30 p.m. in the Shelby Funeral Chapel, East Prairie, with the Rev. Darrell Jauch, pastor of First Baptist church, officiating.

Burial was in WOW cemetery.

Rainwater was driving a 1967 International pickup truck, and according to the state partol, 20 minutes earlier backed into an unidentified car parked in a private drive and left the scene.

While traveling west on the highway, he lost control of his car, went into a ditch and overturned twice.

His body was taken to the Morgan Funeral Home in Advance.

Four were injured Saturday in a one-car accident at 10:45 a.m. on Interstate-55, four miles south of Sikeston.

A 1968 Ford, driven by Howard Fields, 21, Kansas City, Kans., speeding south went out of control, ran into the median, crossed back into the highway and turned over twice on the right-of-way.

He and three passengers, Carolyn Whitmill, 42, Jethro Garrett, 19, and Ralph Tabron, 19, all of Kansas City, received minor injuries, and were treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

In a parking lot accident at the Scott City Rainbow drivein, Saturday at 7:45 p.m., Randy David Bray, 12, Blytheville, a pedestrian, received an injured knee, when a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by James Elbert Gum Jr., 41, Scott City, pinned the youth between his car and another car.

Bray was treated and released from the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Four were injured Saturday at 6:45 p.m. on highway 72, 10 miles east of Fredericktown, when James Quinn, 64, Patton, slowed for a left turn, and waved to a vehicle from behind to pass. The second car, a 1959 Oldsmobile, driven by John D. Brown, 40, Memphis, and the Quinn car sideswiped on the shoulder and the Quinn car traveled on to strike a tree.

Injured in the Quinn car were Marjory Quinn, 63, internal and back injuries, and James H. Quinn, 38, both of Patton, cuts on his face and left hand.

Brown received cuts on his nose and mouth, and a passenger, Robert E. Reid, 41, Union, Miss., cuts on his chin.

The injured were taken to Madison County Memorial hospital in Fredericktown.

Five were injured in a two-car collision, Sunday at 5:40 p.m., on highway 67, two miles north of Neelyville.

A 1963 Buick, driven by James Oscar Wilson, 43, Poplar Bluff, came behind an unidentified vehicle that had stopped. The brakes on the Wilson car failed and the car went on the shoulder and struck a 1968 Chevrolet, driven by Vida Lacefield, 41, Hoxie, Ark., almost headon.

Injured in the Wilson car were the driver, with scratches on his face and knee, and three passengers: Myrna Wilson, 13, Hoxie, leg injury and cuts on her body; Jessie Hayman, Harviell, cuts on the face and hands, and Katie Hayman, 53, Harviell, cuts on her body.

Mrs. Lacefield, driver of the Chevrolet, received cuts on her forearm and leg.

The injured were taken to Doctors hospital in Poplar Bluff.

In a one-car accident Sunday at 1:10 a.m. in Neelyville, Mary Huff, 31, Saraland, Ala., driving an unidentified vehicle, lost control on a curve, and ran into a ditch.

Injured was a passenger, Ruby Suiter, 54, Neelysville, head cuts. She was treated at Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Saturday at 7:45 a.m. on highway 53, four miles south of Poplar Bluff, Thomas A. Forbes, 62, Broseley, lost control of his 1963 van when a wheel dropped off the pavement. The vehicle ran into a ditch and overturned.

He received cuts on his arms and legs, and a possible back injury.

Forbes was taken to Poplar Bluff hospital.

Delmo Post To Cooper

LILBOURN - Alex Cooper of Hayti has been appointed program director of the Delmo Housing Corporation by the board of directors, effective Sunday.

He will take the place of Mrs. Charlotte Ragan, acting director, whose husband resigned to head the Sikeston regional diagnostic clinic.

Cooper will continue to live at Hayti.

He is a college graduate, a former army engineer combat officer in Korea and Fort Leonard Wood, and a former teacher. He recently worked for the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation in the Head Start program and as neighborhood service center coordinator. He was employed by the SEMO Development Corporation as project director of the neighborhood youth corps.

Republicans Name Fred Steward Jr.

BENTON - Fred Steward Jr., Sikeston, was re-elected chairman of the Scott County Republican committee at a meeting of committeemen and committee women.

Steward was elected to chair the committee four months ago upon the resignation of Charles (Bud) Bates.

Lynn Colley, Sikeston, was elected vice chairman. Mrs. George Johnson, Sikeston, secretary and Abe Hirschowitz, Oran, treasurer.

Adolescence for chimpanzees, as for humans, is a trying time, a National Geographic research project learned. With a male chimp, puberty begins at 7 or 8 years. At this age he starts to leave his mother for longer and longer periods, although throughout adolescence he frequently returns to her.

Ike Has Increase In Extra Beats

WASHINGTON (AP) - Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has shown "further increase" in heart irritability since Sunday and remains in critical condition.

Doctors of the Walter Reed Army Hospital said that extra heartbeats have been occurring with "increasing frequency" since Sunday.

But they added that there had been no further episodes of "rapid heart action," which constitute the more serious sympton of his condition.

The hospital issued this morning bulletin:

"Gen. Eisenhower has shown further increase in heart irritability since yesterday. Extra beats have been occurring with increasing frequency. However, there have been no further episodes of rapid heart action.

"The general's condition remains critical.

"He enjoyed a light breakfast this morning and continues to rest comfortably."

A medical bulletin Sunday night said Eisenhower's condition remained "essentially unchanged" from the day's earlier reports.

The afternoon bulletin had reported no new instances of the rapid heart action.

The morning bulletin had said the "increased heart irritability - extra beat-which began yesterday, Saturday a.m., has persisted through the day and night and there have been several episodes of rapid heart action requiring further treatments."

The bulletin added that Eisenhower "rested comfortably during the night and is in good spirits this morning. Mrs. Eisenhower continues to visit the general briefly at frequent intervals."

In answer to a newsman's written question as to whether Eisenhower's condition was worse than at any time since the latest actual attack, the doctors said Sunday night he was "holding his own."

In answer to another question, the doctors also indicated for the first time they do not believe medical statistics are against Eisenhower's chances for survival.

They were asked whether a "patient's survival after several closely spaced heart attacks and episodes of ventricular fibrillation is considered rare."

"It is becoming increasingly common with present - day medical facilities," they said.

Ventricular fibrillation is a fluttering of the heart muscle which threatens performance of the heart's basic task of pumping blood to vital organs.

Books Donated For Migrants

Mrs. Burt Rowe Sr., president of the Church Women United, has reported an "enthusiastic and generous" response in a book collection made for the Missouri Association of Migrant Opportunity services centers at Marston, Hayti and Gobler.

The reference books, supplementary text books, fiction, biographies and magazines are being used in adult education classes held to raise the education level of the workers and assist them in other ways so they can become self-supporting, taxpaying citizens.

A typewriter and phonograph were donated.

The book collection drive was June 15-July 15.

Members of the Church Women United transported the books to the center in Marston for distribution.

10 Treated

Ten were admitted to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community hospital during the weekend:

Treated Saturday were Susan Marie Bonifield, Charleston, mashed finger in car door; Carolyn D. Whitmill, Howard L. Fields, Jethro D.Garrett, Ralph Tabron, all of Kansas City, injured in car accident; Catherine Edwards, Chicago, cut finger on glass; Scott Leslie Hepler, Pevely, cut left index and middle finger on push lawnmower and Maria Rosa Martin, Sikeston, fell at home.

Admitted Sunday were Shawn W. Marshall, Bertrand, dog bite, and Bobby Gene Klingel, Sikeston, riding bicycle, rode into another bicycle.

Gov. Godwin's Daughter Hit By Lightning

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) - Becky Godwin, 14-year-old daughter of Virginia's governor, was in critical condition today after being struck by lightning on the beach Sunday, hospital officials said.

Virginia Beach General Hospital said the slight, brown-haired girl remain in the intensive care unit. It is still difficult, the report said, "to offer any longrange prognosis."

The hospital bulletin did not say whether Becky had regained consciousness for any period.

Doctors said there were "some encouraging responses to intensive treatment in the last few hours."

Her father, Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., arrived at the hospital Sunday night from Chicago, where Virginia's Democratic National Convention delegation had planned to nominate him as a favorite-son candidate for president.

He was visibly shaken. The governor had been in Chicago only six hours when the accident occurred about 3:30 p.m. First reports informed him his daughter was dead. Then the report was: "extremely critical." He left Chicago immediately.

Becky, the Godwin's adopted only child, had been vacationing with her mother at the governor's seaside cottage on the state military reservation here. Her mother, Katherine, was recuperating from a serious abdominal operation she underwent last week.

Humphrey Lead Uneasy as Demos Launch Convention

CHICAGO (AP) - Hubert H. Humphrey held a heavy - but highly uneasy - lead for the presidential nomination today as a deeply divided Democratic party headed into its 1968 convention.

The vice president had in his pocket two-thirds of the first-ballot votes needed for the top prize, but most of the talk and much of the enthusiasm were for two non-candidates hundreds of miles from this heavily guarded city: Lyndon B. Johnson and Edward M. Kennedy.

The President, home on the ranch near Johnson City, Tex., was giving no hint on whether he'd even show up in Chicago-through his 60th birthday anniversary Tuesday offers a dramatic opportunity to put real steam behind a budding "Draft Johnson" movement.

Sen. Kennedy, like Johnson an avowed noncandidate, was relaxing at Cape Cod, Mass., but a perhaps more insistent "draft" movement appeared to be surfacing in Chicago.

Forces in the Texas delegation are ready to put Johnson's name in nomination. Former Gov. Michael DiSalle of Ohio is ready with Kennedy's-and this morning important new strength turned the senator's way.

Longshot presidential hopeful George S. McGovern said if Kennedy "called me and talked to me directly and said that he wanted the nomination I would probably throw my support to him."

McGovern, a South Dakota senator, added, however: "I don't expect that to happen, I don't know about any Kennedy movement."

A second liberal senator from the Midwest, Philip Hart of Michigan, endorsed Kennedy for the nomination-and Sander Levin, chairman of the Michigan delegation, said he would "lean to Kennedy if Kennedy became a candidate.

Like McGovern, both Hart and Levin spoke cautiously, saying they were not urging the last of the Kennedy brothers to get into the race.

But a boom, or at least a boomlet, has been launched. Attention was centered particularly on the 118-vote Illinois delegation where, at the direction of Mayor Richard J. Daley, a presidential preference vote was put off until Wednesday - obviously to see if either the Johnson or Kennedy drives catch fire.

Blair Clark, campaign manager for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, contended at a news conference in mid-morning "it now is quite clear" that Humphrey is not going to win on the first ballot.

On paper, at least, the strength of the declared candidates remained constant. The Associated Press, basing its count on primary results, public pledges, checks with delegates and caucuses, gave this standing in mid-morning:

Humphrey 889;

Sen. Eugene J.McCarthy: 477¼

McGovern 37½

Favorite sons 419½

Others 13

Uncommitted 785¾

The convention's 2,622 delegates make their White House choice Wednesday night.

On another front, meanwhile, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia resigned as a delegate to the convention-though he remains a candidate for the party's nomination.

California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, heading the 174-vote delegation won by the late Robert F. Kennedy, said it would be difficult for him to support Humphrey, but added it would be impossible for the group to band unanimously behind any one candidate.

Humphrey's supporters seemed to make up some of this contested ground with the forecast by Frank P. O'Conner, head of the New York City Council, that the vice president will get about 100 of his state's 190 votes on the first ballot.

The convention began clearing away the preliminaries tonight in an atmosphere of a maximum security stockade at the Stockyards International Amphitheatre.

Delegates and alternates were outnumbered by troops 4-to-1.

Six thousand federal troops have been airlifted into Chicago to back up 18,000 Illinois National Guardsmen ready to combat any flareup of violence.

Police cordons have sealed off the convention area. Small crowds of antiwar demonstrators rallied Sunday in downtown lakefront park areas and marched on one hotel, but there were only a few arrests and no major disturbances.

Johnson's Vietnam policies appear headed for a floor fight Tuesday night despite efforts to reach an off-stage compromise.

Delegates writing the party platform labored until midnight Sunday without reaching the Vietnam question and were scheduled to resume today.

Key supporters of Humphrey and McCarthy were searching for a compromise that might prevent a party-splitting showdown on the floor.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, of Maine, backing Humphrey, said he thinks the candidates are close enough on fundamentals to make a compromise possible.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, a McCarthy backer, said the Platform Committee ought to draft a plank covering the main goals of U. S. policy, leaving room for differences on the details.

Czechs Doubt Truce Reports as Talks Go Into Fourth Day

MOSCOW (AP) - Czechoslovak and Soviet talks went into an afternoon session today on the fourth day of negotiations amid reports they had reached preliminary agreement to end the crisis. But some Czechoslovak sources expressed doubt that anything like a final solution had been agreed upon.

Authoritative party sources in Prague said there was hope of reaching an agreement that would include Soviet recognition of the liberal party leaders in exchange for acceptance of a temporary Soviet occupation.

A Czechoslovak Embassy spokesman said President Ludvig Svoboda and other liberal leaders would return to Prague no matter what the results of the negotiations.

The spokesman said Svoboda would be accompanied home by Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek reported earlier to have been taken prisoner by the Soviet troops who invaded his country.

The spokesman said three more top officials, had arrived from Prague to join the talks as they resumed for the fourth day. The new arrivals were Josef Spacek and Bohuwil Simon, both liberal followers of Dubcek, and Oldrich Svestka, conservative editor of the party newspaper Rude Pravo.

With the arrival of Spacek and Svestka, the Czechoslovak delegation included seven of the 11 members of the party's 11-man presidium. Simon is head of the party's Prague city organization.

The Free Czech Radio announced that the central committee of the Czechoslovak Communist party, which is loyal to Svoboda and Dubcek, has been called into plenary session to discuss the Moscow negotiations and the current situation in Prague.

Another underground broadcast told Czechoslovaks that some compromise must be made to get the Soviet-bloc occupiers off their land but that it "need not be needlessly great."

The commentator said the invasion by the Soviet Union and four other orthodox Communist states added up to a "bungled putsch" by Communist leaders concerned not about the party's future but for their own "personal power."

"The Soviet Union has found itself facing the whole world and the international Communist movement in the extremely unpleasant position of a great power which not only tries to enforce its power objectives by means of force, but which, in addition, had failed to enforce them," the broadcast said.

A Moscow correspondent for Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported that the Soviet leaders had agreed in principle to the withdrawal of the occupation troops.

Job Corps to Study LPN Setup

Two representatives of the St. Louis Job Corps Center will visit the Licensed Practical Nurse program conducted at the Sikeston Public School board of education building Thursday.

Purpose of the visit will be to review the administration and conduct of the program here, Mrs. Clara Eisenbach, director of the LPN program here, said.

The St. Louis Job Corps center administrators are considering setting up a practical nursing program in the St. Louis Center.

The Sikeston LPN program will be studied as a model. It is the only program in the state that has National Accredation, and is recognized as one of the best programs of its type.

The St. Louis representatives who will study the program here are Mrs. Famila Kennedy, nurse administrator for the practical nurse program, and Mrs. Lucille Grimes, coordinator of vocational education for the St. Louis Job Corps Center.

All Czech Road Signs Now Point to Moscow

PRAGUE (AP) - Road signs all over Czechoslovakia have been removed, painted over or turned around. Now they read "To Moscow."

Such signs have appeared on almost every road leading to the east. To make sure that the Soviet occupiers understand them, the Czechs and Slovaks have written them in the Cyrillic alphabet used in Russia.

On the route through southern Bohemia from West Germany to Prague, other signs read, "Ivan go home," in Russia, Czechoslovak and English.

Passing through the small villages of Bohemia, one sees walls and shop windows covered with anti - Soviet signs, many of them in Russian.

"We don't want your help," said one. "This is our country," said another. There were endless variations on the main theme, "Moscow is that way, please get going."

New signs also warn travelers of Soviet checkpoints or roadblocks.

Entering Prague on one road, travelers encountered such signs as, "Soviet roadblock, 1500 meters ahead" and, "Watch out for Ivan, 500 meters from here."

Another phase of the sign campaign aims at confusing the occupiers and hindering their activities.

In many villages and in Prague, street signs and house numbers have been removed. Signposts have been splashed with buff paint. Others have been pointed in wrong directions.

As a result, the Soviets are finding it hard to get around. Russian truckdrivers losing their way in a town can never get more than a shrug from Czechoslovak pedestrians they ask for directions.

"Even our children have suddenly forgotten all the Russian vocabulary they learned in school," one native said.

In the first two days of the occupation, Soviet tanks were surrounded by youngsters trying to convince the Russians to leave.

This stopped after reports spread of hidden cameras filming the youngsters for Soviet propaganda newsreels showing the "cordial welcome" by the Prague population.

The rule is now to look the other way as soon as a Russian is spotted.

Western travelers, on the other hand, get all the help they need. Bystanders and even police readily guide them through towns and cities. In case of a car breakdown, they get fast service, even on Sunday.

Payment is usually refused, but drivers are normally handed a souvenir, a little card printed in English: "Ivan go home."

Girl Heart Transplant Patient Dies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two male heart transplant patients were reported in good condition today, but a five-year-old girl died Sunday a week after receiving a new heart.

Leonard Drake, 42, a retired postal clerk of Eugene, Ore., ate a good breakfast and sat in a chair Sunday at the Stanford, Calif., Medical Center the third day after receiving his new heart.

He was the center's third heart transplant recipient and the world's 33rd.

Louis B. Russell Jr., 43, an Indianapolis, Ind., school teacher, was reported in satisfactory condition Sunday at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond.

Russell's transplant Saturday was the world's 34th and the second at the Richmond hospital. The previous patient died in May, one week after the transplant.

Maria Giannaris of Hagerstown, Md., died Sunday, a week after receiving a transplant in the Texas Heart Institute at Texas Childrens Hospital, Houston.

Maria was implanted with the heart of an 11-year-old boy who had suffered a brain hemorhage.

The first child-a 2½ week-old boy-to receive a heart transplant died 6½ hours after the operation last December in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Police Report Four Arrests One Breakin

A breakin at Bob's Gulf Service Station, 2007 East Malone, netted burglars about $20 in change, police reported today.

Edward Heacox, 312 Illinois, attendant, told police entrance was gained through a window on the west side of the building. The breakin occurred between 9 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

In other activity, Lloyd Vernon Tippy, 611 Cleveland, and John Thomas Schaffer, Kendall St., were each arrested at 12:03 a.m. Sunday and charged with peace disturbance for fighting.

Nelson A. McNeeley, Dexter, was arrested at 10:08 p.m. Sunday and charged with public intoxication on Felker St.

Roosevelt Smith, 226 North Kingshighway, was charged at 4:30 p.m. Sunday with assault and battery.

Richard Dorris, 179 Presnell Dr., reported to police at 3:28 p.m. Saturday that several small items valued together at $22 were taken from his car Saturday afternoon while it was parked near the Burger Chef on Highway 61.

Undercurrent of Tension Ushers in Convention

CHICAGO (AP) - In Lincoln Park, which is only a few miles north of the hall where the Democrats hope to nominate the next president of the United States, there is a huge triangular field.

On the weekend before the Democratic National Convention, a sunny hot day that used to be described as languid, adolescents were playing baseball in two corners of the field. Along the edges and in the near background, people watched in a desultory way, families picnicked, lovers loved, children ran, old men slept in the shade and sail boats leaned in the wind in the blue, if not unpolluted waters of Lake Michigan. As American as apple pie.

In the third corner of the field, another group of adolescents sat on the grass around a chunky young lady in a bright blue dress who was speaking matter of factly into a hand microphone.

"Ninety per cent of hemorrhaging can be stopped with pressure," she told her audience, some of whom held babies, many of whom wore beards, tattered denim and the other symbols of adolescent disenchantment. The audience was made up of serious young people who expected soon to march on the convention to demonstrate for peace.

A bearded young man stretched out near the lecturer. "Now in artificial respiration," she said, "the thing to do is keep your cool but work fast." And she demonstrated artificial respiration on her bearded model and nobody laughed or gasped or otherwise reflected the implausibility of a first-aid lecture on extensive bleeding, as or shock to a bunch of kids in a sunny city park.

They were preparing for possible violence. In this town at this time, everybody seems to be preparing for violence. From all points of the compass one senses menace creeping into the city on little cat feet.

By the thousands, city police prowl the streets, squind from roof tops, guard the hotels and the convention hall, cluster on corners, wearing blue riot helmets, carrying big billy clubs and big black pistols. By the thousands, billeted nearby, soldiers stand ready with armored vehicles and bayonetted rifles. By the hundreds, agents of the United States Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Criminal Investigation Division and other federal agencies, study the crowds in the hotel lobbies, search the convention hall for explosives, question people without proper credentials, and peek into handbags and packages carried into the hall.

By the dozens in the air over Chicago, the nation's second largest city, where Abe Lincoln was nominated with less display of force on the eve of the Civil War, helicopters circle over the convention hotels and the convention hall, where soon the saints will be marching in and happy days are here again.

And the cab drivers are on strike and the bus drivers are on strike, and the phone installers are on strike, and the traffic jams into impossible gluts and delegates arriving at the airport frantically wave twenty dollar bills at strangers in the hopes of catching a ride into town.

And the peace demonstrators march outside of the hotels with signs asking "Will napalm teach democracy?" and a lone eccentric carried a black bordered picture of a familiar face with the caption: 'Keep the peace with Robert Kennedy," and the red-cheeked girls with a plastic straw hats are much less visible than they were in Miami. And in the hotel rooms, Hubert H. Humphrey, who had once hoped to be the new happy warrior of politics, who now keeps one ear cocked for some encouraging word from the ranch, works unhappily trying to hold on to his convention strength. He has the delegates but not the voters, say the polls. And in other hotel rooms, Eugene J. McCarthy, who is said to have the voters but not the delegates, sharpens his lance for the last big windmill while his young evangelical workers, the ones who followed him the whole lonesome way from New Hampshire, wait almost prayerfully for victory in what they have called the Establishment's last chance. And in still other hotel rooms, the young-old men who followed John F. Kennedy all the way to Dallas and then Robert F. Kennedy all the way to Los Angeles, now discuss, argue, plan and hope to find a live hero.

And on billboards all over town, Mayor Richard J. Daley welcomes the delegates to his city, with a hand gaily waving a straw hat, as if this convention were being held in a happier century with torch light parades and weenie roasts. And along the convention route, the Mayor's red fences hide ugly, empty lots and his fresh flowers decorate the expressway exits and visitors would never know they were within a few miles of buildings gutted last April by race riots.

This is not a happy convention.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:
KEEP IT A HAPPY DAY

Labor Day is just around the corner. The symbolism of the day has been lost to many in the enjoyment of the good life. Never in history has such a high level of well-being beer the lot of so many people. For most of us, the struggle and deprivation of the centuries have faded into the limbo of history and are no longer comprehensible.

Since this is the case, it may be the better part of wisdom to consider some of the practical aspects of Labor Day as it is now observed. Coming as it does at the end of summer, it is an invitation to one last fling. This means countless millions of us will take to the highways and byways, to mountains, lakes and the sea. An army of attendants, maintenance crews, firemen, police, first-aid and rescue personnel will be on hand to minimize the casualties. Their task is formidable at best, and unless holiday throngs co-operate, it becomes a hopeless rearguard action.

So this Labor Day, drive carefully, put our your campfire, handle firearms with care and use common sense precautions around "the old swimming hole." Above all, remember there will be other holidays and other trips. Don't leave the countryside a no man's land of litter. There are millions of litter receptacles around the country. They are there to help preserve the beauty of the land -- so let's use them.

SLOW MOTION GOVERNMENT

More than nine years after it first began considering the weighty matter, three years after it began public hearings and 7,800 pages of testimony later, the Federal Drug Administration has finally decreed:

A one-pound jar of peanut butter must contain at least 90 per cent peanuts and no more than 10 per cent other stuff, like emulsifiers and stabilizers.

If that doesn't stick to the roof of your mouth, try another example of your federal men in inaction:

In 1965, a Florida trucking company applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to establish a route between Jacksonville and Miami.

After 38 months of legal negotiations, 13 months of Commission hearings, testimony from 297 witnesses, 545 exhibits and the piling up of a transcript of 16,000 pages, the ICC has granted approval.

As Jefferson might have said: That government governs least that governs most.

RATIONAL MORRIS POLICY AT SIU

The stern disciplinary policy adopted by President Delyte Morris of Southern Illinois University, regarding student - faculty demonstrations that interfere with operation of the institution, is reasonable and essential.

Revolt on the campus, usually by a thin minority, is intolerable when it hampers or frustrates the rights of other students to freedom of action or inquiry or speech.

Crackdown on students and professors, who rebel at authority of a university to protect academic and personal freedoms on the campus, is necessary and should be upheld.

If President Morris acted to suspend 11 pupils at SIU, following an effort to seal off a section of a university building where an Army recruiter was conferring with students May 9 — without giving them a hearing — he acted too hastily.

They are entitled to be heard by the administration. But the administration is entitled, is obligated to deal with obstreperous demonstrators effectively. It must maintain order and rights of all students.

Chancellor Robert V. MacVicar of the Carbondale campus apparently plans to reopen the cases of the 11 suspended students. If this is simply to give them a hearing, there should be no objection to review.

If it is because of the powerful pressure of the American Association of University Professors, who may seek to break the back of University authority, such a review is insupportable and wrong.

Attempts by violence and mass demonstrations to obstruct activities of a university and override prerogatives of administration have no justification under the cloak of academic freedom or any other guise.

There is no room for anarchy on the campus, and the courage of officials to halt it by suspension or expulsion deserves commendation of all earnest students, intelligent professors and the general public.

Ernest Harper passed along one about an efficiency expert, surveying activity in a business organization, who asked an employe:

"What do you do?"

"Nothing," said the fellow.

The expert went on to the next man in line, asked the same question, and got the same answer.

"Ah," he chortled. "Duplication!"

The wisdom of President Lyndon B. Johnson's decision not to again seek the presidency from the standpoint of the nation's welfare has become increasingly apparent.

As the national Democratic convention approaches there is a rising clamor for a backaway from the Vietnam war.

There are a few vocal hawks but many more doves of varying degrees of persuasion about the extent of retreat from the conflict.

This is unhappily the nature of politics. Promise never runs higher than in a presidential election year.

If Johnson were the Democratic nominee he'd be in under unmerciful pressure to alter his views on Vietnam in order to survive politically.

All of this pressure would be applied in full view of the negotiators at the Paris peace talks. It not only would be uncomfortable, it would be unreasonable and unfair to both the nation's chief executive and the people he represents.

President Johnson deserves better treatment than this. So do the American people.

So his decision not to run never appeared to be wiser or more statesmanship like than it does now.

The President has been free to pursue a hard line on Vietnam, which is in the national interest.

He has minced no words in telling the Viet Cong and the American people, doves among them, that he will not halt bombing in the conflict as long as the North Vietnamese accept no restraint in making war on American troops.

President Johnson is not selling out to the enemy. No one in their right mind should expect him to.

But he would be placed in an almost impossible position if he were a candidate for re-election in accepting the pressures of waging another campaign while our troops still are engaged in bitter fighting in Vietnam.

With the President on the sidelines this country's bargaining position with the Communists is vastly improved.

There will be no retreat.

To all young men and women 16 years old:
WANT TO MAKE $100,000?
GO BACK TO SCHOOL NEXT MONTH

With a high school education you can earn $247,000 in your working life - $104,000 more than the man or woman without high school. That is $26,000 more per year for the four years you will spend in high school - the most profitable investment you can ever make.

And if you go farther - if you go on through college as anyone can these days who truly wants to - you will almost double those earnings to nearly one half million dollars, and multiply the satisfaction you will get out of life a hundredfold.

SAFETY

Our eyes play gricks on us even under the best of conditions and any means we can take to make the vehicles we drive more obvious to other drivers increases the margin of safety. With the approach of winter and shorter day light hours, this problem becomes even more acute.

The idea of running lights or daytime headlights was shown to be an important safety factor in research carried on at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. For instance, data gathered from 46 companies whose commercial vehicles were using running lights, showed a 38.7 per cent reduction in accidents. The U. S. Post Office at Indianapolis, saw a reduction from 36 to 25 accidents in the first year that running lights were put into use. A Kokomo, Ind., cab company with approximately three million miles a year driving record, saw a decrease from 8 to 2 accidents in the first year of using running lights on their cabs during daylight hours.

Hundred of miles were driven by an experimental auto with and without running lights on various kinds of roads and in traffic varying from moderate to heavy. Movies were taking of on-coming vehicles. These movies show that roughly one car in three passes much too close for comfort. Many wery within 30 inches of the center line, allowing little margin of safety if either car weaves slightly or has to make a sudden, emergency swerving stop.

H.L. Hunt Says

WE CAN "TURN BACK THE CLOCK"

When a freedomist points out bad effects of government programs or regulations, he is often told: "You can't turn back the clock." But a clock that is wrong should be set right.

Many statist programs are useless or even harmful. Foreign aid and urban renewal are two examples. Yet if someone urges that these programs be terminated so that personal enterprise can deal with the problems of "underdeveloped" nations or cities in our own country, he is told that he "can't turn back the clock."

The "clock" argument is also used against those who call for an end to government regulation in a specific area. An example here is the transportation industry. Government regulation of the railroads caused them serious financial difficulties. Instead of removing regulations, new ones were added. When the railroads met competition from buses and airlines, these industries were also regulated, instead of allowing free competition among all forms of transportation.

We can learn a great deal from the accomplishments of earlier periods in history. During the 19th century personal enterprise and the free market economy brought increases in the standard of living to nearly everyone in this country. People who would not even have been alive were it not for the Industrial Revolution were enjoying material prosperity undreamed of in an earlier day. Bureaucratic programs have never come close to equalling the advances made by producers and traders working in freedom.

For the sake of freedom and real progress in the United States, we must begin now to turn back the clock toward all that made our country great. HLH

COMINTERN OVER CHICAGO:

Soviet Invasion Vindicates Meany's 'Hawkish' Position: Strengthens His Pro-HHH Influence at Convention.

Chicago: —When I crossed Wencelas Square to get to Radio Prague on the morning of Thursday, Sept. 8, 1966, the pockmarked facade of its huge stone headquarters still bore proudly the scars of the Nazi bullets which cut down rebellious Czech citizens.

Then, I was one signal of freedoms to come. For 38 minutes, my host permitted me to broadcast, uncensored, on freedom and the meaning of turbulence in America. Before we went on "mike," my interviewer laughed, saying I had come between "My Fair Lady," then playing in Prague, and "Hello, Dolly!" soon to hit the boards.

Then, Prague was beginning to chuckle, even to laugh aloud. Now, two years later, Radio Prague's building has been gutted by Soviet cannon.

There is no laughter. Just tears and the final broadcast notes that freedom had died amid the sputtering and stuttering of Soviet bullets.

To my friends, who may be dead, as chairman of the Freedom of the Press Committee of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, and as former president of the Oversees Press Club, I and my colleagues salute you.

And we pray that the signal for freedom will be sounded again for you soon.

Chicago: — The yammering of red machine guns and the sonic booms of Soviet MIGs reecho in this convention city. Ironically, the Soviet invasion has made a powerful figure here of AFL-CIO President George Meany, the one American the Soviet Party's Central Committee hates most.

As the leader of 14 million trade unionists, this stocky, laconic, craglike man has been the most consistent, inflexible backer of President Johnson's policies.

It was George Meany who virtually shoved Hubert Humphrey into the presidential race just hours after Lyndon Johnson "threw in his hand." Mr. Meany's forces have provided Hubert Humphrey with cheering, howling, applauding audiences to offset the masses of angry young protesters.

For being a one-man squadron of hawks, for refusing to deal with the Soviets, for reiterating that the Communists never change, for refusing to join in all cultural and labor exchanges with the Iron Curtain bloc, for vetoing international labor cooperation with USSR's so-called "All-Union Central Council of Trade Unions," Mr. Meany and his courageous foreign policy aide, Jay Lovestone, have been lashed and mocked by Walter Reuther.

All this has been prelude to a behind-the-scenes battle which would have exploded immediately after the national convention adjourned here. The fight pivoted on the recommendation by Llewellyn Thompson, American Ambassador to Moscow, that the U.S. appoint a labor attache to the USSR, thereby, according to the AFL-CIO, automatically acknowledging the "legitimacy" of the red labor movement claiming 80 million members.

Such an appointment would have closed a gap in America's cultural relations with the Soviet Union. The U.S. and the USSR have exchanged practically every conceivable type of delegation except labor groups.

Mr. Meany has prevented such labor exchanges. He charges there is no Russian labor movement. He points out that its "president" is General Alexander Shelepin, former Soviet Secret Police chief and past member of the State and Party's Control Commissions (which spy on the Soviet leaders themselves).

And Mr. Meany was ready to do battle with Mr. Johnson and Mr. Humphrey if they approved the naming of a labor attache to Moscow.

The AFL-CIO chief would have opened his fight smack at the beginning of the campaign, on Sept. 16, when the AFL-CIO Executive Council meets in New York.

Had the Soviet air and ground forces not invaded freedom-seeking Czechoslovakia, Mr. Meany's struggle might have been hopeless. The Administration's "Bridges to the East" are already in place.

Walter Reuther, still searingly attacking the AFL-CIO chief, was planning a trip to Moscow for conversations with Gen. Shelepin and perhaps Messrs. Kosygin and Brezhnev.

Walter's brother Victor already has conferred with Gen. Shelepin. Victor was there last June. Other United Auto Workers delegations had gone to Budapest and Bucharest while Victor visited the Czechs before flying to Russia.

When Victor returned he reported he had invited Gen. Shelepin to the next auto union convention. He told a U.S. Dept. of Labor executives luncheon that he had advised Gen. Shelepin not to invade Czechoslovakia.

Victor added that he was convinced it would all be solved peacefully. He repeated this at a second conference, this time with the foreign labor attaches in Washington, D.C. Messrs. Meany and Lovestone were assailed by the Reutherities for not "recognizing" that intern tional Communism had changed and that things were different in Moscow now.

So strong was this bridge-building sentiment in the UAW leadership that its national board, meeting last week, would not vote endorsement of Hubert Humphrey because of his Vietnam policy. The Vice President has been talking with Walter Reuther seeking such a public statement in his behalf before the nominating convention. But Mr. Reuther could not deliver a united board.

However, George Mean, not only has backed "Hubert" publicly, not only has organized for a floor fight for Mr. Humphrey, but he has also been pressuring state delegations to vote for "HHH" on the first ballot.

Constantly much of the argument against the Meany forces has been based on their inflexible fight against international Communism. Now that the invasion has vindicated Mr. Meany, he is stronger than ever.

If Mr. Humphrey wins the presidency there is no doubt that the "hot line" between the White House and the House of Labor will not be slashed.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Many forget Humphrey's courage as early civil rights battler; he pioneered federal aid to education; was first to tackle US-USSR arms reduction

CHICAGO -- When Hubert Humphrey, a very young senator who looked younger than he was, made his first senate speech in 1949, Sen. William Jenner, R-Ind., took a look at his rotund face and whispered to a colleague, "he reminds me of some tomatoes I planted too early one spring and the frost got them."

Hubert Humphrey still has his rotund face which the cartoonists love and the critics deride, especially when seen on television. But the Republican senator who compared him to a frostbitten tomato has now retired to the Indiana sidelines after calling both Eisenhower and Gen. George Marshall spokesmen of International Communism; while Humphrey is running for President.

Looking over past columns written about Humphrey it's easy to understand how he got to his present high position. But it's also easy to understand why the youthful followers of Gene McCarthy have no conception of Humphrey's record. He showed courage on issues that were not popular before many of them were born.

It was 20 years ago this summer that Humphrey, then mayor of Minneapolis, rammed the first civil rights plank through the Democratic convention. The real story of that fight has been forgotten, but the inside fact is that President Harry Truman didn't like the plank. A courageous President himself, it was too courageous for him.

--A LONELY BATTLER--

Humphrey had the support only of Esther Murray of California and Andrew Biemiller, then a congressman from Milwaukee, now an official of the AFL-CIO. They first took their plank to Ed Flynn, famous boss of the Bronx. He read it carefully, then observed:

"I don't think you'll get anywhere with it, but the New York delegation will support you.'

"What will Francis Myers think of it?" The mayor of Minneapolis asked, referring to the Senator from Pennsylvania, who was convention chairman.

"He won't like it," advised boss Flynn, "but Pennsylvania will support you."

The Democratic resolutions committee adopted a watered-down 1948 stand on civil rights which the south would accept. But Humphrey, Biemiller and Esther Murray took their battle to the floor with a strong resolution to stop lynching, abolish the poll tax and segregation, and established fair employment practices.

"We are 172 years late in acting," Humphrey told the convention.

There was a fiery debate.

"You shall not crucify the south on this cross of civil rights!" cried Charles J. Bloch of Georgia.

But when the vote was taken, Ed Flynn and friends stood by his promise. By a vote of 651 ½ to 582 ½ Humphrey won. All the Mississippi delegation and half the Alabama delegation walked out. That November most of the south voted for Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Irony is that McCarthy's young followers are now excoriating Humphrey because southern delegates are supporting him in chicago.

-A CONTINUING BATTLE --

Humphrey, elected to the senate in 1948 from Minnesota, a state with a negligible Negro vote, continued to battle for Negro rights. His name is on every civil rights bill passed by congress since reconstruction days, right up until he left the senate to become Vice President. He did not get stale in office.

He was also a pioneer on other legislation now taken as a matter of course. Our back columns show that in May 1949 the young senator from Minnesota introduced a bill for Federal aid to Education. Twenty years ago this was revolutionary. It was not passed until Lyndon Johnson became President and applied his legislative skill to pushing it through congress.

Like Kelroy, however, Humphrey was there first. And he stayed there, pitching continuously.

He also got there early to establish the Food for Peace Program and the law which permits surplus farm products to be sold around the world. He introduced the bill in June 1953 when Russian tanks were rumbling through East Berlin, as they are in Prague today. But he had to watch the Eisenhower administration ditch his bill and substitute one exactly like it under the name of Rep. Walter Judd, also from Minnesota, but a Republican.

It was Humphrey who first urged a study of Russian-American cooperation with a view to arms reduction. He proposed it in 1953. John F. Kennedy in 1963 made it the official policy of the United States. Humphrey, meanwhile, had become head of the senate's subcommittee on disarmament, and trained a running fire on a sometimes lethargic state department to make sure it acted.

As early as 1950, Humphrey started badgering the treasury department about closing tax loopholes. Consistently he voted against the oil depletion allowance. The congressional record is littered with his speeches on this subject. This campaign has not met with as much success as his others; bit he has tried.

There are scores of other interesting incidents in the long career of Hubert Humphrey. One interesting item was how he took his first trip to Europe in December 1949 after his first session in the senate, going not on a tax-paid junket as so many members of congress have, but on a slow boat with his wife, benefit of a $500 bond given him by his father-in-law.

Zimmerlees To Lead Services

Revival services will be held at the Eastside Church of the Nazarene, corner of Betty Street and Ralph Avenue, beginning tonight at 7:30 p.m. Services will continue through Sunday night. The Sunday evening service will begin at 7 p.m. Leading the revival are the Rev. and Mrs. Don Zimmerlee, St. Louis.

In 1960 the Rev. Mr. Zimmerlee and Mrs. Zimmerlee entered full time into the work of evangelism; they had served as pastors for 22 years in churches in Missouri, Ohio, Illinois and Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerlee are a versatile team. A preacher of musical ability is Zimmerlee, who received his religious training in Olivet Nazarene College, Kankakee, Ill.; McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., and Glasgow University, Scotland.

The Zimmerlees have been in constant demand for revival engagements, conventions and camp meetings throughout the country.

Mrs. Zimmerlee accompanies her husband and takes an active part in the musical program of the meetings. She plays the organ, piano, marimba, Swiss bells, and accordion.

For four years the Zimmerlees sang and played on a religious radio program in St. Louis, and over the BBC network in Scotland.

They are experienced children's workers and frequently hold children's revival and vacation Bible schools.

Mary Lee Howlett Says Vows With Bob R. Simmons Aug. 18

EAST PRAIRIE - Miss Mary Lee Howlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Howlett, Florissant, became the bride of Bob R. Simmons, St. Louis, August 18.

The marriage took place in the home of her great uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Walden, East Prairie. This home was built by the bride's great-grandparents, the late Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Martin, and her grandmother, Mrs. Earline Watson, was married here in June, 1918, to the late Roy M. Howelett, grandfather of the bride.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harles Simmons of Branson.

The bride was met at the foot of the stairway by her father who escorted her to the fireplace in the living room, where he gave her in marriage. She was preceded by her matron of honor, Mrs. Sam Barker. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Don Woodstock, minister of the First Christian church, in the presence of the immediate family and close friends. A mantle arrangement of white daisies, yellow tea roses, and satin covered bells decorated the fireplace which served as the altar. The home was decorated throughout with yellow and white daisies, and yellow tea roses.

Miss Mary Carlotta Jones as pianist.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white cotton lovelace over satin with long, bell sleeves and a simple jewel neckline. The sleeves and neck were trimmed in bands of white satin. Her only jewelry was a heart-shaped diamond pendant, a gift from the groom. Her shoulder-length veil of English imported illusion was attached to a crown of white satin petals, centered with a small spray of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and yellow tea roses.

Attendants to the couple were James Kanester of Branson and Mrs. Sam Barker of East Prairie, Mrs. Barker was attired in a street-length dress of yellow silk shantung. It was styled along princess lines with a high belted back secured by self-covered buttons. Her nosetip veil fell from a small yellow bow, and she carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, with yellow velvet streamers.

Following the ceremony, guests were entertained at a reception in the home. The focal point of the lace covered serving table was a double tiered wedding cake topped with a small bouquet of daisies and encircled with daisies and greenery. The bride's sister, Miss Janice Kay Howlett, and Miss Sammie Lea Jones were servers and the guest book was attended by Miss Mary Carlotta Jones.

Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Harles Simmons and James Kanester, Branson, Miss Pearl Abner, Advance, Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Howlett and daughter, Janice, Florissant, Mrs. Josephine Doucette, Melrose, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Burch, Jonesboro, Ark., and their son, James Burch, St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Skaggs and daughters, Cydney and Whitney, of Fredericktown, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Givens, Ft. Sill, Okla.

The young couple will honeymoon in Florida and Nassau, after which they will be at home in St. Louis, Missouri where Mr. Simmons is employed by Peat, Marwick and Mitchell Auditing Firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Harles Simmons, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party and members of the family Aug. 17. The dinner was held at Two Tony's Restaurant in Sikeston. Places were laid for 15 persons. The table was decorated with an arrangement of white daisies and yellow tea roses, centered with three burning white tapers. Miss Howlett and Simmons exchanged wedding gifts, and presented their attendants with gifts.

The former Miss Howlett was honored at a pre-nuptial shower on Aug. 10 given by Mrs. Sam Barker in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones. The bride received gifts. Her color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations, and the sister of the bride, Janice Howlett, served punch and petit fours.

Pirates Overdo Error, Lose to St. Louis 4-2

It might be human to err, but it doesn't pay to overdo it when you're playing the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pittsburgh pitching limited National League-leading St. Louis to just four hits Sunday, but the Pirates committed four errors and the Cardinals used them for a 4-2 victory.

The Pirates pounded out eight hits, but the St. Louis defense was flawless in support of Nelson Briles, 17-8, and Joe Hoerner, who relieved and put down a Pittsburgh threat in the eighth inning.

The win kept the Cardinals 13 games ahead of second place San Francisco and reduced Harry Carey's magic number to 20, that being wins by the Cardinals or losses by the second place team before the Cards clinch the pennant.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs blanked Houston 2-0, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 5-4, Philadelphia topped Atlanta 4-1 and the New York Mets pounded Cincinnati 7-1.

The New York Yankees swept Detroit 6-5 and 5-4, Washington outlasted Cleveland 10-9, the Chicago White Sox trounced Minnesota 10-2, California downed Oakland 5-1 and Baltimore nipped Boston 3-2 in 18 innings in the American League.

The Cardinals scored in the second inning. Orlando Cepeda walked, stole second, moved to third on a groundout and scored when shortstop Fred Patek fielded Mike Shannon's grounder and made a poor throw to first.

St. Louis added a run in the fourth when Shannon reached on third baseman Maury Wills' throwing error and scored when Julian Javier's single got past right fielder Gary Kolb for an error.

The clinching run came in the 8th when Lou Brock scored from second as first baseman Donn Clendenon missed a throw from pitcher Dock Ellis, who had fielded Bob Tolan's grounder.

Shannon's single and Javier's double produced the final St. Louis run in the sixth.

Matty Alou single in a run after Hoerner replaced Briles with the bases loaded and one out in the eighth. Hoerner then struck out the next two men to end the threat. Manny Mota hit a pinch homer for the Pirates in the ninth.

Ferguson Jenkins pitched a four-hitter and drove in a run with a groundout as Chicago snapped Houston's six-game winning streak and handed Larry Dierker his first loss since June 20. Dierker, who had won six in a row, now is 12-11.

Jenkins, 15-12 drove in the Cubs's first run in the second inning. Glenn Beckert's single, Billy Williams' double and Willie Smith's sacrifice fly produced the other run.

Los Angeles beat San Francisco's Juan Marichal, 23-6, on Paul Popovich's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning.

The winning rally, which snapped the Dodgers' losing streak at eight games, started when Tom Haller singled and went to third as Marichal threw low in second on Ron Fairly's bunt. After an intentional walk and a force play at the plate, Popovich delivered his sacrifice fly.

San Francisco had tied it with two runs in the seventh. Ron Hunt singled home the first one and Willie Mays' infield out brought in the other.

Larry Jackson, 12-15, scattered five hits and Johnny Callifson, back in the line-up after an eight-day absence because of a pulled hamstring, homered and singled in a run in Philadelphia's triumph. Hank Aaron hit his 24th homer for Atlanta.

Tom Seaver threw a five-hitter and smacked a two-run double in leading the Mets over Cincinnati. Ed Kranepool and Art Shamsky backed Seaver, 12-9, with solo homers.

John Bench scored Cincinnati's only run when he led off the eighth with a double, moved to third on a groundout and came home on Seaver's wild pitch.

AFL Holds 10-5 Edge In Exhibition Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Steelers are not expected to win the National Football League title this season, but they do lead the league in embarrassment.

On the other hand, the Cincinnati Bengals, a last place choice as the American League's newest team, top their league in surprises.

Both teams climbed to the front Sunday when the Bengals shocked the Steelers 19-3 in an exhibition game at Morgantown, W. Va., for their first victory after three losses.

Cincinnati's triumph gave the AFL a stunning 10-5 bluge over the chagrinned NFL in interleague exhibitions, and with only eight such contests remaining, the NFL would have to win seven to come out on top.

The only other contest Sunday matched two NLF clubs and St. Louis scored a safety and a touchdown in the final quarter to beat the New York Giants 18-10 at New Haven, Conn.

Cincinnati gave the AFL a sweep of its two weekend interleague games as San Diego embarrassed the Los Angeles Rams 35-13 Saturday night.

In other games Saturday, Green Bay held off Dallas 31-27, Minnesota bombed Philadelphia 52-10, Chicago clobbered Washington 45-13 and New Orleans outscored Cleveland 40-27 in the NFL, and Kansas City downed Oakland 31-21 in the AFL.

Pittsburgh is supposed to lose some games, but Cincinnati is not expected to win very many. Adding insult to injury, the Bengals allowed the Steelers past midfield only once on their own power, and rookie quarterback Dewey Warren set up three touchdowns with his passing. The combination gave Paul Brown his first victory since returning to coaching after an illustrious career leading Cleveland.

Warren completed 12 of 21 ppasses for 268 yards in outpassing veteran Kent Nix, who hit only five of 20 for 64 yards.

The Steelers, playing without both its regular wide receivers and both regular running backs because of injuries, scored only on Bill Shockley's 33-yard field goal in the first half.

The Cardinals, managing only three field goals by Jim Bakken for three quarters, were losing 10-9 when a high pass from center went over punter Ernie Koy's head in the end zone for a safety and an 11-10 lead.

Minutes later, quarterback Charley Johnson, on leave from the Army and taking over from Jim Hart in the second half, boot-legged nine yards for a touchdown. Roy Shivers set up the score by returning the free kick after the safety 35 yards.

Green Bay avoided the embarrassment of losing three straight exhibition games by building a 31-10 lead against Dallas in a rematch of last year's NFL title contest. Craig Morton's two scoring passes brought the Cowboys back, but an on-side kickoff failed after the last touchdown as the game ended.

John Hadl sparked San Diego with early touchdown tosses of 45 yards to Jacques MacKinnon and 68 yards to Lance Alworth, and Dennis Partee added three field goals to drop the Rams.

Clint Jones scored two touchdowns and set up another and a field goal with his running for Minnesota. Dick Gordon caught three touchdown passes, two from Jack Concannon, in Chicago's romp.

New Orleans pulled away on Bill Kilmer's two scoring passes and Charlie Durkee's four field goals, and Kansas City, 4-0, relied on Len Dawson's two touchdown passes.

Watson Cards 21st As Buds Win Title

Earl Watson won his 21st game of the season for the Sikeston Budweisers at VFW stadium Saturday night and at the same time enabled his team to wrap up the championship of the first annual city wide softball tournament.

The victory was the 24th of the season for the team, which lost only seven games and which claimed the title of the Sikeston Fast Pitch Softball Association before entering the tournament last week.

Cooney Equipment finished second in the tourney as it did in league play, having won one game Saturday and losing one. Cooney opened with an 8-2 win over Trinity Baptist and then lost 6-5 to the Buds.

The Buds scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to claim the victory over Cooney in the double elimination tournament.

Don Agnew scored the tying run after opening the frame with a double. Fred Stewart scampered across with the winning tally on Charlie Gardner's bunt single.

Ron Voss led the Buds in hitting during the tournament with a nine for 14 showing at the plate.

Cooney took the lead with four big runs in the first inning and held the Buds to two before it tied the margin in the second.

Steve Ledbetter scored the lead run for Cooney in the sixth after leading off with a double and scoring on Dicky Schuenberg's two bagger.

The tournament field was made up of four teams from each of the two city leagues, the SFPSA and the Church league.

The Missouri Conservation Commission has announced a 30-day duck season for 1968, 10 days shorter than last year, and limits that include one mallard daily, half of last year's allowance. The dates are Nov. 1 through 30.

In establishing the regulation, the Commission was strictly bound by federal limitations announced earlier by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The 1968 regulation also included a goose season similar to last year's Except in two special zones of northern Missouri, the season will be Oct. 20 through Dec. 3 and Dec. 19 through Jan. 12.

The hunter's ability to identify duck species will continue to be important this year, as the overall duck limits contain separate limits on various species.

The overall limit on ducks this year is three daily and six in possession, a cut from last year's four and eight. Within this allowance, a hunter may have no more than one mallard daily and two in posession, one canvasback or redhead daily or in possession, two wood ducks daily and four in possession, and two black ducks daily and four in possession. Although the mallard limit is half of last year's the wood duck limit is doubled.

The coot limit is 10 daily and 20 in possession, and the limit on mergansers is five daily and 10 in possession, including not more than one hooded merganser daily and two in possession.

Daily limit on geese, outside the two special zones, is five including not more than two Canada geese, two whitefront geese, or one of each. Possession limit on geese is also five, including not more than two whitefront geese, or four Canada geese, or four white front and Canada geese in the aggregate.

In the Swain Lake Zone, bounded by U.S. Highways 36 and 65 and Missouri 5 and 240, the season will be Oct. 20 through Dec. 28, or until 25,000 geese have been harvested in the zone, whichever comes first. State and federal officials have tentatively agreed upon a daily limit of one goose in the zone in an effort to assure as long a season as possible.

In the Squaw Creek Zone, which includes Atchison and Holt Counties and the parts of Nodaway and Andrew Counties west of U.S. 71, the season will be Oct. 20 through Nov. 18 for Canada geese and Oct. 20 through Dec. 28 for other species. The limit on Canada geese is one daily and two in possession.

Shooting hours for all waterfowl will be a half-hour before sunrise to sunset. In additiona to a state hunting permit, hunters 16 and older will need a federal waterfowl stamp.

A daily limit of 3 pheasants and 79 days of hunting, again the nation's longest such season, is top fare in the potpourri of seasons announced by the Nebraska Game Commission. Opening date in the major pheasant range is Saturday, November 2, and elsewhere, November 9, with a January 19, 1969, closer for the entire state.

Mixed-bag hunters get the same opportunity on quail, with open areas and both starting and closing dates identical for both pheasants and quail.

Summer production data indicate a small pheasant decline over 1967 on a total statewide basis. While the southeast portion of Nebraska shows a marked increase in contrast to some parts of the state, the best bets still appear to be the southwestern and Panhandle areas. Possession limit is 12, all cocks.

Nebraska's quail numbers continue to increase, in keeping with population levels which have remained well above average in recent years. In 1967, quail shooters averaged 30 birds for the season. Limits vary from 6 to 8 birds daily in the two areas, with 18 in possession.

The other seasons:
Dates (inclusive), Daily Limit, and Possession Limit.
Prairie grouse, Sept. 21-Nov. 17, 3, 9.
Ducks, Oct. 12-20 and Nov. 16-Dec. 12, 3, 6.
Geese, Oct. 1-Nov. 3 and Nov. 9-Dec. 19, 5, 5.
Cottontails, Jan. 1-Dec. 31, 10, 30.
Squirrels, Sept. 1-Jan. 31. 7, 21.
Shooting hours in NEBRASKA land are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, seven days each week, and there is no plugging of shotguns required, except on waterfowl.
Note: If any sportsman wants Nebraska's complete HUNTER PACKET -- regulations, where to hunt, etc. -- he may write to NEBRASKA and Mixed-Bag, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509).

Despite the football boom, television in the United States and Canada finds itself in the position of a team that can't gain, yet dare not kick.

"All of us are in trouble - we're hurting," one American television executive days.

Another official of a U.S. network explains:

"None of us are making money on football, but none of us would dare give up our contracts. In fact, we're trying for more. It's a funny business. You blow a Saturday or a Sunday afternoon and you blow an entire audience for the weekend."

"It has never been a big commercial success," says John Mallow director of sales of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

And Murray Chercover, president of CTV, Canada's other network, says the production cost of football is out of proportion "in relation to the advertising efficiency."

There's no doubt about fan interest in football being at its peak. Sellout crowds are the rule rather than the exception.

So why are the television people worried.

"I'm afraid football TV has reached the saturation point-it's overexposed," says an American network official.

"Sponsors don't come running anymore - you have to chase them and twist their arm."

Another says, "The three major networks NBC, CBS, ABC are committed to around $110 million worth of football television this season. They will be lucky to sell three- fourths of it."

BATTING - Bill Robinson, Yankees, tagged four hits and drove in four runs, helping New York to a 6-5, 5-4 doubleheader sweep over Detroit.

BUENOS ARIES - Ramon La Cruz, 147, Argentina, knocked out Abel Czchazu, 147, Argentina, 1.

Rock Knocks Out Tigers, Lead Cut to 5

Rocky Colavito's long-term shutout is still intact but the Detroit Tigers' first place momentum isn't quite the same.

Colaviot made his first pitching appearance in 10 years Sunday and earned the victory with 2 2-3 innings of shutout relief as New York clipped Detroit 6-5 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Then the Rock returned to the outfield for the second game and cracked his 372nd career homer, helping the Uankees to a 5-4 victory and a sweep of the four-game series against the American League leading Tigers.

The four losses shaved Detroit's lead to five games over Baltimore. The Orioles nipped Boston 3-2 in 18 innings Sunday.

In other American League games, Minnesota walloped Chicago 10-2, California dropped Oakland 5-1 and Washington outlasted Cleveland 10-9.

In the National League, New York trimmed Cincinnati 7-1, Philadelphia flipped Atlanta 4-1, Chicago shut out Houston 2-0, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 5-4 and St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh 4-2.

Colavito pitched three scoreless innings against Detroit a decade ago when he was with Cleveland and Sunday's performance extended the blank string to 5 2-3 innings.

The strong-armed outfielder had volunteered to pitch when the Yankees signed him as a free agent last month and when the Tigers jumped into a 5-0 lead against Steve Barber Sunday, Manager Ralph Houk, thinking about three doubleheaders in three days, accepted the offer.

Colavito retired Al Kaline and Willie Horton, stranding two runners in the fourth inning and then shut out the Tigers in the fifth and sixth. With two out in the bottom of the sixth, the Uanks rallied.

Horton lost Andy Kosco's fly ball in the sun and it fell for a double. Tom Thresh walked and Bill Robinson, who had four hits in the doubleheader, smashed a three-run homer. Bobby Cox followed with a solo shot, tying the score.

A walk to Colavito and singles by Horace Clarke and Jake Gibbs gave New York the lead and Houk used regular pitchers Dooley Womack and Lindy McDaniel to preserve Colavito's victory.

In the nightcap, Colavito's third inning homer tied the score and Charlie Smith's two-run single in the fourth put New York in front. Steve Hamilton earned the victory with five innings of two-hit relief in which he struck out seven.

The sweep gave the rampaging Yankees 12 victories in the last 15 games and placed them at .500 for the first time since April 30.

Using the scoreboard and Detroit's double loss for inspiration, the Orioles wiped out an early 2-0 Boston lead with single runs in the seventh and eithth to force the game into extra innings.

Then, in the 18th, Bong Powell doubled with two out, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored the winning run on Brooks Robinson's single. Rookie Roger Nelson pitched seven scoreless innings of relief for the victory.

George Brunet pitched a sixhitter and Bobby Knopp drove in three runs, leading California past Oakland.

Knopp singled two runs home in the sixth and trippled another across in the eighth and Brunet, 13-12, halted a four-game California losing streak and a four-game winning streak forthe Athletics.

Four Chicago errors helped Minnesota to three unearned runs and the Twins pounded the White Sox. Rod Carew doubled, setting up a run in the second and drove in another with a single in the eighth.

Jim Kaat went all the way for his 10th victory and drove in a run in Minnesota's five-run wrapup rally in the ninth.

Ken McMullen smacked two home runs, driving in four runs but it was Tim Cullen's bases-loaded pinch triple in the seventh inning that broke a tie and carried Washington past Cleveland.

Jose Cardenal had two homers and Tony Horton one for the Indians.

Japan Retains Little League Baseball Title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. AP - Twelve-year-old Hideaki Higashide proudly held the winning baseball and shyly uttered a comment traditionally reserved for American youngsters:

"When I grow up, I want to be a ballplayer."

The crewcut youngster spoke Saturday after his three-hit shutout gave Wakayama, Japan, a 1-0 victory over Richmond, Va., in the championship game of the Little League World Series.

The triumph brought the title to Japan for the second straight year as Wakayama duplicated the feat of last year's champs from West Tokyo.

Many of the 15,000 fans were surprised at the low score of the contest. They had seen Japan demolish Wiesbaden, Germany, 14-2 in its opening round game, and shut out Santa Ana, Calif., 3-0 in the semifinal.

How to turn a 15-year-old boy into a car thief.

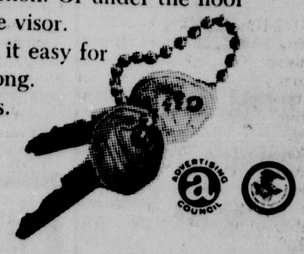
All you have to do is to be too tired—or too lazy—to take your keys with you when you leave the car.

Is it really that simple? You bet it is.

Every day, 1,000 cars are stolen by kids under 18. In fact, nearly half of all those arrested for car theft are too young to have a driver's license.

How do they do it? You make it easy for them. Half the cars stolen had the keys left in the ignition. Or under the floor mat. Or on the visor.

Don't make it easy for a kid to go wrong. Take your keys.



Don't help a boy go wrong. When you leave your car, take your keys.

--CHICAGO IS POWDER KEG--

CHICAGO -- Police intelligence reports are even more alarming than the newspaper accounts of the trouble that may be in store for the Democratic convention here.

Chicago is threatened with an invastion of black militants, white agitators, new leftists, Cuban exiles, Communists, Vietniks, Pacifists, hippies and yippies, who plan to disrupt the Democratic convention with everything from peaceful protests to violent upheaval. They are already converging upon Chicago from all over the country.

If they are successful, they will give the TV cameras a picture of ragina anarchy. The television networks fully intend to cooperate, not along because they expect more news outside than inside the convention hall, but also because they are sore at the Democrats for forcing them to move their equipment and entourages from Miami to Chicago at an estimated cost of $3 million.

Instructions have gone out to the TV crews to set up most of their cameras at strategic locations outside the amphitheater to pick up the action.

The Republicans already are preparing to capitalize on the Democrats' misfortune by contrasting their own peaceful proceedings in Miami Beach with the expected disorders in Chicago. Indeed, at least one pro-Nixon outfit, partially financed by Richard Nixon's millionaire friend B. B. Rebozo, is heading for Chicago to contribute to the disorder.

Here are some of the more disturbing reports that have been picked up by police intelligence:

-- Chicago's Negro youth gangs, including the Blacnstone rangers, disciples, dukes and elephants, are reported to be preparing to kick up violence in the streets. Information has been received that the Jackson executioners have stockpiled weapons, including shotguns in an apartment near the convention site.

--MARKED MEN--

-- An informant has tipped off police that the Blackstone rangers agreed at a secret meeting on August 1 to gun down the two leading Democratic candidates, Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy. At a subsequent meeting on Aug. 12, the informant reported, guns were distributed, and Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., was added to the list of targets.

-- Robert Brown, the Chicago director of the militant SNCC organization, has boasted privately that Black militants are going to "tear up" Chicago. They reportedly are being brought into town by Eddy Brown, brother of the Black rabble-rouser H. Rap Brown. Robert Brown (no relation) also has advocated the use of dynamite, according to police reports, to bomb the Democratic convention.

-- Reginald Hawkins, a pistol-packing Negro dentist from Charlotte, N. C., has declared his intention privately of coming to Chicago with a shock troop of "Black boys" who won't be afraid to "shoot back" in the event of trouble. He intends to protest the seating of the North Carolina delegation.

-- Negro protestant ministers, belonging to Chicago's Englewood ministerial association, allegedlyplan to disrupt the convention and force delegates to walk the distance between their hotels and convention hall by lying in the streets and otherwise tying up traffic.

-- An auto caravan of Cuban exiles is reported to be on its way to Chicago from Miami. It was organized allegedly by Elimio Nunez Portuondo, who also happens to head the Cuban-Americans for Nixon. This organization has charged its office supplies and equipment to the account of Nixon's close friend, real estate promoter, B. B.Rebozo.

-- The youth international party, known collequially as "yippies," is planning a hippie festival in coincide with the Democratic convention. This is attracting the bearded and unbathed set to Chicago from all over the country.

--HUGE PEACE DEMONSTRATION--

The largest invasion force, however, will be bussed to Chicago by the National Mobilization committee to end the war in Vietnam. This is the same coalition of new left and pacifist organizations that started the "peace march" on Washington last October.

Just as that mass demonstration erupted into violence on the steps of the pentagon, the current mobilization has been issuing press statements about peaceful protests but privately has encouraged the militants to provoke violence.

One police report claims that the committee has trained a group of militant demonstrators to attempt to "crash-in" to break into the convention amphitheater. They will be directed by marshals carrying walkie-talkies. Calls have gone out for medics to give first aid to the demonstrators and electronic experts to operate the radio equipment.

A secret planning session, presided over by Dave Dellinger, the National co-chairman, was held on Aug. 4, in Highland Park, Ill. It was agreed to set up an "action headquarters" near the convention site and to establish approximately 50 centers throughout the city.

Ramparts magazine allegedly has agreed to publish a Daily newspaper listing the locations of the centers and the schedule of activities. The committee plans to test the firmness of the police with preliminary confrontations at the hotels. The demonstrations will be encouraged to attend a mass rally for Sen. Eugene McCarthy at Grant Park, and to follow on Aug. 28 by a mass march on the convention.

A motley coalition of dissident organizations has agreed to cooperate with the mobilization committee. The resistance, a militant anti-draft organization, is attempting to organize a caravan in San Francisco.

Donald Kalish, who organized the demonstrations against Dow Chemical plants, is reported to be on his way to Chicago from Los Angeles with his girl friend, Aleta Wallach. Ray Bartee Haile, Jr., a Dallas militant, has promised to bring 400 activists to Chicago from Dallas. Similar reports have been received from more than a dozen cities.

Even the Communist party has assigned Donald Hamerquist to coordinate the activities of the militants in Chicago.

On top of the telephone and taxicab strikes, all this could turn the Chicago convention into a national disaster.

Young Man Fires Gun At House

POPLAR BLUFF - Mrs. Violet Adams reported to police that a young man fired a shotgun blast into her home at 1:58 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Adams stated that she heard a noise on her front porch and went to the door. She stated that a man was there and asked the whereabouts of her daughter.

When she told him her daughter wasn't home he cursed her and went to his car. After he got to his car he pulled a shotgun out of it, fired into the house and drove off.

Ferguson's Service Praised

COLUMBIA—A resolution praising Board member Oliver B. Ferguson for his service as President of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri was passed by the Board.

Ferguson, a Fredericktown newspaper publisher, served as president from June 7, 1967, to June 28, 1968. He has been a member of the board since Jan. 1, 1955.

The text:

"Whereas, Oliver B. Ferguson has been a member of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri since January 1, 1955, and

"Whereas, he has served said Board with distinction from February of 1963 until June of 1967 as Vice President, and

"Whereas, he was elected President of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri on June 7, 1967, and served with outstanding distinction and ability in such office until June 28, 1968, and

"Whereas, said Oliver B. Ferguson gave unstintingly of his time and efforts, and at great personal sacrifice to his personal business and private affairs to carry out the duties and obligations of the Presidency of said Board of Curators.

"Whereas, the University of Missouri, and the State of Missouri, have been the beneficiaries of the wise counsel, good judgment and outstanding leadership of said Oliver B. Ferguson,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved:

"That The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri hereby expresses to said Oliver B. Ferguson the gratitude and thanks of The Board of Curators, the administration, faculty and students of the University of Missouri, and the citizens of the State of Missouri, for his wise leadership as President of the Board, and

"That this resolution be spread upon the minutes of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri, and a copy thereof, suitably inscribed, be furnished to Oliver B. Ferguson."

Half Million Filters Monthly From Plant

DEXTER — An estimated half-million filters a month will be produced at the new Fram factory when the plant gets into production here, Les Sleinkofer, Jr., plant manager, told the Kiwanis club.

By October, 1969, the company hopes to have between 150 and 200 employed, with a payroll in excess of $75,000 per month, Sleinkofer declared.

Sleinkofer told of the progress on the new Dexter industry, with the construction of the building coming along in good shape, and with equipment now arriving daily and some of it being installed.

The plant is huge -- three acres under one roof -- and will be "in production" as soon as possible, the manager declared. Fram officials are anxious to complete the building, finish the installation of equipment, so that actual production can begin, he pointed out.

He said that he and his associates have met with "full cooperation" from local Chamber of Commerce officials, city officials, and others, in bringing the new industry to Dexter.

Many applications for employment have been received, but little of the actual hiring has been done as yet, he pointed out.

In explaining some of the technicalities of the operation in Dexter, Sleinkofer said that production here would be of filters -- both oil and air -- under contract for other firms. In other words, the filters here will carry the name and be sold by other firms, including oil companies and the like.

This type of production calls for various specifications for various filters, so that, in reality, a number of types of filters will be produced at the local plant. Fram has plants throughout the United States and in foreign countries.

Human Rights Lesson Topic

MATTHEWS - "Human Rights - 1968" was the topic for the lesson led by Mrs. B. B. Conrad when the Christian Women's Fellowship met at the home of Mrs. William Depro Thursday evening. Suggestions of study materials and action projects in which church women should be involved during the Internation Year of Human Rights were listed. A check-list for evaluating the community in areas of employment, education, social security, equal protection of the law, citizenship rights, housing, health and general welfare, freedom of thought, conscience and religion provided thought provoking comments during the roundtable discussion.

From the mission study book "New Forms of Mission" Mrs. Dennis Parsons reviewed the second chapter "The People We Send as Missionaries." It identified new opportunities available to laymen to engage in mission work.

Mrs. Joe Silverthorn led the devotion. Mrs. Lester King presided during the business session at which a report was given on the Aug. 3 ice cream social. A dessert course was served by the hostess during the social hour.

Mrs. Nelson Lumsden and daughter Ruth Ann visited last week in Litchfield, Ill., with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spalding and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hawkins and sons, Tim and Todd, of St. Louis visited last Thursday with his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Robbs.

Miss Donna Jo Reid, who suffered a concussion and fractured back in an auto accident Aug. 10, was moved last Thursday from Missouri Delta Community Hospital to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Bill Harris of Texarkana, Ark., and cousin, Miss Deene Ann Whitten. Her father, Ellis V. Reid, and brothers, Ellis W. of Jackson, Miss., and Bill of Fort Campbell, Ky., visited her during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Faries, Lila and Reggie Vandiver and their guests, Susan and Ann Keasler of Crawford, Miss., spent last weekend at Horseshoe Bend, Ark.

Mrs. M. H.Radcliffe enjoyed a vacation last week in the Ozark area near Branson with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Radcliffe and sons of Danville, Ill., and Mrs. Radcliffe's mother, Mrs. Mary Dell Lear of Jackson.

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gaines and their six-week-old daughter, Darla Lynn, who was making her first visit to family and friends.

Lee Rakestraw of Bonneville, Miss., visited here Monday and Tuesday with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rakestraw, and with friends made while teaching here 10 years ago. Rakestraw is now teaching in a junior college at Booneville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gurley and daughter Mary Lou and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gurley of St. Louis visited here last Saturday with Mr. L. D. Waters.

Speaker at the Christian Church Sunday was the District 10 minister, the Rev. Charles Barr. While here he was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lumsden.

Mississippi County Property Evaluated

CHARLESTON - Thirty National Youth Corps representatives, accompanied by agents of the Missouri State Tax Commission have began to measure and evaluate commercial property in Mississippi County.

Beginning Monday the same group of workers will begin a similar program on all residential property.

The purpose is to equalize assessments for tax purposes. Similar work has been completed in Ste. Genevieve county, and in Madison.

The NYS group or high school students engaged in this program will be working under the direction of the state tax commission, the county court and county assessor. In the residential area the group will determine the square footage of all houses, age, whether brick or siding, number of bathrooms, and whether it has central air conditioning, and whther it has a full basement. All facts are recorded on cards, check by the agent for the tax commission, and then sent to Jefferson City for evaluation. Size of the lot will also be made part of the record.

A formula has also been worked out to equalize the valuations of all farm land, the tax commission agent said.

As soon as the work has been completed in the county the complete list will be publicly posted in the office of the county clerk for a period of 30 days. Any taxpayer is then fre to inspect the list, compare figures, and then register a complaint if he so desires. The chairman of the State Tax Commission, the county court and assessor will meet with such taxpayers, and to over the figures.

Eventually these tentative assessments will become part of the permanent record.

Total cost of this program is expected to be less than $5,000 for Mississippi county. By comparison, the county of Callaway hired a private concern to reassess all property within the county, and the bill came to $94,000. A number of other counties have also asked for this service by the State Tax Commission, the agent added.

JOE SCOTT, extension agronomist at the Delta Center, Portageville, inspects kenaf, a fiber crop used for pulp production by paper mills. The kenaf grows as high as 10 feet. Kenaf and other new crops can be seen at a Field Day Sept. 5.

New Crops Will Be Displayed

PORTAGEVILLE - Southeast Missouri farmers attending the Delta Center Field Day Sept. 5 will see something new reports Joe Scott, extension agronomist.

New crops are being tested and new research on old crops are being tried.

The new crops to be seen are kenaf and oilseed varieties of sunflowers. Kenaf, a fiber crop that has a high potential for pulp production to be used by paper mills, is being tested. Variety and fertilizer tests are being conducted on the high oilseed Russian sunflower varieties. A research program is being conducted on sugar beets which includes varieties, fertilization, disease control and irrigation.

The new cotton variety Mo-dell developed at the Delta Center will be shown and discussed along with two other new promising varieties. New weed control, disease and insect control treatments are being tried on cotton.

A soybean variety and irrigation study that includes new soybean varieties will be included in the tour of the field. Weed control studies on soybeans that include new post-emergency herbicides will be featured at the field day.

Grain sorghum acreage is increasing in Southeast Missouri. New varieties and fertility treatments are being tried at the Delta Center for the first time.

An irrigation study is being conducted by the station meteorologis to determine how much water cotton needs and used under irrigated and non-irrigated conditions.

New control methods for combating the Southwestern and European corn borer will be pointed out to visitors at the field day.

A tomato breeding program that consists of varieties are harvested entirely by mechanical means will be a stop on the field tour.

The field day will start at 9 a.m. Lunch will be available at the field.

Farm-Operating Loan Rate Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration has increased its interest rate on farm-operating loans for the first time in more than 30 years.

The maximum rate has been five per cent since 1947, the FHA said Thursday, but now is 5½ per cent. The increase was provided in a new law signed by President Johnson.

Operating loans are made to family farmers for the purchase of such things as livestock, machinery and livestock feed. They are made directly through the FHA, a credit agency of the Department of Agriculture.

The new law sets up a flexible interest rate which may be adjusted yearly to cover costs, the FHA said.

This year the agency estimates farm operating loans will total $275 million, about the same as for the year ended June 30.

The new law also expands FHA loan programs aimed at helping farmers develop small businesses or recreational areas on their land.

The loans will be limited to $60,000 for real estate development and $35,000 for equipment and operating expenses, payable over seven years at 5½ per cent. The limit previously for nonfarm enterprise loans by the FHA was $3,500, the department said.

Recreation projects may include converting farms to areas for fishing, boating, camping and golfing, the department said.

Beans in Light Soil Could Use Water

BENTON - The soybean crop in Scott and Mississippi counties looks good on the heavier soils area farm management agent Richard F. McIntosh says. Moisture is becoming critical on the lighter soils.

Many soybean fields are in full bloom or filling pods and moisture stress during this period of growth is critical. Soybeans damaged by moisture shortages do not set as many pods and both the number and size of beans per pod are reduced.

In prior years, some farmers have doubled their soybean yields by irrigating one time during this stage of growth.

Field crops specialist suggest applying enough irrigation water to wet the soil at least two feet ddep but not more than three feet deep for soybeans.

A soil auger or moisture probe can be used to check the depth of water penetration.

In order to wet the soil two to three feet deep it will take the following amounts of water on the different soil types. On course sandy soil apply 1½ inches ofwater. On sandy loam soil apply 2¼ inches of water. On silt loam soil apply 2¾ inches of water. On clay soil apply 2 5/8 inches of water.

These amounts of water are required if the soil is at 50 per cent of field capacity when irrigation is started.

On clay gumbo soil care should be taken to prevent waterlogging the soil.

Kennett to Vote on Bonds to Build Plant

KENNETT - The Kennett city council last night approved an ordinance calling for a special election Sept. 17, on the issuance of industrial revenue bonds totaling $5 million for the purchase and construction of the new Uniroyal Plant which is being located in Kennett.

The bonds will be payable solely from revenue from the new industry and will in no way affect local taxes.

Young Men Can Apply for Academies

WASHINGTON - Every young man in Missouri's tenth congressional district, who is interested in attending either the U. S. military academy at West Point, the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis, or the U. S. air force academy at Colorado Springs, has an opportunity to participate in a competitive scholastic examination, conducted by the Civil Service Commission. The results will be used by Congressman Paul C. Jones in making his nominations.

Sept. 2 is the deadline for filing application to take the examination. A request may be made to Congressman Jones asking for a form which he requires all applicants to complete and return in order to receive consideration. The form should then be mailed in time to reach the office of Congressman Jones, 2302 Rayburn Building, Washington, D. C., not later than Sept. 2.

Young men between 17 and 21 living in any of the 16 counties of the congressional district are eligible to take the examination.

Only those who take this examination will be considered for appointment.

The examination, will be given simultaneously at West Plains, Poplar Bluff, Cape Girardeau, and Farmington. Arrangements can be made for applicants who are attending college to take the examination in the city where the college is located or another nearby location.

Composing Talent Sweeps Webb Up, Up and Away

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When he was 18, Jim Webb flunked a college music course, broke up with his girl, got on an airplane and wrote "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

At 19 he rode skyward in a balloon for a publicity stunt and wrote "Up, Up and Away."

Now 21, the composer prodigy of pop music needs no balloons or airplanes. His "MacArthur Park" is at the top of the charts and Jim Webb's career is soaring.

He has been signed to write the score for the film musical of "Peter Pan." Nearly completed is a second album of songs for actor Richard Harris whose first Webb Album, "A Tramp Shining," was a runaway success. Frank Sinatra, among others, has asked for some Webb songs. Taping has begun on a television special, "Jim Webb and His Friends. And on his latest single record, "One of the Nicer Things," Jim Webb—composer and lyricist—makes his singing debut.

It's been a fast and dizzying ascent for the kid who came out of Oklahoma in 1964 knowing he had to write songs: "There was a time in my life when, as a matter of body chemistry, I wrote three songs a week."

Jim came to San Bernardino, a desert town 60 miles from Hollywood, when his father, a Baptist minister, was assigned to a parish there. Then Jim's mother died, and his father decided to go back to Oklahoma. Jim, then 18 and enrolled in college, remained.

Things did not go well. His grades were poor, and the academic regimen appeared to be hindering rather than helping him. A professor suggested that Jim take his talent to Hollywood.

He broke up with his girl, made a brief visit to Oklahoma, and on that auspicious flight home wrote the song that catapulted him to success.

At first he lived in a bare Hollywood apartment, sleeping on a blanket on the floor. Then "By the Time I Get to Phoenix" was recorded. It did well, but not as well as the song that followed: "Up, Up and Away." An airline eventually bought the song for a commercial. Jim Webb started making money.

He leased a huge, tree-shaded old house just off Hollywood Boulevard where he lives with an entourage of friends, musicians and his business manager.

Articulate and soft-spoken, still with an Oklahoma drawl, Webb seems the calm center of this whirlwind success.

"I try to keep my mind on my work and write like I always wrote."

He sits in an upstairs room surrounded by electronic equipment—tape recorders, an organ, playback machines, an electric typewriter.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures

By SYD KRONISH

Although it's a year late in arriving on the philatelic scene Turkey has issued a set of four colorful stamps hailing 1967 as "Tourism Year."

The symbol, a dove of peace and an olive branch, appears on each of the new stamps. The 50 kurus shows Karagoz, the Turkish Punchet Theater. The 60 kurus depicts the sword and shield dance. The 90 kurus illustrates the Janissary Band. The 100 kurus bears a single illustration of a figure from the puppet theatre.

The Turkish postal authorities also announced a set of two honoring "Europa" and depicting the symbolic key design used by all countries issuing stamps for this common cause.

The little island of Montserrat is the first to announce the issuance of a stamp honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King. The decision to issue the stamp was made one day after the assassination. The new adhesive will be part of the International Human Rights Year issue. The first stamps of Montserrat were issued in 1876. Its main industry is tourism.

Fiji has issued a new definitive series of stamps to replace a similar set released in 1961. Each stamp bears a likeness of Queen Elizabeth. The designs show native houses, passion fruit flowers, the rare Nautilus Pompilius sea shell, white reef heron, hawk moth, nagel fish, bamboo raft, tiger moth, black marlin, sun birds, ringstrabed sea snake, outrigger canoe, golden cowrie shell, Emporor Gold Mine, bamboo orchids, ceremonial whale's tooth and the Fiji coat of arms.

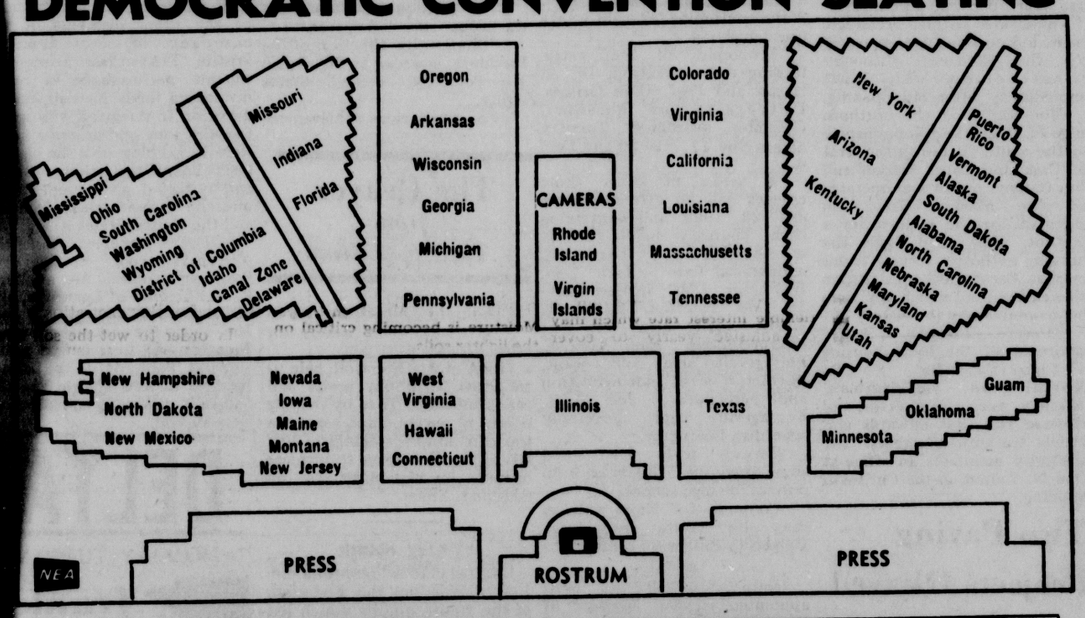
Belgium honors the Mexico City Olympic Games with five semi-postals. The Olympic events depicted are gymnastics, weight lifting, hurdling, bicycle racing and yachting.

APOSTLE ON THE MOVE

Pope Paul VI's journey to Bogota, Colombia, to participate in the 39th World Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic church points up his own nickname for himself—"Apostle on the move." He has traveled farther and more often than any of his recorded 261 predecessors as Bishop of Rome and is the first pontiff to journey by air. Previous visits have been to India, the Mideast (Israel and Jordan), Turkey, Portugal and New York, to appear at the United Nations. The only continents he has not yet visited are Africa and Australia.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION SEATING



Artist's sketch depicts tunnel exploration using equipment in kit developed at U.S. Army Natick Laboratories.

Tunnel Kit Provides Exploration Equipment

Infantrymen in Vietnam recently have begun using a tunnel exploration kit developed at the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories, Natick, Mass.

The new kit brings together the many items necessary for an unusual task that U.S. soldiers face every day in Vietnam: searching the maze of enemy underground hideouts.

The tunnel kit was the quick response of the Natick staff to requests from soldiers in Vietnam for a package of equipment that would be readily available for tunnel exploration.

Natick technologists determined what soldiers wanted and needed in the kit and put the package together mainly from material already in the Army's supply system.

Most of the necessary items are packaged in a jungle rucksack, making a single unit that weighs only about 18 pounds. The remaining essential components, such as bayonets and load-carrying equipment, are available in Vietnam through normal supply channels.

The complete tunnel kit provides equipment for three soldiers. It consists of four major sub-assemblies:

- Weapons system, including two .22-caliber automatic pistols, two pistol holsters, two bayonets and scabbards and four pairs of special silicone rubber and aluminum ear plugs that protect the ears from sharp noises, but allow the hearing of voices and other normal sounds.
- Communications system, including a lightweight communications set with a headset that has a microphone at the back of the head and a receiver over one ear. Incoming sound can be cut off by a volume control that still allows the man in the tunnel to be heard outside. Wire is payed out from a cable dispenser attached to the back of the tunnel explorer's belt.
- Lighting system, including two lightweight, waterproof lanterns that operate on six-volt dry batteries.
- Individual equipment, including standard Army load-carrying items such as field packs, belts, suspenders and ammunition cases. (ANF)

If You Were the Judge

No Conspiracy in Alien's Marriage

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Ethel fell madly in love with Alfredo and became redder as he became bolder. When Alfredo finally turned on his charm full blast, their romance began to sizzle and they got married.

What Ethel didn't know, however, was that Alfredo was an alien and had concocted a scheme to marry her in order to avoid deportation. She found out the truth when Alfredo was arrested and charged with "conspiracy" to defraud the U.S. by marrying a U.S. citizen to obtain legal residence in the United States.

As it turned out, Alfredo's motive for marrying Ethel didn't bother Ethel at all. She had been snared by a romantic Latin lover and didn't mind it at all.

"If I'm not complaining," she argued in court, "I don't see why it should bother anyone else?

'Because he didn't seriously intend to be married," answered the prosecuting attorney. "He only intended not to be deported. He tricked everyone by entering into an invalid marriage."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you jail amorous Alfredo?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while Alfredo may not have taken his marriage seriously, Ethel did. In fact, the judge noted, she was not only satisfied, she was real tickled with it. Consequently, since it takes two to conspire and Ethel was not a conspirator, there was no conspiracy.

(Based upon a 1963 U.S. Court of Appeals Decision)

Cairo May Be Served by Sun Airlines

CAIRO - Scheduled air service at Cairo Airport can be obtained if the area can show a need exists for the service.

Calvin Watson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that Sun Airlines has indicated they will establish an air service to Cairo if the traffic pattern shows they can afford to stop here.

Watson said that industries in the area such as Burkart and West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., have expressed a desire for such service in Cairo.

Several years ago Ozark Lines had service into Cairo, but this was discontinued because of its limited use.

"We now believe that we have sufficient amount of air travel and would use the service and that it would pay an airline to institute scheduled stops here," Watson said.

He pointed out that numerous Cairo people regularly travel to Cape Girardeau and Paducah for air connections.

Sun Airlines is in process of merging with Ong Airlines to provide expanded service in 11 states with connections with all major airlines. The company uses the Lear Jetliners, plus turbojets.

"We are now flying over Cairo enroute to Carbondale and Memphis," said C. L. Dinison, vice president of Sun Airlines. "We would be very much interested in talking to Cairo about service to and from your city in the near future,"

In addition topassenger service, the airline would provide air freight and air express services.

The Chamber of Commerce is conducting a survey to determine how many corporations, businesses, individuals and others would use a scheduled airline into Cairo. Information supplied will be an important factor the airlines decision on whether to place Cairo Airport on their schedules.

H.E.L.P. Aids I-70 Motorists

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. -- Every day, 24 hours a day, motorists crossing the Show-Me State on Interstate 70 have something new going for them -- H.E.L.P.

H.E.L.P., the Highway Emergency Locating Plan, is a network of citizen's band, two-way radios along Interstate 70. Motorists with two-way radios in their cars can call the nearest Shell Service Station for assistance and information. The system, developed and sponsored by the Automobile Manufacturers Association and the Shell Oil Company, has recently been introduced to Missouri as part of a nationwide test of the program. The stretch of Interstate 70 between St. Louis and Kansas City is one of the testing grounds for H.E.L.P. Other tests of the program are now underway on the Southeast Coast and the West Coast.

The federal government, which has been working on the problems of aiding motorists on limited access highways for a long time, originally solicited the auto industry for help in developing more feasible solutions to these problems. The methods that were used bfore the H.E.L.P. program was initiated include roadside phones, solar powered emergency signal systems, highway radio transmitters and more road patrols.

The H.E.L.P. program may go a long way in replacing these systems. There are more than two million CB (Citizens Band) mobile radios in use in the nation today, and their use grows dramatically. In Missouri alone, there are nearly 250,000 licensed CB radio operators. Many of the radios are combination transmitters and receivers, called transceivers.

Most present-day transceivers have 23 channels, of which the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has designated Channel 9 as the emergency call channel.

Sixteen Shell dealers between St. Louis and Kansas City have agreed to take part in the H.E.L.P. program. They are the first in the country to be organized into a network for communication with motorists via two-way radios. They have, at their own expense, equipped themselves with transceivers and antennas and many have mobile CB equipment in their tow or service trucks. Calls on H.E.L.P. are answered by the Shell station nearest or by one of the private CB operators hearing the call. Only Shell opeartors are permitted to join the H.E.L.P. program but in emergencies other radio opeartors can answer a call and relay it to a Shell station.

Many local radio clubs throughout the state assist in the H.E.L.P. program. One of these is called REACT (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens Team), a Central Missouri CB radio club, and has been in existence for some time. Its goal is to provide 24-hour-a-day monitoring service covering all of mid-Missouri with its own facilities and providing links to similar services provided by other CB organizations in other areas of the state and the nation. The H.E.L.P. system will add more radios to this network.

One reason the system is so effective is that the FCC has given the Shell stations permission to use higher towers than the regulation 25 feet high towers allowed for most CB operators. The service stations may go to 200 feet towers, giving them much greater and clearer reception.

In addition to providing emergency service for motorists, the H.E.L.P. system also gives the motorists travel information about road repairs, traffic, weather and even food and lodging available along their route.

To the service stations in the program, H.E.L.P. means lots of extra work but Shell station owners along 1-70 say it is paying off in satisfied customers and quick emergency service. Although designed to help those motorists who have two-way radios in their cars, it also functions well for those without two-way radios. A large proportion of the calls received asking for emergency help are called in by someone with a radio who has seen a fellow motorist without such equipment in difficulty.

Promotion of the system is by billboards along the 210-mile route informing motorists of the presence of H.E.L.P. and giving them directions on how to use it.

In addition to helping motorists, the H.E.L.P. system could eventually evolve into part of a national civil defense program and help in routing traffic in and out of major cities and along major roadways in case of disaster.

Ann Landers

Questionnaire Strikes Out Prospective Bridegroom

Dear Ann Landers: Marvin and I have been going together for over a year. We are both in our 30's and old enough to know what we are doing. Marvin was married briefly five years ago but it didn't work out.

Two weeks ago Marvin began to talk marriage. He made it clear that he was not actually proposing, just "considering it" because there were a few things he had to find out first. Tonight he asked me five questions which he had written down on a piece of paper. Here are the questions:

(1) Do you need any dental work done?

(2) Do you need any surgery?

(3) What kind of insurance do you carry?

(4) Are you in line to inherit any money?

(5) Is there any insanity in your family?

I like Marvin very much and we get along fairly well but these questions have raised some doubts in my mind. What do you think?-- MISS D.

Dear Miss: I think you don't need a nut like this for a husband. One thing is certain, it isn't necessary to ask HIM question number five. You already know the answer.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old girl. My parents were divorced last year. My mother didn't want me. Neither did my dad but he took me because there just wasn't any place for me to go.

My father is an alcoholic. He comes home from work at 4:30 p.m. and starts to hit the bottle. By 6:00 p.m. he is stoned. He won't let me turn on the lights because it hurts his eyes. I can't study without lights. We live in a one-room apartment and I sleep on the couch -- he has the bed that pulls out of the wall. The bathroom is down the hall. We share it with two other families. I can't study in there. Please help me. I'm going nuts. -- MISERABLE GIRL

Dear Miserable: No girl should have to live like that. Talk to your clergyman about a foster home. There are aspects of this setup far worse than the light problem.

Dear Ann Landers: How old are you, anyway? In a recent column you mentioned the Stanley Steamer. I haven't heard anyone mention that car in at least 30 years. My grandfather drove one and I'm no kid. I'll be 63 my next birthday.

Every now and then you say something that gives away your age. Why don't you go straight and take that picture out of the paper and put one in that looks like you? I'll bet the picture I'm looking at right now was taken 20 years ago. --- NOBODY'S FOOL

Dear No: Simmer down, Pops. I've heard of the covered wagon, too, but that doesn't mean I came West in one. My age is no secret. I've just had a 50th birthday and I've never tried to hide it.

I don't know which picture you're looking at because my column now appears in over 700 papers and the pictures vary. We send out new pictures every two years and if your paper is using a mug shot that looks like an oldie send it to me and I'll take it up with your editor.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

100 Housing Units to Be Built in Dexter

DEXTER - Announcement was made here Thursday that the Federal Housing Authority has taken title to a 13-acre tract of land at the southwest end of the Ira V. Holmes property.

One hundred low rent housing units will be constructed on the site.

Seventy of these units will be for elderly living, the other thirty for low-income family living. The complex will have an office and maintenance building which will probably be in connection with a community space building. It was pointed out that the community building will be just that, available for the use of the entire community within limits of Housing Autnoritu regulations, according to Harry Jennings, executive director of the local project.

Total cost of the project will be within limits of $1,476,000, with the community building to cost approximately $41,000. Facilities for preparing and serving light refreshments will be included in the community building.

A survey of the ground has been run and tentative lay out design has been made. After the local board approves plans by Architect Stanley Brown, Dallas, Texas, bids will be advertised, allowing 30 days before opening, Jennings said. The board hopes to have the bid opening within 60 days, and the Housing Assistance Administration has estimated construction time at one year on a 100-unit facility. If bids are within architects estimated cost and are approved by the Housing Authority construction can start immediately after bid opening.

The site is at the northern edge of Dexter and slopes gently to the south. It lies to the west of Cash and Carry Market and Jim Carney, owner and operator of the market, has given easement to the county for a 50-foot wide strip from the housing authority facility to his market. Carney will construct an all-weather road which will then be maintained by the county.

Howard Chrisman is board chairman of the local housing authority, Dr. F. C. Northington, vice chairman, Jennings, executive director, and Howard Hill, Bill Edwards and Marsh Watkins, members. The authority maintains an office at One N. Walnut in the Chrisman building.

Two Paving Projects Okayed

DEXTER — Three ordinances were the main items of business at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

An Ordinance authorized paving on Fannetta Street from One Mile Road west to Woodland Drive.

Another approved the name change of Hickory Hills Subdivision Number Two to Kentwood Hills Subdivision.

Other action included approval of a purchase of an incinerator for the City Cemetery.

It was also voted that the Council would meet the first Monday night in September which is Labor Day.

One Alderman, James Gunn, was not present at the Monday night session.

MRS. FAYE POMEROY OF LUTESVILLE receives posthumous awards honoring her husband, Pfc. David K. Pomeroy, killed in Vietnam Feb. 18., from Lt. Col. J. J. Reedy, commanding officer of the Fifth U.S. Army advisor group in Cape Girardeau.

Posthumous Awards For David Pomeroy

LUTESVILLE — Mrs. Faye Pomeroy of Lutesville, in a ceremony at the Bollinger County Bank, Monday received awards posthumously honoring her husband, Pfc. David K. Pomeroy.

Making the presentation was Lt. Col. J. J. Reedy, commanding officer of the fifth U.S. army advisor group in Cape Girardeau.

The awards included the bronze star and purple heart medals, good conduct medal, combat infantryman badge, national defense service medal, Vietnam campaign ribbon and the expert badge with rifle and pistol bar.

Private First Class Pomeroy was killed in Vietnam Feb. 18, less than two months after his arrival. He entered the army June 13, 1967.

The citation, accompanying the bronze star medal, reads:

"Citation by direction of the President, awarded to Pfc. David K. Pomeroy, United States Army.

For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. Private First Class Pomeroy distinguished himself during the period 30 November, 1967 to 18 February, 1968, while assigned to Company B, 4th Battalion, 3rd Infantry. Private Pomeroy was initially assigned as an ammunition- bearer in one of the mortar squads. Due to his competence and knowledge, he was soon placed in a fire direction control position and, after only a few weeks he was able to perform his duties as a computer with minimum supervision. On several occasions, Private Pomeroy performed the duties of radio-telephone operator. He was able to keep abreast of the tactical situation at all times and could supply his platoon leader with the locations and missions of the other elements of the company in any situation. Private First Class Pomeroy's capable performance in many diversified fields, his outstanding devotion to duty and willingness to work long and arduous hours were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflected great credit upon himself, the American Division and the United States Army."

Others present for the presentation were Pfc. Pomeroy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pomeroy of Lutesville, and his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Stewart and children, Jonathan and Lora Lee of Rolla.

Mrs. Pomeroy is a former resident of New Madrid and the daughter of Mrs. B. C. Horton of New Madrid.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

The Lord . . . hath sent me to . . . give unto them beauty for ashes. (Isaiah; 61:1,3)

PRAYER: Dear God, help us to show forth our praise and thankfulness to Thee by helping others to see good and beauty in the commonplace things of life. By so doing, help us to increase beauty in the lives of all mankind. Amen.

"Flying Shuttle"

Contrary to widespread belief, it was not the invention of the steam engine which led to the industrial revolution, but the "flying shuttle," a mechanical device for the weaving and spinning of cotton goods, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

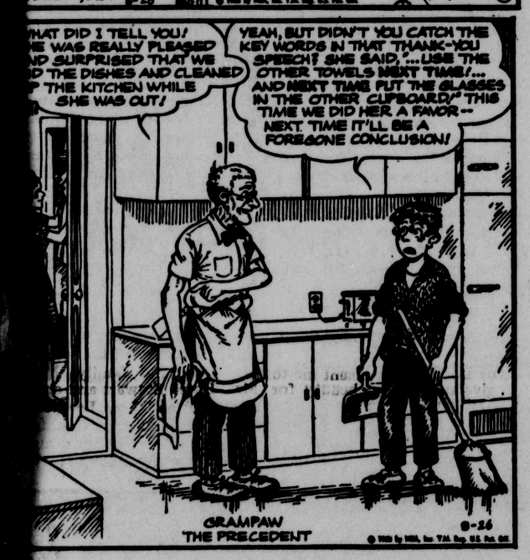
Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time



Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Aug. 26, the 239th day of 1968. There are 127 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1920, the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution went into effect. American women were guaranteed the same voting rights as men.

On this date:

In 1346, King Edward III of England defeated Philio VI of France in the Battle of Crecy in Northern France. It's said artillery was used for the first time in history.

In 1584, the Dutch painter, Frans Hals, was born.

In 1765, the home of Governor Thomas Hutchinson of Massachusetts was sacked by a mob who thought he favored the British Stamp Act.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler demanded that France return the Saar to Germany.

In 1937, Japan blockaded Chinese shipping.

In 1964, a Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, nominated President Lyndon B. Johnson by acclamation.

Ten years ago - 15 persons died in a Typhoon in Japan.

Five years ago - A United Nations team began a survey in North Borneo and Sarawak to determine whether the people of the two British colonies wished to join the Federation of Malaysia.

One year ago - Bandits on the Italian island of Sardinia were kidnaping and murdering people in defiance of a government crackdown.

Letters From Home Save GI's Life

DIGHTON, Kan. (AP) - Like most GIs in Vietnam, Pfc. James D. Fletcher carried his letters from home in his helmet. The habit saved his life.

Fletcher is convalescing from wounds suffered July 19 when chunks of shrapnel ripped through his helmet from an exploding grenade.

The packet of letters from Cheryl, his bride of 20 months he left back in Dighton, was shredded and torn by the jagged shards of hot metal. But the letters, serving as a buffer, shielded Fletcher's brain from fatal damage, doctors said.

He was wounded in a battle for Hill 156, near the Cambodian border, where his outfit, the 4th Battalion, 31st Light Infantry Brigade, 196th Infantry, was ordered to cut an enemy supply route.

Fletcher rallied a small group of surviving American infantry men, and directed their fire which held back the Viet Cong until the wounded could be removed to safety.

For his action, Fletcher has been recommended for the Silver Star, the Army's third highest award for heroism.

Cheryl still tries to get a letter from home mailed off to him every morning, knowing he needs them more than ever now to help him toward recovery.

A little gossip, a little news, sweetened with love and a wife's expression of pride for his brave deed, and her prayer that he was spared from harm.

"I'm proud of you. Thank God, you're safe. I miss you."

Plastic Inserted in Eye Restores Sight

COLUMBIA — "Doc, I would not take a million dollars for this thing," Fred Matthias of Highland City, Kan., says about a piece of plastic inserted in his eye that restored his sight through an operation at the University of Missouri medical center.

Matthias had been blind five years. In 1963 he was working with liquid fertilizer when a valve on the storage tank broke and anhydrous ammonia alkali hit him in the face. Although he felt as if his eyes were freezing, he learned later that the alkali had actually burned his eyes, leaving nothing but scar tissue. His sight was reduced to vague shadows and he could only do work around the house with his family's help.

He sought help at several hospitals without success. Then Matthias heard of the Lions eye tissue bank at the UMC medical center. He made an appointment to see ophthalmologists there. But the doctors recognized the burns on Matthias' eyes as the type which would continue to produce scar tissue and they felt a cornea transplant would be unsuccessful. One transplant was tried and it failed; it seemed the patient would remain blind.

Then in 1967, Dr. Leo Landhuis, instructor of surgery (ophthalmology) and director of the Lions Eye tissue bank, learned of a new eye operation developed by a doctor in Houston. A tiny, plastic, cylindrical - shaped keratoprosthesis ("button," as Matthias calls it) is put in the eye of persons blinded by chemical burns so that light can reach the back of the eye, which is usually undamaged. Some of the Texas doctor's patients had been able to see after this operation.

Dr. Landhuis told Matthias about the operation and suggested he think about it. If the operation were to be done, the eye surgeons would first operate on his worst eye, so Matthias felt he had nothing to lose.

In March, this year, Dr. Landhuis removed some scar tissue and a cataract in the first step of the operation. then he scraped off more scar tissue, located the center of the eye and trephined a tiny hole. The surgeon's primary concern was to see that the eye did not leak any fluid which would destroy the chance for a successful operation. After the hole was made, the plastic "button" was inserted and preserved sclera from the Eye Tissue Bank was used to sandwich and insert in place on the Eye Tissue Bank was used to sandwich the insert in place on the eye in the preplaced hole. The surgeon replaced the conjunctiva over the eye to give it a chance to heal.

Matthias had to wait until June to learn if he would see. He remembers, as the doctor removed the conjunctiva and the scar tissue, Dr. Landhuis kept asking, "Can you see anything, Fred?" At first the answer was no, then it changed to, "I can see something. I see print," Matthias said excitedly. The doctor could not guess what the patient saw, Matthias spelled out "H U I S, M D," the last half of the doctor's name from a tag sewn on his white coat.

"I got a real good look at the doctor that day for the first time, too," Matthias said.

Matthias told of his joy in seeing his two-year-old daughter for the first time, of seeing his other children and how they had grown, and the new styles in automobiles and buildings.

Matthias said he would be willing to go through a similar operation on his other eye.

"My left eye is a better eye and we've got to try for everything. These doctors know what they are doing," he said.

One reason Fred Matthias can read today is because some Missourian gave his eyes to the Lions Eye Tissue Bank. The Medical Center at the University of Missouri - Columbia is headquarters for the Eye Bank which is supported by the Missouri Lions Clubs. One of the 67 substations is within 50 miles of almost every person in Missouri. Tissue from this Eye Bank has been supplied throughout the country as well as Vietnam, South America and the hospital ship, the S. S. Hope.

Sclera, cornea and other eye tissue transplants are carried out at the Medical Center. Here, also, tissue is preserved and stored up to five years for emergency use.

Eyes come from Misssouri citizens who sign donor cards to give their eyes after death so someone else can see. More than 4500 Missourians have already signed donor cards.

To the person receiving sight from a donor, it is, as Fred Matthias says, "a little bit of a miracle."

Jean Bodger to Join Library Staff

JEFFERSON CITY -- The appointment to the Missouri state library staff of Mrs. Joan Bodger, known for her work in children's literature, was announced today by Charles O'Halloran, Missouri state librarian.

Mrs. Bodger will serve as children's services consultant for the state library, effective in mid-September. She is the author of "How The Heather Looks," first published in 1959, in which she recounts her impressions on a trip to those areas of Britain which have provided background for children's books.

Mrs. Bodger studied at the School of Librarianship at the University of California in Berkley. She is a children's story-teller and book reviewer.

Infants in the mid-20th century are healthier and have a better chance of survival than at any time in history. The infant mortality rate in the United States in 1900 was about 150 per 1,000 live births; the rate today is about 25 per 1,000 live births.

Tucker Buys Dexter Firm

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The L. A. Tucker Truck Lines Inc., has taken over opreation of the Hart Truck Line of Dexter. It recently acquired the line following receipt of a certificate of convenience and necessity from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Purchase of the line was from Gordon Hart, who had operated the business many years, serving Dexter, Doniphan, Malden and Poplar Bluff areas and interconnecting into Memphis, Tenn., but not serving Arkansas points.

The newly-acquired line has 89 units of equipment for shortline operation, which are now added to the extensive fleet of 266 units operated by Tucker in service to Cairo, Kennett, Caruthersville, Sikeston, Perryville, St. Louis, Jackson, Blytheville, Ark., and Memphis. Terminal offices, following takeover of the new line, will be in Dexter, Malden, Poplar Bluff and Doniphan, with the main offices here. The line now has 281 employes in all phases of its operation.

Hawaii U. Bows To Bikini Power

HONOLULU (AP) - The University of Hawaii has bowed to a new student movement-bikini power. The school dropped a ban on bikinis in the university's swimming pool during recreational hours.

The issue arose last month when two bikini-clad instructors were refused admission to the pool. This led to a demonstration and circulation of petitions. The brief swim suits were banned after several girls lost then while diving.

East Prairie Boy Dies After Crash

An East Prairie boy died Saturday after a car-bicycle collision. A Bloomfield man was killed Sunday eight miles west of Advance when he lost control of his car.

Mark Stanley Williams, seven, East Prairie, died enroute to the Missouri Delta Community hospital Saturday afternoon following an accident at 1:20 p.m. on route 105, three miles north of East Prairie.

Thomas L. Rainwater, 41, Bloomfield, as killed instantly in a one-car accident at 1:50 a.m. on route C in Bollinger county, eight miles west of Advance.

Williams was traveling south on the highway on his bicycle, when it struck a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by W. C. Bryant, 56, route two, East Prairie was also traveling south.

The youth turned left into the path of the Bryant car and was thrown from the bicycle to the highway, the state patrol reported.

Young Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lee Williams, rural, East Prairie, was born Sept. 11, 1960 in Wyatt.

Other survivors are two sisters, Sherry Williams and Cecilia Williams, and two brothers, Clinton Lee Williams and Christopher Williams, his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ray Williams, East Prairie; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Myers, Sikeston; and his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards, East Prairie.

Services were today at 3:30 p.m. in the Shelby Funeral Chapel, East Prairie, with the Rev. Darrell Jauch, pastor of First Baptist church, officiating.

Burial was in WOW cemetery.

Rainwater was driving a 1967 International pickup truck, and according to the state partol, 20 minutes earlier backed into an unidentified car parked in a private drive and left the scene.

While traveling west on the highway, he lost control of his car, went into a ditch and overturned twice.

His body was taken to the Morgan Funeral Home in Advance.

Four were injured Saturday in a one-car accident at 10:45 a.m. on Interstate-55, four miles south of Sikeston.

A 1968 Ford, driven by Howard Fields, 21, Kansas City, Kans., speeding south went out of control, ran into the median, crossed back into the highway and turned over twice on the right-of-way.

He and three passengers, Carolyn Whitmill, 42, Jethro Garrett, 19, and Ralph Tabron, 19, all of Kansas City, received minor injuries, and were treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

In a parking lot accident at the Scott City Rainbow drivein, Saturday at 7:45 p.m., Randy David Bray, 12, Blytheville, a pedestrian, received an injured knee, when a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by James Elbert Gum Jr., 41, Scott City, pinned the youth between his car and another car.

Bray was treated and released from the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Four were injured Saturday at 6:45 p.m. on highway 72, 10 miles east of Fredericktown, when James Quinn, 64, Patton, slowed for a left turn, and waved to a vehicle from behind to pass. The second car, a 1959 Oldsmobile, driven by John D. Brown, 40, Memphis, and the Quinn car sideswiped on the shoulder and the Quinn car traveled on to strike a tree.

Injured in the Quinn car were Marjory Quinn, 63, internal and back injuries, and James H. Quinn, 38, both of Patton, cuts on his face and left hand.

Brown received cuts on his nose and mouth, and a passenger, Robert E. Reid, 41, Union, Miss., cuts on his chin.

The injured were taken to Madison County Memorial hospital in Fredericktown.

Five were injured in a two-car collision, Sunday at 5:40 p.m., on highway 67, two miles north of Neelyville.

A 1963 Buick, driven by James Oscar Wilson, 43, Poplar Bluff, came behind an unidentified vehicle that had stopped. The brakes on the Wilson car failed and the car went on the shoulder and struck a 1968 Chevrolet, driven by Vida Lacefield, 41, Hoxie, Ark., almost headon.

Injured in the Wilson car were the driver, with scratches on his face and knee, and three passengers: Myrna Wilson, 13, Hoxie, leg injury and cuts on her body; Jessie Hayman, Harviell, cuts on the face and hands, and Katie Hayman, 53, Harviell, cuts on her body.

Mrs. Lacefield, driver of the Chevrolet, received cuts on her forearm and leg.

The injured were taken to Doctors hospital in Poplar Bluff.

In a one-car accident Sunday at 1:10 a.m. in Neelyville, Mary Huff, 31, Saraland, Ala., driving an unidentified vehicle, lost control on a curve, and ran into a ditch.

Injured was a passenger, Ruby Suiter, 54, Neelysville, head cuts. She was treated at Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Saturday at 7:45 a.m. on highway 53, four miles south of Poplar Bluff, Thomas A. Forbes, 62, Broseley, lost control of his 1963 van when a wheel dropped off the pavement. The vehicle ran into a ditch and overturned.

He received cuts on his arms and legs, and a possible back injury.

Forbes was taken to Poplar Bluff hospital.

Ike Has Increase In Extra Beats

WASHINGTON (AP) - Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has shown "further increase" in heart irritability since Sunday and remains in critical condition.

Doctors of the Walter Reed Army Hospital said that extra heartbeats have been occurring with "increasing frequency" since Sunday.

But they added that there had been no further episodes of "rapid heart action," which constitute the more serious sympton of his condition.

The hospital issued this morning bulletin:

"Gen. Eisenhower has shown further increase in heart irritability since yesterday. Extra beats have been occurring with increasing frequency. However, there have been no further episodes of rapid heart action.

"The general's condition remains critical.

"He enjoyed a light breakfast this morning and continues to rest comfortably."

A medical bulletin Sunday night said Eisenhower's condition remained "essentially unchanged" from the day's earlier reports.

The afternoon bulletin had reported no new instances of the rapid heart action.

The morning bulletin had said the "increased heart irritability - extra beat-which began yesterday, Saturday a.m., has persisted through the day and night and there have been several episodes of rapid heart action requiring further treatments."

The bulletin added that Eisenhower "rested comfortably during the night and is in good spirits this morning. Mrs. Eisenhower continues to visit the general briefly at frequent intervals."

In answer to a newsman's written question as to whether Eisenhower's condition was worse than at any time since the latest actual attack, the doctors said Sunday night he was "holding his own."

In answer to another question, the doctors also indicated for the first time they do not believe medical statistics are against Eisenhower's chances for survival.

They were asked whether a "patient's survival after several closely spaced heart attacks and episodes of ventricular fibrillation is considered rare."

"It is becoming increasingly common with present - day medical facilities," they said.

Ventricular fibrillation is a fluttering of the heart muscle which threatens performance of the heart's basic task of pumping blood to vital organs.

Books Donated For Migrants

Mrs. Burt Rowe Sr., president of the Church Women United, has reported an "enthusiastic and generous" response in a book collection made for the Missouri Association of Migrant Opportunity services centers at Marston, Hayti and Gobler.

The reference books, supplementary text books, fiction, biographies and magazines are being used in adult education classes held to raise the education level of the workers and assist them in other ways so they can become self-supporting, taxpaying citizens.

A typewriter and phonograph were donated.

The book collection drive was June 15-July 15.

Members of the Church Women United transported the books to the center in Marston for distribution.

10 Treated

Ten were admitted to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community hospital during the weekend:

Treated Saturday were Susan Marie Bonifield, Charleston, mashed finger in car door; Carolyn D. Whitmill, Howard L. Fields, Jethro D.Garrett, Ralph Tabron, all of Kansas City, injured in car accident; Catherine Edwards, Chicago, cut finger on glass; Scott Leslie Hepler, Pevely, cut left index and middle finger on push lawnmower and Maria Rosa Martin, Sikeston, fell at home.

Admitted Sunday were Shawn W. Marshall, Bertrand, dog bite, and Bobby Gene Klingel, Sikeston, riding bicycle, rode into another bicycle.

Gov. Godwin's Daughter Hit By Lightning

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) - Becky Godwin, 14-year-old daughter of Virginia's governor, was in critical condition today after being struck by lightning on the beach Sunday, hospital officials said.

Virginia Beach General Hospital said the slight, brown-haired girl remain in the intensive care unit. It is still difficult, the report said, "to offer any longrange prognosis."

The hospital bulletin did not say whether Becky had regained consciousness for any period.

Doctors said there were "some encouraging responses to intensive treatment in the last few hours."

Her father, Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., arrived at the hospital Sunday night from Chicago, where Virginia's Democratic National Convention delegation had planned to nominate him as a favorite-son candidate for president.

He was visibly shaken. The governor had been in Chicago only six hours when the accident occurred about 3:30 p.m. First reports informed him his daughter was dead. Then the report was: "extremely critical." He left Chicago immediately.

Becky, the Godwin's adopted only child, had been vacationing with her mother at the governor's seaside cottage on the state military reservation here. Her mother, Katherine, was recuperating from a serious abdominal operation she underwent last week.

Humphrey Lead Uneasy as Demos Launch Convention

CHICAGO (AP) - Hubert H. Humphrey held a heavy - but highly uneasy - lead for the presidential nomination today as a deeply divided Democratic party headed into its 1968 convention.

The vice president had in his pocket two-thirds of the first-ballot votes needed for the top prize, but most of the talk and much of the enthusiasm were for two non-candidates hundreds of miles from this heavily guarded city: Lyndon B. Johnson and Edward M. Kennedy.

The President, home on the ranch near Johnson City, Tex., was giving no hint on whether he'd even show up in Chicago-through his 60th birthday anniversary Tuesday offers a dramatic opportunity to put real steam behind a budding "Draft Johnson" movement.

Sen. Kennedy, like Johnson an avowed noncandidate, was relaxing at Cape Cod, Mass., but a perhaps more insistent "draft" movement appeared to be surfacing in Chicago.

Forces in the Texas delegation are ready to put Johnson's name in nomination. Former Gov. Michael DiSalle of Ohio is ready with Kennedy's-and this morning important new strength turned the senator's way.

Longshot presidential hopeful George S. McGovern said if Kennedy "called me and talked to me directly and said that he wanted the nomination I would probably throw my support to him."

McGovern, a South Dakota senator, added, however: "I don't expect that to happen, I don't know about any Kennedy movement."

A second liberal senator from the Midwest, Philip Hart of Michigan, endorsed Kennedy for the nomination-and Sander Levin, chairman of the Michigan delegation, said he would "lean to Kennedy if Kennedy became a candidate.

Like McGovern, both Hart and Levin spoke cautiously, saying they were not urging the last of the Kennedy brothers to get into the race.

But a boom, or at least a boomlet, has been launched. Attention was centered particularly on the 118-vote Illinois delegation where, at the direction of Mayor Richard J. Daley, a presidential preference vote was put off until Wednesday - obviously to see if either the Johnson or Kennedy drives catch fire.

Blair Clark, campaign manager for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, contended at a news conference in mid-morning "it now is quite clear" that Humphrey is not going to win on the first ballot.

On paper, at least, the strength of the declared candidates remained constant. The Associated Press, basing its count on primary results, public pledges, checks with delegates and caucuses, gave this standing in mid-morning:

Humphrey 889;

Sen. Eugene J.McCarthy: 477¼

McGovern 37½

Favorite sons 419½

Others 13

Uncommitted 785¾

The convention's 2,622 delegates make their White House choice Wednesday night.

On another front, meanwhile, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia resigned as a delegate to the convention-though he remains a candidate for the party's nomination.

California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, heading the 174-vote delegation won by the late Robert F. Kennedy, said it would be difficult for him to support Humphrey, but added it would be impossible for the group to band unanimously behind any one candidate.

Humphrey's supporters seemed to make up some of this contested ground with the forecast by Frank P. O'Conner, head of the New York City Council, that the vice president will get about 100 of his state's 190 votes on the first ballot.

The convention began clearing away the preliminaries tonight in an atmosphere of a maximum security stockade at the Stockyards International Amphitheatre.

Delegates and alternates were outnumbered by troops 4-to-1.

Six thousand federal troops have been airlifted into Chicago to back up 18,000 Illinois National Guardsmen ready to combat any flareup of violence.

Police cordons have sealed off the convention area. Small crowds of antiwar demonstrators rallied Sunday in downtown lakefront park areas and marched on one hotel, but there were only a few arrests and no major disturbances.

Johnson's Vietnam policies appear headed for a floor fight Tuesday night despite efforts to reach an off-stage compromise.

Delegates writing the party platform labored until midnight Sunday without reaching the Vietnam question and were scheduled to resume today.

Key supporters of Humphrey and McCarthy were searching for a compromise that might prevent a party-splitting showdown on the floor.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, of Maine, backing Humphrey, said he thinks the candidates are close enough on fundamentals to make a compromise possible.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, a McCarthy backer, said the Platform Committee ought to draft a plank covering the main goals of U. S. policy, leaving room for differences on the details.

All Czech Road Signs Now Point to Moscow

PRAGUE (AP) - Road signs all over Czechoslovakia have been removed, painted over or turned around. Now they read "To Moscow."

Such signs have appeared on almost every road leading to the east. To make sure that the Soviet occupiers understand them, the Czechs and Slovaks have written them in the Cyrillic alphabet used in Russia.

On the route through southern Bohemia from West Germany to Prague, other signs read, "Ivan go home," in Russia, Czechoslovak and English.

Passing through the small villages of Bohemia, one sees walls and shop windows covered with anti - Soviet signs, many of them in Russian.

"We don't want your help," said one. "This is our country," said another. There were endless variations on the main theme, "Moscow is that way, please get going."

New signs also warn travelers of Soviet checkpoints or roadblocks.

Entering Prague on one road, travelers encountered such signs as, "Soviet roadblock, 1500 meters ahead" and, "Watch out for Ivan, 500 meters from here."

Another phase of the sign campaign aims at confusing the occupiers and hindering their activities.

In many villages and in Prague, street signs and house numbers have been removed. Signposts have been splashed with buff paint. Others have been pointed in wrong directions.

As a result, the Soviets are finding it hard to get around. Russian truckdrivers losing their way in a town can never get more than a shrug from Czechoslovak pedestrians they ask for directions.

"Even our children have suddenly forgotten all the Russian vocabulary they learned in school," one native said.

In the first two days of the occupation, Soviet tanks were surrounded by youngsters trying to convince the Russians to leave.

This stopped after reports spread of hidden cameras filming the youngsters for Soviet propaganda newsreels showing the "cordial welcome" by the Prague population.

The rule is now to look the other way as soon as a Russian is spotted.

Western travelers, on the other hand, get all the help they need. Bystanders and even police readily guide them through towns and cities. In case of a car breakdown, they get fast service, even on Sunday.

Payment is usually refused, but drivers are normally handed a souvenir, a little card printed in English: "Ivan go home."

Czechs Doubt Truce Reports as Talks Go Into Fourth Day

MOSCOW (AP) - Czechoslovak and Soviet talks went into an afternoon session today on the fourth day of negotiations amid reports they had reached preliminary agreement to end the crisis. But some Czechoslovak sources expressed doubt that anything like a final solution had been agreed upon.

Authoritative party sources in Prague said there was hope of reaching an agreement that would include Soviet recognition of the liberal party leaders in exchange for acceptance of a temporary Soviet occupation.

A Czechoslovak Embassy spokesman said President Ludvig Svoboda and other liberal leaders would return to Prague no matter what the results of the negotiations.

The spokesman said Svoboda would be accompanied home by Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek reported earlier to have been taken prisoner by the Soviet troops who invaded his country.

The spokesman said three more top officials, had arrived from Prague to join the talks as they resumed for the fourth day. The new arrivals were Josef Spacek and Bohuwil Simon, both liberal followers of Dubcek, and Oldrich Svestka, conservative editor of the party newspaper Rude Pravo.

With the arrival of Spacek and Svestka, the Czechoslovak delegation included seven of the 11 members of the party's 11-man presidium. Simon is head of the party's Prague city organization.

The Free Czech Radio announced that the central committee of the Czechoslovak Communist party, which is loyal to Svoboda and Dubcek, has been called into plenary session to discuss the Moscow negotiations and the current situation in Prague.

Another underground broadcast told Czechoslovaks that some compromise must be made to get the Soviet-bloc occupiers off their land but that it "need not be needlessly great."

The commentator said the invasion by the Soviet Union and four other orthodox Communist states added up to a "bungled putsch" by Communist leaders concerned not about the party's future but for their own "personal power."

"The Soviet Union has found itself facing the whole world and the international Communist movement in the extremely unpleasant position of a great power which not only tries to enforce its power objectives by means of force, but which, in addition, had failed to enforce them," the broadcast said.

A Moscow correspondent for Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported that the Soviet leaders had agreed in principle to the withdrawal of the occupation troops.

Job Corps to Study LPN Setup

Two representatives of the St. Louis Job Corps Center will visit the Licensed Practical Nurse program conducted at the Sikeston Public School board of education building Thursday.

Purpose of the visit will be to review the administration and conduct of the program here, Mrs. Clara Eisenbach, director of the LPN program here, said.

The St. Louis Job Corps center administrators are considering setting up a practical nursing program in the St. Louis Center.

The Sikeston LPN program will be studied as a model. It is the only program in the state that has National Accredation, and is recognized as one of the best programs of its type.

The St. Louis representatives who will study the program here are Mrs. Famila Kennedy, nurse administrator for the practical nurse program, and Mrs. Lucille Grimes, coordinator of vocational education for the St. Louis Job Corps Center.

Police Report Four Arrests One Breakin

A breakin at Bob's Gulf Service Station, 2007 East Malone, netted burglars about $20 in change, police reported today.

Edward Heacox, 312 Illinois, attendant, told police entrance was gained through a window on the west side of the building. The breakin occurred between 9 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

In other activity, Lloyd Vernon Tippy, 611 Cleveland, and John Thomas Schaffer, Kendall St., were each arrested at 12:03 a.m. Sunday and charged with peace disturbance for fighting.

Nelson A. McNeeley, Dexter, was arrested at 10:08 p.m. Sunday and charged with public intoxication on Felker St.

Roosevelt Smith, 226 North Kingshighway, was charged at 4:30 p.m. Sunday with assault and battery.

Richard Dorris, 179 Presnell Dr., reported to police at 3:28 p.m. Saturday that several small items valued together at $22 were taken from his car Saturday afternoon while it was parked near the Burger Chef on Highway 61.

Girl Heart Transplant Patient Dies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two male heart transplant patients were reported in good condition today, but a five-year-old girl died Sunday a week after receiving a new heart.

Leonard Drake, 42, a retired postal clerk of Eugene, Ore., ate a good breakfast and sat in a chair Sunday at the Stanford, Calif., Medical Center the third day after receiving his new heart.

He was the center's third heart transplant recipient and the world's 33rd.

Louis B. Russell Jr., 43, an Indianapolis, Ind., school teacher, was reported in satisfactory condition Sunday at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond.

Russell's transplant Saturday was the world's 34th and the second at the Richmond hospital. The previous patient died in May, one week after the transplant.

Maria Giannaris of Hagerstown, Md., died Sunday, a week after receiving a transplant in the Texas Heart Institute at Texas Childrens Hospital, Houston.

Maria was implanted with the heart of an 11-year-old boy who had suffered a brain hemorhage.

The first child-a 2½ week-old boy-to receive a heart transplant died 6½ hours after the operation last December in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Undercurrent of Tension Ushers in Convention

CHICAGO (AP) - In Lincoln Park, which is only a few miles north of the hall where the Democrats hope to nominate the next president of the United States, there is a huge triangular field.

On the weekend before the Democratic National Convention, a sunny hot day that used to be described as languid, adolescents were playing baseball in two corners of the field. Along the edges and in the near background, people watched in a desultory way, families picnicked, lovers loved, children ran, old men slept in the shade and sail boats leaned in the wind in the blue, if not unpolluted waters of Lake Michigan. As American as apple pie.

In the third corner of the field, another group of adolescents sat on the grass around a chunky young lady in a bright blue dress who was speaking matter of factly into a hand microphone.

"Ninety per cent of hemorrhaging can be stopped with pressure," she told her audience, some of whom held babies, many of whom wore beards, tattered denim and the other symbols of adolescent disenchantment. The audience was made up of serious young people who expected soon to march on the convention to demonstrate for peace.

A bearded young man stretched out near the lecturer. "Now in artificial respiration," she said, "the thing to do is keep your cool but work fast." And she demonstrated artificial respiration on her bearded model and nobody laughed or gasped or otherwise reflected the implausibility of a first-aid lecture on extensive bleeding, as or shock to a bunch of kids in a sunny city park.

They were preparing for possible violence. In this town at this time, everybody seems to be preparing for violence. From all points of the compass one senses menace creeping into the city on little cat feet.

By the thousands, city police prowl the streets, squind from roof tops, guard the hotels and the convention hall, cluster on corners, wearing blue riot helmets, carrying big billy clubs and big black pistols. By the thousands, billeted nearby, soldiers stand ready with armored vehicles and bayonetted rifles. By the hundreds, agents of the United States Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Criminal Investigation Division and other federal agencies, study the crowds in the hotel lobbies, search the convention hall for explosives, question people without proper credentials, and peek into handbags and packages carried into the hall.

By the dozens in the air over Chicago, the nation's second largest city, where Abe Lincoln was nominated with less display of force on the eve of the Civil War, helicopters circle over the convention hotels and the convention hall, where soon the saints will be marching in and happy days are here again.

And the cab drivers are on strike and the bus drivers are on strike, and the phone installers are on strike, and the traffic jams into impossible gluts and delegates arriving at the airport frantically wave twenty dollar bills at strangers in the hopes of catching a ride into town.

And the peace demonstrators march outside of the hotels with signs asking "Will napalm teach democracy?" and a lone eccentric carried a black bordered picture of a familiar face with the caption: 'Keep the peace with Robert Kennedy," and the red-cheeked girls with a plastic straw hats are much less visible than they were in Miami. And in the hotel rooms, Hubert H. Humphrey, who had once hoped to be the new happy warrior of politics, who now keeps one ear cocked for some encouraging word from the ranch, works unhappily trying to hold on to his convention strength. He has the delegates but not the voters, say the polls.

And in other hotel rooms, Eugene J. McCarthy, who is said to have the voters but not the delegates, sharpens his lance for the last big windmill while his young evangelical workers, the ones who followed him the whole lonesome way from New Hampshire, wait almost prayerfully for victory in what they have called the Establishment's last chance. And in still other hotel rooms, the young-old men who followed John F. Kennedy all the way to Dallas and then Robert F. Kennedy all the way to Los Angeles, now discuss, argue, plan and hope to find a live hero.

And on billboards all over town, Mayor Richard J. Daley welcomes the delegates to his city, with a hand gaily waving a straw hat, as if this convention were being held in a happier century with torch light parades and weenie roasts. And along the convention route, the Mayor's red fences hide ugly, empty lots and his fresh flowers decorate the expressway exits and visitors would never know they were within a few miles of buildings gutted last April by race riots.

This is not a happy convention.

East Prairie Boy Dies After Crash

An East Prairie boy died Saturday after a car-bicycle collision. A Bloomfield man was killed Sunday eight miles west of Advance when he lost control of his car.

Mark Stanley Williams, seven, East Prairie, died enroute to the Missouri Delta Community hospital Saturday afternoon following an accident at 1:20 p.m. on route 105, three miles north of East Prairie.

Thomas L. Rainwater, 41, Bloomfield, as killed instantly in a one-car accident at 1:50 a.m. on route C in Bollinger county, eight miles west of Advance.

Williams was traveling south on the highway on his bicycle, when it struck a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by W. C. Bryant, 56, route two, East Prairie was also traveling south.

The youth turned left into the path of the Bryant car and was thrown from the bicycle to the highway, the state patrol reported.

Young Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lee Williams, rural, East Prairie, was born Sept. 11, 1960 in Wyatt.

Other survivors are two sisters, Sherry Williams and Cecilia Williams, and two brothers, Clinton Lee Williams and Christopher Williams, his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ray Williams, East Prairie; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Myers, Sikeston; and his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards, East Prairie.

Services were today at 3:30 p.m. in the Shelby Funeral Chapel, East Prairie, with the Rev. Darrell Jauch, pastor of First Baptist church, officiating.

Burial was in WOW cemetery.

Rainwater was driving a 1967 International pickup truck, and according to the state partol, 20 minutes earlier backed into an unidentified car parked in a private drive and left the scene.

While traveling west on the highway, he lost control of his car, went into a ditch and overturned twice.

His body was taken to the Morgan Funeral Home in Advance.

Four were injured Saturday in a one-car accident at 10:45 a.m. on Interstate-55, four miles south of Sikeston.

A 1968 Ford, driven by Howard Fields, 21, Kansas City, Kans., speeding south went out of control, ran into the median, crossed back into the highway and turned over twice on the right-of-way.

He and three passengers, Carolyn Whitmill, 42, Jethro Garrett, 19, and Ralph Tabron, 19, all of Kansas City, received minor injuries, and were treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

In a parking lot accident at the Scott City Rainbow drivein, Saturday at 7:45 p.m., Randy David Bray, 12, Blytheville, a pedestrian, received an injured knee, when a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by James Elbert Gum Jr., 41, Scott City, pinned the youth between his car and another car.

Bray was treated and released from the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Four were injured Saturday at 6:45 p.m. on highway 72, 10 miles east of Fredericktown, when James Quinn, 64, Patton, slowed for a left turn, and waved to a vehicle from behind to pass. The second car, a 1959 Oldsmobile, driven by John D. Brown, 40, Memphis, and the Quinn car sideswiped on the shoulder and the Quinn car traveled on to strike a tree.

Injured in the Quinn car were Marjory Quinn, 63, internal and back injuries, and James H. Quinn, 38, both of Patton, cuts on his face and left hand.

Brown received cuts on his nose and mouth, and a passenger, Robert E. Reid, 41, Union, Miss., cuts on his chin.

The injured were taken to Madison County Memorial hospital in Fredericktown.

Five were injured in a two-car collision, Sunday at 5:40 p.m., on highway 67, two miles north of Neelyville.

A 1963 Buick, driven by James Oscar Wilson, 43, Poplar Bluff, came behind an unidentified vehicle that had stopped. The brakes on the Wilson car failed and the car went on the shoulder and struck a 1968 Chevrolet, driven by Vida Lacefield, 41, Hoxie, Ark., almost headon.

Injured in the Wilson car were the driver, with scratches on his face and knee, and three passengers: Myrna Wilson, 13, Hoxie, leg injury and cuts on her body; Jessie Hayman, Harviell, cuts on the face and hands, and Katie Hayman, 53, Harviell, cuts on her body.

Mrs. Lacefield, driver of the Chevrolet, received cuts on her forearm and leg.

The injured were taken to Doctors hospital in Poplar Bluff.

In a one-car accident Sunday at 1:10 a.m. in Neelyville, Mary Huff, 31, Saraland, Ala., driving an unidentified vehicle, lost control on a curve, and ran into a ditch.

Injured was a passenger, Ruby Suiter, 54, Neelysville, head cuts. She was treated at Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Saturday at 7:45 a.m. on highway 53, four miles south of Poplar Bluff, Thomas A. Forbes, 62, Broseley, lost control of his 1963 van when a wheel dropped off the pavement. The vehicle ran into a ditch and overturned.

He received cuts on his arms and legs, and a possible back injury.

Forbes was taken to Poplar Bluff hospital.

Delmo Post To Cooper

LILBOURN - Alex Cooper of Hayti has been appointed program director of the Delmo Housing Corporation by the board of directors, effective Sunday.

He will take the place of Mrs. Charlotte Ragan, acting director, whose husband resigned to head the Sikeston regional diagnostic clinic.

Cooper will continue to live at Hayti.

He is a college graduate, a former army engineer combat officer in Korea and Fort Leonard Wood, and a former teacher. He recently worked for the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation in the Head Start program and as neighborhood service center coordinator. He was employed by the SEMO Development Corporation as project director of the neighborhood youth corps.

Ike Has Increase In Extra Beats

WASHINGTON (AP) - Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has shown "further increase" in heart irritability since Sunday and remains in critical condition.

Doctors of the Walter Reed Army Hospital said that extra heartbeats have been occurring with "increasing frequency" since Sunday.

But they added that there had been no further episodes of "rapid heart action," which constitute the more serious sympton of his condition.

The hospital issued this morning bulletin:

"Gen. Eisenhower has shown further increase in heart irritability since yesterday. Extra beats have been occurring with increasing frequency. However, there have been no further episodes of rapid heart action.

"The general's condition remains critical.

"He enjoyed a light breakfast this morning and continues to rest comfortably."

A medical bulletin Sunday night said Eisenhower's condition remained "essentially unchanged" from the day's earlier reports.

The afternoon bulletin had reported no new instances of the rapid heart action.

The morning bulletin had said the "increased heart irritability - extra beat-which began yesterday, Saturday a.m., has persisted through the day and night and there have been several episodes of rapid heart action requiring further treatments."

The bulletin added that Eisenhower "rested comfortably during the night and is in good spirits this morning. Mrs. Eisenhower continues to visit the general briefly at frequent intervals."

In answer to a newsman's written question as to whether Eisenhower's condition was worse than at any time since the latest actual attack, the doctors said Sunday night he was "holding his own."

In answer to another question, the doctors also indicated for the first time they do not believe medical statistics are against Eisenhower's chances for survival.

They were asked whether a "patient's survival after several closely spaced heart attacks and episodes of ventricular fibrillation is considered rare."

"It is becoming increasingly common with present - day medical facilities," they said.

Ventricular fibrillation is a fluttering of the heart muscle which threatens performance of the heart's basic task of pumping blood to vital organs.

Books Donated For Migrants

Mrs. Burt Rowe Sr., president of the Church Women United, has reported an "enthusiastic and generous" response in a book collection made for the Missouri Association of Migrant Opportunity services centers at Marston, Hayti and Gobler.

The reference books, supplementary text books, fiction, biographies and magazines are being used in adult education classes held to raise the education level of the workers and assist them in other ways so they can become self-supporting, taxpaying citizens.

A typewriter and phonograph were donated.

The book collection drive was June 15-July 15.

Members of the Church Women United transported the books to the center in Marston for distribution.

10 Treated

Ten were admitted to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community hospital during the weekend:

Treated Saturday were Susan Marie Bonifield, Charleston, mashed finger in car door; Carolyn D. Whitmill, Howard L. Fields, Jethro D.Garrett, Ralph Tabron, all of Kansas City, injured in car accident; Catherine Edwards, Chicago, cut finger on glass; Scott Leslie Hepler, Pevely, cut left index and middle finger on push lawnmower and Maria Rosa Martin, Sikeston, fell at home.

Admitted Sunday were Shawn W. Marshall, Bertrand, dog bite, and Bobby Gene Klingel, Sikeston, riding bicycle, rode into another bicycle.

Gov. Godwin's Daughter Hit By Lightning

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) - Becky Godwin, 14-year-old daughter of Virginia's governor, was in critical condition today after being struck by lightning on the beach Sunday, hospital officials said.

Virginia Beach General Hospital said the slight, brown-haired girl remain in the intensive care unit. It is still difficult, the report said, "to offer any longrange prognosis."

The hospital bulletin did not say whether Becky had regained consciousness for any period.

Doctors said there were "some encouraging responses to intensive treatment in the last few hours."

Her father, Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., arrived at the hospital Sunday night from Chicago, where Virginia's Democratic National Convention delegation had planned to nominate him as a favorite-son candidate for president.

He was visibly shaken. The governor had been in Chicago only six hours when the accident occurred about 3:30 p.m. First reports informed him his daughter was dead. Then the report was: "extremely critical." He left Chicago immediately.

Becky, the Godwin's adopted only child, had been vacationing with her mother at the governor's seaside cottage on the state military reservation here. Her mother, Katherine, was recuperating from a serious abdominal operation she underwent last week.

Humphrey Lead Uneasy as Demos Launch Convention

CHICAGO (AP) - Hubert H. Humphrey held a heavy - but highly uneasy - lead for the presidential nomination today as a deeply divided Democratic party headed into its 1968 convention.

The vice president had in his pocket two-thirds of the first-ballot votes needed for the top prize, but most of the talk and much of the enthusiasm were for two non-candidates hundreds of miles from this heavily guarded city: Lyndon B. Johnson and Edward M. Kennedy.

The President, home on the ranch near Johnson City, Tex., was giving no hint on whether he'd even show up in Chicago-through his 60th birthday anniversary Tuesday offers a dramatic opportunity to put real steam behind a budding "Draft Johnson" movement.

Sen. Kennedy, like Johnson an avowed noncandidate, was relaxing at Cape Cod, Mass., but a perhaps more insistent "draft" movement appeared to be surfacing in Chicago.

Forces in the Texas delegation are ready to put Johnson's name in nomination. Former Gov. Michael DiSalle of Ohio is ready with Kennedy's-and this morning important new strength turned the senator's way.

Longshot presidential hopeful George S. McGovern said if Kennedy "called me and talked to me directly and said that he wanted the nomination I would probably throw my support to him."

McGovern, a South Dakota senator, added, however: "I don't expect that to happen, I don't know about any Kennedy movement."

A second liberal senator from the Midwest, Philip Hart of Michigan, endorsed Kennedy for the nomination-and Sander Levin, chairman of the Michigan delegation, said he would "lean to Kennedy if Kennedy became a candidate.

Like McGovern, both Hart and Levin spoke cautiously, saying they were not urging the last of the Kennedy brothers to get into the race.

But a boom, or at least a boomlet, has been launched. Attention was centered particularly on the 118-vote Illinois delegation where, at the direction of Mayor Richard J. Daley, a presidential preference vote was put off until Wednesday - obviously to see if either the Johnson or Kennedy drives catch fire.

Blair Clark, campaign manager for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, contended at a news conference in mid-morning "it now is quite clear" that Humphrey is not going to win on the first ballot.

On paper, at least, the strength of the declared candidates remained constant. The Associated Press, basing its count on primary results, public pledges, checks with delegates and caucuses, gave this standing in mid-morning:

Humphrey 889;
Sen. Eugene J.McCarthy: 477¼
McGovern 37½
Favorite sons 419½
Others 13
Uncommitted 785¾

The convention's 2,622 delegates make their White House choice Wednesday night.

On another front, meanwhile, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia resigned as a delegate to the convention-though he remains a candidate for the party's nomination.

California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, heading the 174-vote delegation won by the late Robert F. Kennedy, said it would be difficult for him to support Humphrey, but added it would be impossible for the group to band unanimously behind any one candidate.

Humphrey's supporters seemed to make up some of this contested ground with the forecast by Frank P. O'Conner, head of the New York City Council, that the vice president will get about 100 of his state's 190 votes on the first ballot.

The convention began clearing away the preliminaries tonight in an atmosphere of a maximum security stockade at the Stockyards International Amphitheatre.

Delegates and alternates were outnumbered by troops 4-to-1.

Six thousand federal troops have been airlifted into Chicago to back up 18,000 Illinois National Guardsmen ready to combat any flareup of violence.

Police cordons have sealed off the convention area. Small crowds of antiwar demonstrators rallied Sunday in downtown lakefront park areas and marched on one hotel, but there were only a few arrests and no major disturbances.

Johnson's Vietnam policies appear headed for a floor fight Tuesday night despite efforts to reach an off-stage compromise.

Delegates writing the party platform labored until midnight Sunday without reaching the Vietnam question and were scheduled to resume today.

Key supporters of Humphrey and McCarthy were searching for a compromise that might prevent a party-splitting showdown on the floor.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, of Maine, backing Humphrey, said he thinks the candidates are close enough on fundamentals to make a compromise possible.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, a McCarthy backer, said the Platform Committee ought to draft a plank covering the main goals of U. S. policy, leaving room for differences on the details.

Czechs Doubt Truce Reports as Talks Go Into Fourth Day

MOSCOW (AP) - Czechoslovak and Soviet talks went into an afternoon session today on the fourth day of negotiations amid reports they had reached preliminary agreement to end the crisis. But some Czechoslovak sources expressed doubt that anything like a final solution had been agreed upon.

Authoritative party sources in Prague said there was hope of reaching an agreement that would include Soviet recognition of the liberal party leaders in exchange for acceptance of a temporary Soviet occupation.

A Czechoslovak Embassy spokesman said President Ludvig Svoboda and other liberal leaders would return to Prague no matter what the results of the negotiations.

The spokesman said Svoboda would be accompanied home by Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek reported earlier to have been taken prisoner by the Soviet troops who invaded his country.

The spokesman said three more top officials, had arrived from Prague to join the talks as they resumed for the fourth day. The new arrivals were Josef Spacek and Bohuwil Simon, both liberal followers of Dubcek, and Oldrich Svestka, conservative editor of the party newspaper Rude Pravo.

With the arrival of Spacek and Svestka, the Czechoslovak delegation included seven of the 11 members of the party's 11-man presidium. Simon is head of the party's Prague city organization.

The Free Czech Radio announced that the central committee of the Czechoslovak Communist party, which is loyal to Svoboda and Dubcek, has been called into plenary session to discuss the Moscow negotiations and the current situation in Prague.

Another underground broadcast told Czechoslovaks that some compromise must be made to get the Soviet-bloc occupiers off their land but that it "need not be needlessly great."

The commentator said the invasion by the Soviet Union and four other orthodox Communist states added up to a "bungled putsch" by Communist leaders concerned not about the party's future but for their own "personal power."

"The Soviet Union has found itself facing the whole world and the international Communist movement in the extremely unpleasant position of a great power which not only tries to enforce its power objectives by means of force, but which, in addition, had failed to enforce them," the broadcast said.

A Moscow correspondent for Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported that the Soviet leaders had agreed in principle to the withdrawal of the occupation troops.

Job Corps to Study LPN Setup

Two representatives of the St. Louis Job Corps Center will visit the Licensed Practical Nurse program conducted at the Sikeston Public School board of education building Thursday.

Purpose of the visit will be to review the administration and conduct of the program here, Mrs. Clara Eisenbach, director of the LPN program here, said.

The St. Louis Job Corps center administrators are considering setting up a practical nursing program in the St. Louis Center.

The Sikeston LPN program, will be studied as a model. It is the only program in the state that has National Accredation, and is recognized as one of the best programs of its type.

The St. Louis representatives who will study the program here are Mrs. Famila Kennedy, nurse administrator for the practical nurse program, and Mrs. Lucille Grimes, coordinator of vocational education for the St. Louis Job Corps Center.

All Czech Road Signs Now Point to Moscow

PRAGUE (AP) - Road signs all over Czechoslovakia have been removed, painted over or turned around. Now they read "To Moscow."

Such signs have appeared on almost every road leading to the east. To make sure that the Soviet occupiers understand them, the Czechs and Slovaks have written them in the Cyrillic alphabet used in Russia.

On the route through southern Bohemia from West Germany to Prague, other signs read, "Ivan go home," in Russia, Czechoslovak and English.

Passing through the small villages of Bohemia, one sees walls and shop windows covered with anti - Soviet signs, many of them in Russian.

"We don't want your help," said one. "This is our country," said another. There were endless variations on the main theme, "Moscow is that way, please get going."

New signs also warn travelers of Soviet checkpoints or roadblocks.

Entering Prague on one road, travelers encountered such signs as, "Soviet roadblock, 1500 meters ahead" and, "Watch out for Ivan, 500 meters from here."

Another phase of the sign campaign aims at confusing the occupiers and hindering their activities.

In many villages and in Prague, street signs and house numbers have been removed. Signposts have been splashed with buff paint. Others have been pointed in wrong directions.

As a result, the Soviets are finding it hard to get around. Russian truckdrivers losing their way in a town can never get more than a shrug from Czechoslovak pedestrians they ask for directions.

"Even our children have suddenly forgotten all the Russian vocabulary they learned in school," one native said.

In the first two days of the occupation, Soviet tanks were surrounded by youngsters trying to convince the Russians to leave.

This stopped after reports spread of hidden cameras filming the youngsters for Soviet propaganda newsreels showing the "cordial welcome" by the Prague population.

The rule is now to look the other way as soon as a Russian is spotted.

Western travelers, on the other hand, get all the help they need. Bystanders and even police readily guide them through towns and cities. In case of a car breakdown, they get fast service, even on Sunday.

Payment is usually refused, but drivers are normally handed a souvenir, a little card printed in English: "Ivan go home."

Girl Heart Transplant Patient Dies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two male heart transplant patients were reported in good condition today, but a five-year-old girl died Sunday a week after receiving a new heart.

Leonard Drake, 42, a retired postal clerk of Eugene, Ore., ate a good breakfast and sat in a chair Sunday at the Stanford, Calif., Medical Center the third day after receiving his new heart.

He was the center's third heart transplant recipient and the world's 33rd.

Louis B. Russell Jr., 43, an Indianapolis, Ind., school teacher, was reported in satisfactory condition Sunday at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond.

Russell's transplant Saturday was the world's 34th and the second at the Richmond hospital. The previous patient died in May, one week after the transplant.

Maria Giannaris of Hagerstown, Md., died Sunday, a week after receiving a transplant in the Texas Heart Institute at Texas Childrens Hospital, Houston.

Maria was implanted with the heart of an 11-year-old boy who had suffered a brain hemorhage.

The first child-a 2½ week-old boy-to receive a heart transplant died 6½ hours after the operation last December in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Police Report Four Arrests One Breakin

A breakin at Bob's Gulf Service Station, 2007 East Malone, netted burglars about $20 in change, police reported today.

Edward Heacox, 312 Illinois, attendant, told police entrance was gained through a window on the west side of the building. The breakin occurred between 9 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

In other activity, Lloyd Vernon Tippy, 611 Cleveland, and John Thomas Schaffer, Kendall St., were each arrested at 12:03 a.m. Sunday and charged with peace disturbance for fighting.

Nelson A. McNeeley, Dexter, was arrested at 10:08 p.m. Sunday and charged with public intoxication on Felker St.

Roosevelt Smith, 226 North Kingshighway, was charged at 4:30 p.m. Sunday with assault and battery.

Richard Dorris, 179 Presnell Dr., reported to police at 3:28 p.m. Saturday that several small items valued together at $22 were taken from his car Saturday afternoon while it was parked near the Burger Chef on Highway 61.

Undercurrent of Tension Ushers in Convention

CHICAGO (AP) - In Lincoln Park, which is only a few miles north of the hall where the Democrats hope to nominate the next president of the United States, there is a huge triangular field.

On the weekend before the Democratic National Convention, a sunny hot day that used to be described as languid, adolescents were playing baseball in two corners of the field. Along the edges and in the near background, people watched in a desultory way, families picnicked, lovers loved, children ran, old men slept in the shade and sail boats leaned in the wind in the blue, if not unpolluted waters of Lake Michigan. As American as apple pie.

In the third corner of the field, another group of adolescents sat on the grass around a chunky young lady in a bright blue dress who was speaking matter of factly into a hand microphone.

"Ninety per cent of hemorrhaging can be stopped with pressure," she told her audience, some of whom held babies, many of whom wore beards, tattered denim and the other symbols of adolescent disenchantment. The audience was made up of serious young people who expected soon to march on the convention to demonstrate for peace.

A bearded young man stretched out near the lecturer. "Now in artificial respiration," she said, "the thing to do is keep your cool but work fast." And she demonstrated artificial respiration on her bearded model and nobody laughed or gasped or otherwise reflected the implausibility of a first-aid lecture on extensive bleeding, as or shock to a bunch of kids in a sunny city park.

They were preparing for possible violence. In this town at this time, everybody seems to be preparing for violence. From all points of the compass one senses menace creeping into the city on little cat feet.

By the thousands, city police prowl the streets, squind from roof tops, guard the hotels and the convention hall, cluster on corners, wearing blue riot helmets, carrying big billy clubs and big black pistols. By the thousands, billeted nearby, soldiers stand ready with armored vehicles and bayonetted rifles. By the hundreds, agents of the United States Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Criminal Investigation Division and other federal agencies, study the crowds in the hotel lobbies, search the convention hall for explosives, question people without proper credentials, and peek into handbags and packages carried into the hall.

By the dozens in the air over Chicago, the nation's second largest city, where Abe Lincoln was nominated with less display of force on the eve of the Civil War, helicopters circle over the convention hotels and the convention hall, where soon the saints will be marching in and happy days are here again.

And the cab drivers are on strike and the bus drivers are on strike, and the phone installers are on strike, and the traffic jams into impossible gluts and delegates arriving at the airport frantically wave twenty dollar bills at strangers in the hopes of catching a ride into town.

And the peace demonstrators march outside of the hotels with signs asking "Will napalm teach democracy?" and a lone eccentric carried a black bordered picture of a familiar face with the caption: 'Keep the peace with Robert Kennedy," and the red-cheeked girls with a plastic straw hats are much less visible than they were in Miami. And in the hotel rooms, Hubert H. Humphrey, who had once hoped to be the new happy warrior of politics, who now keeps one ear cocked for some encouraging word from the ranch, works unhappily trying to hold on to his convention strength. He has the delegates but not the voters, say the polls.

And in other hotel rooms, Eugene J. McCarthy, who is said to have the voters but not the delegates, sharpens his lance for the last big windmill while his young evangelical workers, the ones who followed him the whole lonesome way from Hampshire, wait almost prayerfully for victory in what they have called the Establishment's last chance. And in still other hotel rooms, the young-old men who followed John F. Kennedy all the way to Dallas and then Robert F. Kennedy all the way to Los Angeles, now discuss, argue, plan and hope to find a live hero.

And on billboards all over town, Mayor Richard J. Daley welcomes the delegates to his city, with a hand gaily waving a straw hat, as if this convention were being held in a happier century with torch light parades and weenie roasts. And along the convention route, the Mayor's red fences hide ugly, empty lots and his fresh flowers decorate the expressway exits and visitors would never know they were within a few miles of buildings gutted last April by race riots.

This is not a happy convention.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:
KEEP IT A HAPPY DAY

Labor Day is just around the corner. The symbolism of the day has been lost to many in the enjoyment of the good life. Never in history has such a high level of well-being been the lot of so many people. For most of us, the struggle and deprivation of the centuries have faded into the limbo of history and are no longer comprehensible.

Since this is the case, it may be the better part of wisdom to consider some of the practical aspects of Labor Day as it is now observed. Coming as it does at the end of summer, it is an invitation to one last fling. This means countless millions of us will take to the highways and byways, to mountains, lakes and the sea. An army of attendants, maintenance crews, firemen, police, first-aid and rescue personnel will be on hand to minimize the casualties. Their task is formidable at best, and unless holiday throngs co-operate, it becomes a hopeless rearguard action.

So this Labor Day, drive carefully, put our your campfire, handle firearms with care and use common sense precautions around "the old swimming hole." Above all, remember there will be other holidays and other trips. Don't leave the countryside a no man's land of litter. There are millions of litter receptacles around the country. They are there to help preserve the beauty of the land -- so let's use them.

SLOW MOTION GOVERNMENT

More than nine years after it first began considering the weighty matter, three years after it began public hearings and 7,800 pages of testimony later, the Federal Drug Administration has finally decreed:

A one-pound jar of peanut butter must contain at least 90 per cent peanuts and no more than 10 per cent other stuff, like emulsifiers and stabilizers.

If that doesn't stick to the roof of your mouth, try another example of your federal men in inaction:

In 1965, a Florida trucking company applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to establish a route between Jacksonville and Miami.

After 38 months of legal negotiations, 13 months of Commission hearings, testimony from 297 witnesses, 545 exhibits and the piling up of a transcript of 16,000 pages, the ICC has granted approval.

As Jefferson might have said: That government governs least that governs most.

RATIONAL MORRIS POLICY AT SIU

The stern disciplinary policy adopted by President Delyte Morris of Southern Illinois University, regarding student - faculty demonstrations that interfere with operation of the institution, is reasonable and essential.

Revolt on the campus, usually by a thin minority, is intolerable when it hampers or frustrates the rights of other students to freedom of action or inquiry or speech.

Crackdown on students and professors, who rebel at authority of a university to protect academic and personal freedoms on the campus, is necessary and should be upheld.

If President Morris acted to suspend 11 pupils at SIU, following an effort to seal off a section of a university building where an Army recruiter was conferring with students May 9 — without giving them a hearing — he acted too hastily.

They are entitled to be heard by the administration. But the administration is entitled, is obligated to deal with obstreperous demonstrators effectively. It must maintain order and rights of all students.

Chancellor Robert V. MacVicar of the Carbondale campus apparently plans to reopen the cases of the 11 suspended students. If this is simply to give them a hearing, there should be no objection to review.

If it is because of the powerful pressure of the American Association of University Professors, who may seek to break the back of University authority, such a review is insupportable and wrong.

Attempts by violence and mass demonstrations to obstruct activities of a university and override prerogatives of administration have no justification under the cloak of academic freedom or any other guise.

There is no room for anarchy on the campus, and the courage of officials to halt it by suspension or expulsion deserves commendation of all earnest students, intelligent professors and the general public.

Ernest Harper passed along one about an efficiency expert, surveying activity in a business organization, who asked an employe:

"What do you do?"

"Nothing," said the fellow.

The expert went on to the next man in line, asked the same question, and got the same answer.

"Ah," he chortled. "Duplication!"

The wisdom of President Lyndon B. Johnson's decision not to again seek the presidency from the standpoint of the nation's welfare has become increasingly apparent.

As the national Democratic convention approaches there is a rising clamor for a backaway from the Vietnam war.

There are a few vocal hawks but many more doves of varying degrees of persuasion about the extent of retreat from the conflict.

This is unhappily the nature of politics. Promise never runs higher than in a presidential election year.

If Johnson were the Democratic nominee he'd be in under unmerciful pressure to alter his views on Vietnam in order to survive politically.

All of this pressure would be applied in full view of the negotiators at the Paris peace talks. It not only would be uncomfortable, it would be unreasonable and unfair to both the nation's chief executive and the people he represents.

President Johnson deserves better treatment than this. So do the American people.

So his decision not to run never appeared to be wiser or more statesmanship like than it does now.

The President has been free to pursue a hard line on Vietnam, which is in the national interest.

He has minced no words in telling the Viet Cong and the American people, doves among them, that he will not halt bombing in the conflict as long as the North Vietnamese accept no restraint in making war on American troops.

President Johnson is not selling out to the enemy. No one in their right mind should expect him to.

But he would be placed in an almost impossible position if he were a candidate for re-election in accepting the pressures of waging another campaign while our troops still are engaged in bitter fighting in Vietnam.

With the President on the sidelines this country's bargaining position with the Communists is vastly improved.

There will be no retreat.

SAFETY

Our eyes play gricks on us even under the best of conditions and any means we can take to make the vehicles we drive more obvious to other drivers increases the margin of safety. With the approach of winter and shorter day light hours, this problem becomes even more acute.

The idea of running lights or daytime headlights was shown to be an important safety factor in research carried on at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. For instance, data gathered from 46 companies whose commercial vehicles were using running lights, showed a 38.7 per cent reduction in accidents. The U. S. Post Office at Indianapolis, saw a reduction from 36 to 25 accidents in the first year that running lights were put into use. A Kokomo, Ind., cab company with approximately three million miles a year driving record, saw a decrease from 8 to 2 accidents in the first year of using running lights on their cabs during daylight hours.

Hundred of miles were driven by an experimental auto with and without running lights on various kinds of roads and in traffic varying from moderate to heavy. Movies were taking of on-coming vehicles. These movies show that roughly one car in three passes much too close for comfort. Many wery within 30 inches of the center line, allowing little margin of safety if either car weaves slightly or has to make a sudden, emergency swerving stop.

H.L. Hunt Says

WE CAN "TURN BACK THE CLOCK"

When a freedomist points out bad effects of government programs or regulations, he is often told: "You can't turn back the clock." But a clock that is wrong should be set right.

Many statist programs are useless or even harmful. Foreign aid and urban renewal are two examples. Yet if someone urges that these programs be terminated so that personal enterprise can deal with the problems of "underdeveloped" nations or cities in our own country, he is told that he "can't turn back the clock."

The "clock" argument is also used against those who call for an end to government regulation in a specific area. An example here is the transportation industry. Government regulation of the railroads caused them serious financial difficulties. Instead of removing regulations, new ones were added. When the railroads met competition from buses and airlines, these industries were also regulated, instead of allowing free competition among all forms of transportation.

We can learn a great deal from the accomplishments of earlier periods in history. During the 19th century personal enterprise and the free market economy brought increases in the standard of living to nearly everyone in this country. People who would not even have been alive were it not for the Industrial Revolution were enjoying material prosperity undreamed of in an earlier day. Bureaucratic programs have never come close to equalling the advances made by producers and traders working in freedom.

For the sake of freedom and real progress in the United States, we must begin now to turn back the clock toward all that made our country great. HLH

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Many forget Humphrey's courage as early civil rights battler; he pioneered federal aid to education; was first to tackle US-USSR arms reduction

CHICAGO -- When Hubert Humphrey, a very young senator who looked younger than he was, made his first senate speech in 1949, Sen. William Jenner, R-Ind., took a look at his rotund face and whispered to a colleague, "he reminds me of some tomatoes I planted too early one spring and the frost got them."

Hubert Humphrey still has his rotund face which the cartoonists love and the critics deride, especially when seen on television. But the Republican senator who compared him to a frostbitten tomato has now retired to the Indiana sidelines after calling both Eisenhower and Gen. George Marshall spokesmen of International Communism; while Humphrey is running for President.

Looking over past columns written about Humphrey it's easy to understand how he got to his present high position. But it's also easy to understand why the youthful followers of Gene McCarthy have no conception of Humphrey's record. He showed courage on issues that were not popular before many of them were born.

It was 20 years ago this summer that Humphrey, then mayor of Minneapolis, rammed the first civil rights plank through the Democratic convention. The real story of that fight has been forgotten, but the inside fact is that President Harry Truman didn't like the plank. A courageous President himself, it was too courageous for him.

--A LONELY BATTLER--

Humphrey had the support only of Esther Murray of California and Andrew Biemiller, then a congressman from Milwaukee, now an official of the AFL-CIO. They first took their plank to Ed Flynn, famous boss of the Bronx. He read it carefully, then observed:

"I don't think you'll get anywhere with it, but the New York delegation will support you.'

"What will Francis Myers think of it?" The mayor of Minneapolis asked, referring to the Senator from Pennsylvania, who was convention chairman.

"He won't like it," advised boss Flynn, "but Pennsylvania will support you."

The Democratic resolutions committee adopted a watered-down 1948 stand on civil rights which the south would accept. But Humphrey, Biemiller and Esther Murray took their battle to the floor with a strong resolution to stop lynching, abolish the poll tax and segregation, and established fair employment practices.

"We are 172 years late in acting," Humphrey told the convention.

There was a fiery debate.

"You shall not crucify the south on this cross of civil rights!" cried Charles J. Bloch of Georgia.

But when the vote was taken, Ed Flynn and friends stood by his promise. By a vote of 651½ to 582½ Humphrey won. All the Mississippi delegation and half the Alabama delegation walked out. That November most of the south voted for Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Irony is that McCarthy's young followers are now excoriating Humphrey because southern delegates are supporting him in chicago.

-A CONTINUING BATTLE --

Humphrey, elected to the senate in 1948 from Minnesota, a state with a negligible Negro vote, continued to battle for Negro rights. His name is on every civil rights bill passed by congress since reconstruction days, right up until he left the senate to become Vice President. He did not get stale in office.

He was also a pioneer on other legislation now taken as a matter of course. Our back columns show that in May 1949 the young senator from Minnesota introduced a bill for Federal aid to Education. Twenty years ago this was revolutionary. It was not passed until Lyndon Johnson became President and applied his legislative skill to pushing it through congress.

Like Kelroy, however, Humphrey was there first. And he stayed there, pitching continuously.

He also got there early to establish the Food for Peace Program and the law which permits surplus farm products to be sold around the world. He introduced the bill in June 1953 when Russian tanks were rumbling through East Berlin, as they are in Prague today. But he had to watch the Eisenhower administration ditch his bill and substitute one exactly like it under the name of Rep. Walter Judd, also from Minnesota, but a Republican.

It was Humphrey who first urged a study of Russian-American cooperation with a view to arms reduction. He proposed it in 1953. John F. Kennedy in 1963 made it the official policy of the United States. Humphrey, meanwhile, had become head of the senate's subcommittee on disarmament, and trained a running fire on a sometimes lethargic state department to make sure it acted.

As early as 1950, Humphrey started badgering the treasury department about closing tax loopholes. Consistently he voted against the oil depletion allowance. The congressional record is littered with his speeches on this subject. This campaign has not met with as much success as his others; bit he has tried.

There are scores of other interesting incidents in the long career of Hubert Humphrey. One interesting item was how he took his first trip to Europe in December 1949 after his first session in the senate, going not on a tax-paid junket as so many members of congress have, but on a slow boat with his wife, benefit of a $500 bond given him by his father-in-law.

COMINTERN OVER CHICAGO:

Soviet Invasion Vindicates Meany's 'Hawkish' Position: Strengthens His Pro-HHH Influence at Convention.

Chicago: —When I crossed Wencelas Square to get to Radio Prague on the morning of Thursday, Sept. 8, 1966, the pockmarked facade of its huge stone headquarters still bore proudly the scars of the Nazi bullets which cut down rebellious Czech citizens.

Then, I was one signal of freedoms to come. For 38 minutes, my host permitted me to broadcast, uncensored, on freedom and the meaning of turbulence in America. Before we went on "mike," my interviewer laughed, saying I had come between "My Fair Lady," then playing in Prague, and "Hello, Dolly!" soon to hit the boards.

Then, Prague was beginning to chuckle, even to laugh aloud. Now, two years later, Radio Prague's building has been gutted by Soviet cannon.

There is no laughter. Just tears and the final broadcast notes that freedom had died amid the sputtering and stuttering of Soviet bullets.

To my friends, who may be dead, as chairman of the Freedom of the Press Committee of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, and as former president of the Oversees Press Club, I and my colleagues salute you.

And we pray that the signal for freedom will be sounded again for you soon.

Chicago: — The yammering of red machine guns and the sonic booms of Soviet MIGs reecho in this convention city. Ironically, the Soviet invasion has made a powerful figure here of AFL-CIO President George Meany, the one American the Soviet Party's Central Committee hates most.

As the leader of 14 million trade unionists, this stocky, laconic, craglike man has been the most consistent, inflexible backer of President Johnson's policies.

It was George Meany who virtually shoved Hubert Humphrey into the presidential race just hours after Lyndon Johnson "threw in his hand." Mr. Meany's forces have provided Hubert Humphrey with cheering, howling, applauding audiences to offset the masses of angry young protesters.

For being a one-man squadron of hawks, for refusing to deal with the Soviets, for reiterating that the Communists never change, for refusing to join in all cultural and labor exchanges with the Iron Curtain bloc, for vetoing international labor cooperation with USSR's so-called "All-Union Central Council of Trade Unions," Mr. Meany and his courageous foreign policy aide, Jay Lovestone, have been lashed and mocked by Walter Reuther.

All this has been prelude to a behind-the-scenes battle which would have exploded immediately after the national convention adjourned here. The fight pivoted on the recommendation by Llewellyn Thompson, American Ambassador to Moscow, that the U.S. appoint a labor attache to the USSR, thereby, according to the AFL-CIO, automatically acknowledging the "legitimacy" of the red labor movement claiming 80 million members.

Such an appointment would have closed a gap in America's cultural relations with the Soviet Union. The U.S. and the USSR have exchanged practically every conceivable type of delegation except labor groups.

Mr. Meany has prevented such labor exchanges. He charges there is no Russian labor movement. He points out that its "president" is General Alexander Shelepin, former Soviet Secret Police chief and past member of the State and Party's Control Commissions (which spy on the Soviet leaders themselves).

And Mr. Meany was ready to do battle with Mr. Johnson and Mr. Humphrey if they approved the naming of a labor attache to Moscow.

The AFL-CIO chief would have opened his fight smack at the beginning of the campaign, on Sept. 16, when the AFL-CIO Executive Council meets in New York.

Had the Soviet air and ground forces not invaded freedom-seeking Czechoslovakia, Mr. Meany's struggle might have been hopeless. The Administration's "Bridges to the East" are already in place.

Walter Reuther, still searingly attacking the AFL-CIO chief, was planning a trip to Moscow for conversations with Gen. Shelepin and perhaps Messrs. Kosygin and Brezhnev.

Walter's brother Victor already has conferred with Gen. Shelepin. Victor was there last June. Other United Auto Workers delegations had gone to Budapest and Bucharest while Victor visited the Czechs before flying to Russia.

When Victor returned he reported he had invited Gen. Shelepin to the next auto union convention. He told a U.S. Dept. of Labor executives luncheon that he had advised Gen. Shelepin not to invade Czechoslovakia.

Victor added that he was convinced it would all be solved peacefully. He repeated this at a second conference, this time with the foreign labor attaches in Washington, D.C. Messrs. Meany and Lovestone were assailed by the Reutherites for not "recognizing" that intern tional Communism had changed and that things were different in Moscow now.

So strong was this bridge-building sentiment in the UAW leadership that its national board, meeting last week, would not vote endorsement of Hubert Humphrey because of his Vietnam policy. The Vice President has been talking with Walter Reuther seeking such a public statement in his behalf before the nominating convention. But Mr. Reuther could not deliver a united board.

However, George Mean, not only has backed "Hubert" publicly, not only has organized for a floor fight for Mr. Humphrey, but he has also been pressuring state delegations to vote for "HHH" on the first ballot.

Constantly much of the argument against the Meany forces has been based on their inflexible fight against international Communism. Now that the invasion has vindicated Mr. Meany, he is stronger than ever.

If Mr. Humphrey wins the presidency there is no doubt that the "hot line" between the White House and the House of Labor will not be slashed.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:
KEEP IT A HAPPY DAY

Labor Day is just around the corner. The symbolism of the day has been lost to many in the enjoyment of the good life. Never in history has such a high level of well-being been the lot of so many people. For most of us, the struggle and deprivation of the centuries have faded into the limbo of history and are no longer comprehensible.

Since this is the case, it may be the better part of wisdom to consider some of the practical aspects of Labor Day as it is now observed. Coming as it does at the end of summer, it is an invitation to one last fling. This means countless millions of us will take to the highways and byways, to mountains, lakes and the sea. An army of attendants, maintenance crews, firemen, police, first-aid and rescue personnel will be on hand to minimize the casualties. Their task is formidable at best, and unless holiday throngs co-operate, it becomes a hopeless rearguard action.

So this Labor Day, drive carefully, put our your campfire, handle firearms with care and use common sense precautions around "the old swimming hole." Above all, remember there will be other holidays and other trips. Don't leave the countryside a no man's land of litter. There are millions of litter receptacles around the country. They are there to help preserve the beauty of the land -- so let's use them.

SLOW MOTION GOVERNMENT

More than nine years after it first began considering the weighty matter, three years after it began public hearings and 7,800 pages of testimony later, the Federal Drug Administration has finally decreed:

A one-pound jar of peanut butter must contain at least 90 per cent peanuts and no more than 10 per cent other stuff, like emulsifiers and stabilizers.

If that doesn't stick to the roof of your mouth, try another example of your federal men in inaction:

In 1965, a Florida trucking company applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to establish a route between Jacksonville and Miami.

After 38 months of legal negotiations, 13 months of Commission hearings, testimony from 297 witnesses, 545 exhibits and the piling up of a transcript of 16,000 pages, the ICC has granted approval.

As Jefferson might have said: That government governs least that governs most.

RATIONAL MORRIS POLICY AT SIU

The stern disciplinary policy adopted by President Delyte Morris of Southern Illinois University, regarding student - faculty demonstrations that interfere with operation of the institution, is reasonable and essential.

Revolt on the campus, usually by a thin minority, is intolerable when it hampers or frustrates the rights of other students to freedom of action or inquiry or speech.

Crackdown on students and professors, who rebel at authority of a university to protect academic and personal freedoms on the campus, is necessary and should be upheld.

If President Morris acted to suspend 11 pupils at SIU, following an effort to seal off a section of a university building where an Army recruiter was conferring with students May 9 — without giving them a hearing — he acted too hastily.

They are entitled to be heard by the administration. But the administration is entitled, is obligated to deal with obstreperous demonstrators effectively. It must maintain order and rights of all students.

Chancellor Robert V. MacVicar of the Carbondale campus apparently plans to reopen the cases of the 11 suspended students. If this is simply to give them a hearing, there should be no objection to review.

If it is because of the powerful pressure of the American Association of University Professors, who may seek to break the back of University authority, such a review is insupportable and wrong.

Attempts by violence and mass demonstrations to obstruct activities of a university and override prerogatives of administration have no justification under the cloak of academic freedom or any other guise.

There is no room for anarchy on the campus, and the courage of officials to halt it by suspension or expulsion deserves commendation of all earnest students, intelligent professors and the general public.

Ernest Harper passed along one about an efficiency expert, surveying activity in a business organization, who asked an employe:

"What do you do?"

"Nothing," said the fellow.

The expert went on to the next man in line, asked the same question, and got the same answer.

"Ah," he chortled. "Duplication!"

The wisdom of President Lyndon B. Johnson's decision not to again seek the presidency from the standpoint of the nation's welfare has become increasingly apparent.

As the national Democratic convention approaches there is a rising clamor for a backaway from the Vietnam war.

There are a few vocal hawks but many more doves of varying degrees of persuasion about the extent of retreat from the conflict.

This is unhappily the nature of politics. Promise never runs higher than in a presidential election year.

If Johnson were the Democratic nominee he'd be in under unmerciful pressure to alter his views on Vietnam in order to survive politically.

All of this pressure would be applied in full view of the negotiators at the Paris peace talks. It not only would be uncomfortable, it would be unreasonable and unfair to both the nation's chief executive and the people he represents.

President Johnson deserves better treatment than this. So do the American people.

So his decision not to run never appeared to be wiser or more statesmanship like than it does now.

The President has been free to pursue a hard line on Vietnam, which is in the national interest.

He has minced no words in telling the Viet Cong and the American people, doves among them, that he will not halt bombing in the conflict as long as the North Vietnamese accept no restraint in making war on American troops.

President Johnson is not selling out to the enemy. No one in their right mind should expect him to.

But he would be placed in an almost impossible position if he were a candidate for re-election in accepting the pressures of waging another campaign while our troops still are engaged in bitter fighting in Vietnam.

With the President on the sidelines this country's bargaining position with the Communists is vastly improved.

There will be no retreat.

SAFETY

Our eyes play gricks on us even under the best of conditions and any means we can take to make the vehicles we drive more obvious to other drivers increases the margin of safety. With the approach of winter and shorter day light hours, this problem becomes even more acute.

The idea of running lights or daytime headlights was shown to be an important safety factor in research carried on at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. For instance, data gathered from 46 companies whose commercial vehicles were using running lights, showed a 38.7 per cent reduction in accidents. The U. S. Post Office at Indianapolis, saw a reduction from 36 to 25 accidents in the first year that running lights were put into use. A Kokomo, Ind., cab company with approximately three million miles a year driving record, saw a decrease from 8 to 2 accidents in the first year of using running lights on their cabs during daylight hours.

Hundred of miles were driven by an experimental auto with and without running lights on various kinds of roads and in traffic varying from moderate to heavy. Movies were taking of on-coming vehicles. These movies show that roughly one car in three passes much too close for comfort. Many wery within 30 inches of the center line, allowing little margin of safety if either car weaves slightly or has to make a sudden, emergency swerving stop.

H.L. Hunt Says

WE CAN "TURN BACK THE CLOCK"

When a freedomist points out bad effects of government programs or regulations, he is often told: "You can't turn back the clock." But a clock that is wrong should be set right.

Many statist programs are useless or even harmful. Foreign aid and urban renewal are two examples. Yet if someone urges that these programs be terminated so that personal enterprise can deal with the problems of "underdeveloped" nations or cities in our own country, he is told that he "can't turn back the clock."

The "clock" argument is also used against those who call for an end to government regulation in a specific area. An example here is the transportation industry. Government regulation of the railroads caused them serious financial difficulties. Instead of removing regulations, new ones were added. When the railroads met competition from buses and airlines, these industries were also regulated, instead of allowing free competition among all forms of transportation.

We can learn a great deal from the accomplishments of earlier periods in history. During the 19th century personal enterprise and the free market economy brought increases in the standard of living to nearly everyone in this country. People who would not even have been alive were it not for the Industrial Revolution were enjoying material prosperity undreamed of in an earlier day. Bureaucratic programs have never come close to equalling the advances made by producers and traders working in freedom.

For the sake of freedom and real progress in the United States, we must begin now to turn back the clock toward all that made our country great. HLH

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Many forget Humphrey's courage as early civil rights battler; he pioneered federal aid to education; was first to tackle US-USSR arms reduction

CHICAGO -- When Hubert Humphrey, a very young senator who looked younger than he was, made his first senate speech in 1949, Sen. William Jenner, R-Ind., took a look at his rotund face and whispered to a colleague, "he reminds me of some tomatoes I planted too early one spring and the frost got them."

Hubert Humphrey still has his rotund face which the cartoonists love and the critics deride, especially when seen on television. But the Republican senator who compared him to a frostbitten tomato has now retired to the Indiana sidelines after calling both Eisenhower and Gen. George Marshall spokesmen of International Communism; while Humphrey is running for President.

Looking over past columns written about Humphrey it's easy to understand how he got to his present high position. But it's also easy to understand why the youthful followers of Gene McCarthy have no conception of Humphrey's record. He showed courage on issues that were not popular before many of them were born.

It was 20 years ago this summer that Humphrey, then mayor of Minneapolis, rammed the first civil rights plank through the Democratic convention. The real story of that fight has been forgotten, but the inside fact is that President Harry Truman didn't like the plank. A courageous President himself, it was too courageous for him.

--A LONELY BATTLER--

Humphrey had the support only of Esther Murray of California and Andrew Biemiller, then a congressman from Milwaukee, now an official of the AFL-CIO. They first took their plank to Ed Flynn, famous boss of the Bronx. He read it carefully, then observed:

"I don't think you'll get anywhere with it, but the New York delegation will support you.'

"What will Francis Myers think of it?" The mayor of Minneapolis asked, referring to the Senator from Pennsylvania, who was convention chairman.

"He won't like it," advised boss Flynn, "but Pennsylvania will support you."

The Democratic resolutions committee adopted a watered-down 1948 stand on civil rights which the south would accept. But Humphrey, Biemiller and Esther Murray took their battle to the floor with a strong resolution to stop lynching, abolish the poll tax and segregation, and established fair employment practices.

"We are 172 years late in acting," Humphrey told the convention.

There was a fiery debate.

"You shall not crucify the south on this cross of civil rights!" cried Charles J. Bloch of Georgia.

But when the vote was taken, Ed Flynn and friends stood by his promise. By a vote of 651 ½ to 582 ½ Humphrey won. All the Mississippi delegation and half the Alabama delegation walked out. That November most of the south voted for Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Irony is that McCarthy's young followers are now excoriating Humphrey because southern delegates are supporting him in chicago.

-A CONTINUING BATTLE -

Humphrey, elected to the senate in 1948 from Minnesota, a state with a negligible Negro vote, continued to battle for Negro rights. His name is on every civil rights bill passed by congress since reconstruction days, right up until he left the senate to become Vice President. He did not get stale in office.

He was also a pioneer on other legislation now taken as a matter of course. Our back columns show that in May 1949 the young senator from Minnesota introduced a bill for Federal aid to Education. Twenty years ago this was revolutionary. It was not passed until Lyndon Johnson became President and applied his legislative skill to pushing it through congress.

Like Kelroy, however, Humphrey was there first. And he stayed there, pitching continuously.

He also got there early to establish the Food for Peace Program and the law which permits surplus farm products to be sold around the world. He introduced the bill in June 1953 when Russian tanks were rumbling through East Berlin, as they are in Prague today. But he had to watch the Eisenhower administration ditch his bill and substitute one exactly like it under the name of Rep. Walter Judd, also from Minnesota, but a Republican.

It was Humphrey who first urged a study of Russian-American cooperation with a view to arms reduction. He proposed it in 1953. John F. Kennedy in 1963 made it the official policy of the United States. Humphrey, meanwhile, had become head of the senate's subcommittee on disarmament, and trained a running fire on a sometimes lethargic state department to make sure it acted.

As early as 1950, Humphrey started badgering the treasury department about closing tax loopholes. Consistently he voted against the oil depletion allowance. The congressional record is littered with his speeches on this subject. This campaign has not met with as much success as his others; bit he has tried.

There are scores of other interesting incidents in the long career of Hubert Humphrey. One interesting item was how he took his first trip to Europe in December 1949 after his first session in the senate, going not on a tax-paid junket as so many members of congress have, but on a slow boat with his wife, benefit of a $500 bond given him by his father-in-law.

Mrs. Steven Howell

Cheri Lea Pasaka Pledges Vows with Steven Howell

Cheri Lea Pasaka and Steven Howell were married at 7 p.m. Aug. 17 at the Concordia Lutheran church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Pasaka, 12 Bel Air Dr. Howell's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Snyder Howell of Johnston City, Ill.

Organists were Mrs. Judy Burke and Mrs. Julian Streeter. Mrs. Streeter and Mrs. Charles Mitchell were soloists.

The Rev. Alvin Lang officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Twenty candles in curved candelabra, palms and arrangements of American beauty roses appointed the altar. Windows were decorated with candles and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of imported silk organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a renaissance neckline and sheer long sleeves that come to points over the hands. Lace motifs underlaid with organdy accented the front bodice and the sleeves.

The A-line skirt was semi-controlled with soft gathers at the back. Lace motifs were used at the skirt front and again at the back of the gown. Covered buttons and silk loops were used at the back closure.

The queen's train was fashioned of silk organza and lace. The back was secured by a tailored silk bow.

She wore a three tiered caplet of lace outlined with crystal drops and seed pearls. Cut crystal drops hung from the edge of the leaves. Seed pearls created a stamen in the center. Attached was a two tiered veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. Pam Waltrip of Cape Girardeau was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Claire Street of Sikeston and Miss Susan Sieckman of St. Louis, Junior bridesmaid was Miss Sally Edwards of Cape Girardeau.

Miss Terry Mitchell and Miss Maureen Klein were candlelighters.

The attendants wore gowns of brandy colored saki cloth. The fitted bodices were empire styled and featured scooped necklines. The sleeves were three quarter-length with heavy lace on the edges. The lace was ecru colored. The skirts were slightly gathered at the waist and floor-length. Petite bows were used at the waistlines. The back featured self-fabric bows which held watteau trains.

Their headpieces were crocheted bows securing shoulder tip veils dyed to match the gowns.

Best man was Terry Baker of Gideon. Groomsmen were Kenneth Michael Warning of Willow Springs, John Pasaka of Sikeston and Lonnie Lee Blackwood of Cape Girardeau. Walter Neal Giles of Wickliffe, Ky., was usher.

Mrs. Pasaka wore a pink and silver brocade dress, pink and silver net hat and a corsage of roses. The groom's mother wore a beige silk dress and a corsage of gardenias.

A reception at the Country Club followed.

A four tiered cake centered the bride's table. Candelabra entwined with flowers and ivy appointed the table. Serving were Terry Waters, Cyndi Waters, Terry Mitchell and Linda Smith.

The couple is at home in a newly purchased mobil home at Carterville, Ill. The new Mrs. Howell holds a bachelor of arts degree in English and is a graduate student and teacher at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Her husband is a biology instructor at Ziegler high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Synder Howell entertained Aug. 15 at a rehearsal dinner. The tables were decorated with American beauty roses and white pompons.

Mrs. Lea W. Edwards entertained Aug. 15 at a bridesmaids luncheon.

Mrs. Jean Klein and Mrs. Charles Mitchell entertained Aug. 9 at a wedding shower at Mrs. Mitchell's home.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tinney, Mr. and

Zimmerlees To Lead Services

Revival services will be held at the Eastside Church of the Nazarene, corner of Betty Street and Ralph Avenue, beginning tonight at 7:30 p.m. Services will continue through Sunday night. The Sunday evening service will begin at 7 p.m. Leading the revival are the Rev. and Mrs. Don Zimmerlee, St. Louis.

In 1960 the Rev. Mr. Zimmerlee and Mrs. Zimmerlee entered full time into the work of evangelism; they had served as pastors for 22 years in churches in Missouri, Ohio, Illinois and Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerlee are a versatile team. A preacher of musical ability is Zimmerlee, who received his religious training in Olivet Nazarene College, Kankakee, Ill.; McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., and Glasgow University, Scotland.

The Zimmerlees have been in constant demand for revival engagements, conventions and camp meetings throughout the country.

Mrs. Zimmerlee accompanies her husband and takes an active part in the musical program of the meetings. She plays the organ, piano, marimba, Swiss bells, and accordion.

For four years the Zimmerlees sang and played on a religious radio program in St. Louis, and over the BBC network in Scotland.

They are experienced children's workers and frequently hold children's revival and vacation Bible schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob R. Simmons

Mary Lee Howlett Says Vows With Bob R. Simmons Aug. 18

EAST PRAIRIE - Miss Mary Lee Howlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Howlett, Florissant, became the bride of Bob R. Simmons, St. Louis, August 18.

The marriage took place in the home of her great uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Walden, East Prairie. This home was built by the bride's great-grandparents, the late Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Martin, and her grandmother, Mrs. Earline Watson, was married here in June, 1918, to the late Roy M. Howelett, grandfather of the bride.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harles Simmons of Branson.

The bride was met at the foot of the stairway by her father who escorted her to the fireplace in the living room, where he gave her in marriage. She was preceded by her matron of honor, Mrs. Sam Barker. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Don Woodstock, minister of the First Christian church, in the presence of the immediate family and close friends. A mantle arrangement of white daisies, yellow tea roses, and satin covered bells decorated the fireplace which served as the altar. The home was decorated throughout with yellow and white daisies, and yellow tea roses.

Miss Mary Carlotta Jones as pianist.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white cotton lovelace over satin with long, bell sleeves and a simple jewel neckline. The sleeves and neck were trimmed in bands of white satin. Her only jewelry was a heart-shaped diamond pendant, a gift from the groom. Her shoulder-length veil of English imported illusion was attached to a crown of white satin petals, centered with a small spray of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and yellow tea roses.

Attendants to the couple were James Kanester of Branson and Mrs. Sam Barker of East Prairie, Mrs. Barker was attired in a street-length dress of yellow silk shantung. It was styled along princess lines with a high belted back secured by self-covered buttons. Her nosetip veil fell from a small yellow bow, and she carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, with yellow velvet streamers.

Following the ceremony, guests were entertained at a reception in the home. The focal point of the lace covered serving table was a double tiered wedding cake topped with a small bouquet of daisies and encircled with daisies and greenery. The bride's sister, Miss Janice Kay Howlett, and Miss Sammie Lea Jones were servers and the guest book was attended by Miss Mary Carlotta Jones.

Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Harles Simmons and James Kanester, Branson, Miss Pearl Abner, Advance, Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Howlett and daughter, Janice, Florissant, Mrs. Josephine Doucette, Melrose, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Burch, Jonesboro, Ark., and their son, James Burch, St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Skaggs and daughters, Cydney and Whitney, of Fredericktown, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Givens, Ft. Sill, Okla.

The young couple will honeymoon in Florida and Nassau, after which they will be at home in St. Louis, Missouri where Mr. Simmons is employed by Peat, Marwick and Mitchell Auditing Firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Harles Simmons, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party and members of the family Aug. 17. The dinner was held at Two Tony's Restaurant in Sikeston. Places were laid for 15 persons. The table was decorated with an arrangement of white daisies and yellow tea roses, centered with three burning white tapers. Miss Howlett and Simmons exchanged wedding gifts, and presented their attendants with gifts.

The former Miss Howlett was honored at a pre-nuptial shower on Aug. 10 given by Mrs. Sam Barker in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones. The bride received gifts. Her color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations, and the sister of the bride, Janice Howlett, served punch and petit fours.

Pirates Overdo Error, Lose to St. Louis 4-2

It might be human to err, but it doesn't pay to overdo it when you're playing the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pittsburgh pitching limited National League-leading St. Louis to just four hits Sunday, but the Pirates committed four errors and the Cardinals used them for a 4-2 victory.

The Pirates pounded out eight hits, but the St. Louis defense was flawless in support of Nelson Briles, 17-8, and Joe Hoerner, who relieved and put down a Pittsburgh threat in the eighth inning.

The win kept the Cardinals 13 games ahead of second place San Francisco and reduced Harry Carey's magic number to 20, that being wins by the Cardinals or losses by the second place team before the Cards clinch the pennant.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs blanked Houston 2-0, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 5-4, Philadelphia topped Atlanta 4-1 and the New York Mets pounded Cincinnati 7-1.

The New York Yankees swept Detroit 6-5 and 5-4, Washington outlasted Cleveland 10-9, the Chicago White Sox trounced Minnesota 10-2, California downed Oakland 5-1 and Baltimore nipped Boston 3-2 in 18 innings in the American League.

The Cardinals scored in the second inning. Orlando Cepeda walked, stole second, moved to third on a groundout and scored when shortstop Fred Patek fielded Mike Shannon's grounder and made a poor throw to first.

St. Louis added a run in the fourth when Shannon reached on third baseman Maury Wills' throwing error and scored when Julian Javier's single got past right fielder Gary Kolb for an error.

The clinching run came in the ninth when Lou Brock scored from second as first baseman Donn Clendenon missed a throw from pitcher Dock Ellis, who had fielded Bob Tolan's grounder.

Shannon's single and Javier's double produced the final St. Louis run in the sixth.

Matty Alou single in a run after Hoerner replaced Briles with the bases loaded and one out in the eighth. Hoerner then struck out the next two men to end the threat. Manny Mota hit a pinch homer for the Pirates in the ninth.

Ferguson Jenkins pitched a four-hitter and drove in a run with a groundout as Chicago snapped Houston's six-game winning streak and handed Larry Dierker his first loss since June 20. Dierker, who had won six in a row, now is 12-11.

Jenkins, 15-12 drove in the Cubs's first run in the second inning. Glenn Beckert's single, Billy Williams' double and Willie Smith's sacrifice fly produced the other run.

Los Angeles beat San Francisco's Jaun Marichal, 23-6, on Paul Popovich's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning.

The winning rally, which snapped the Dodgers' losing streak at eight games, started when Tom Haller singled and went to third as Marichal threw low in second on Ron Fairly's bunt. After an intentional walk and a force play at the plate, Popovich delivered his sacrifice fly.

San Francisco had tied it with two runs in the seventh. Ron Hunt singled home the first one and Willie Mays' infield out brought in the other.

Larry Jackson, 12-15, scattered five hits and Johnny Callifson, back in the line-up after an eight-day absence because of a pulled hamstring, homered and singled in a run in Philadelphia's triumph. Hank Aaron hit his 24th homer for Atlanta.

Tom Seaver threw a five-hitter and smacked a two-run double in leading the Mets over Cincinnati. Ed Kranepool and Art Shamsky backed Seaver, 12-9, with solo homers.

John Bench scored Cincinnati's only run when he led off the eighth with a double, moved to third on a groundout and came home on Seaver's wild pitch.

AFL Holds 10-5 Edge In Exhibition Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Steelers are not expectedto win the National Football League title this season, but they do lead the league in embarrassment.

On the other hand, the Cincinnati Bengals, a last place choice as the American League's newest team, top their league in surprises.

Both teams climbed to the front Sunday when the Bengals shocked the Steelers 19-3 in an exhibition game at Morgantown, W. Va., for their first victory after three losses.

Cincinnati's triumph gave the AFL a stunning 10-5 bluge over the chagrinned NFL in interleague exhibitions, and with only eight such contests remaining, the NFL would have to win seven to come out on top.

The only other contest Sunday matched two NLF clubs and St. Louis scored a safety and a touchdown in the final quarter to beat the New York Giants 18-10 at New Haven, Conn.

Cincinnati gave the AFL a sweep of its two weekend interleague games as San Diego embarrassed the Los Angeles Rams 35-13 Saturday night.

In other games Saturday, Green Bay held off Dallas 31-27, Minnesota bombed Philadelphia 52-10, Chicago clobbered Washington 45-13 and New Orleans outscored Cleveland 40-27 in the NFL, and Kansas City downed Oakland 31-21 in the AFL.

Pittsburgh is supposed to lose some games, but Cincinnati is not expected to win very many. Adding insult to injury, the Bengals allowed the Steelers past midfield only once on their own power, and rookie quarterback Dewey Warren set up three touchdowns with his passing. The combination gave Paul Brown his first victory since returning to coaching after an illustrious career leading Cleveland.

Warren completed 12 of 21 ppasses for 268 yards in outpassing veteran Kent Nix, who hit only five of 20 for 64 yards.

The Steelers, playing without both its regular wide receivers and both regular running backs because of injuries, scored only on Bill Shockley's 33-yard field goal in the first half.

The Cardinals, managing only three field goals by Jim Bakken for three quarters, were losing 10-9 when a high pass from center went over punter Ernie Koy's head in the end zone for a safety and an 11-10 lead.

Minutes later, quarterback Charley Johnson, on leave from the Army and taking over from Jim Hart in the second half, boot-legged nine yards for a touchdown. Roy Shivers set up the score by returning the free kick after the safety 35 yards.

Green Bay avoided the embarrassment of losing three straight exhibition games by building a 31-10 lead against Dallas in a rematch of last year's NFL title contest. Craig Morton's two scoring passes brought the Cowboys back, but an on-side kickoff failed after the last touchdown as the game ended.

John Hadl sparked San Diego with early touchdown tosses of 45 yards to Jacques MacKinnon and 68 yards to Lance Alworth, and Dennis Partee added three field goals to drop the Rams.

Clint Jones scored two touchdowns and set up another and a field goal with his running for Minnesota. Dick Gordon caught three touchdown passes, two from Jack Concannon, in Chicago's romp.

New Orleans pulled away on Bill Kilmer's two scoring passes and Charlie Durkee's four field goals, and Kansas City, 4-0, relied on Len Dawson's two touchdown passes.

Watson Cards 21st As Buds Win Title

Earl Watson won his 21st game of the season for the Sikeston Budweisers at VFW stadium Saturday night and at the same time enabled his team to wrap up the championship of the first annual city wide softball tournament.

The victory was the 24th of the season for the team, which lost only seven games and which claimed the title of the Sikeston Fast Pitch Softball Association before entering the tournament last week.

Cooney Equipment finished second in the tourney as it did in league play, having won one game Saturday and losing one. Cooney opened with an 8-2 win over Trinity Baptist and then lost 6-5 to the Buds.

The Buds scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to claim the victory over Cooney in the double elimination tournament.

Don Agnew scored the tying run after opening the frame with a double. Fred Stewart scampered across with the winning tally on Charlie Gardner's bunt single.

Ron Voss led the Buds in hitting during the tournament with a nine for 14 showing at the plate.

Cooney took the lead with four big runs in the first inning and held the Buds to two before it tied the margin in the second.

Steve Ledbetter scored the lead run for Cooney in the sixth after leading off with a double and scoring on Dicky Schuenberg's two bagger.

The tournament field was made up of four teams from each of the two city leagues, the SFPSA and the Church league.

The Missouri Conservation Commission has announced a 30-day duck season for 1968, 10 days shorter than last year, and limits that include one mallard daily, half of last year's allowance. The dates are Nov. 1 through 30.

In establishing the regulation, the Commission was strictly bound by federal limitations announced earlier by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The 1968 regulation also included a goose season similar to last year's Except in two special zones of northern Missouri, the season will be Oct. 20 through Dec. 3 and Dec. 19 through Jan. 12.

The hunter's ability to identify duck species will continue to be important this year, as the overall duck limits contain separate limits on various species.

The overall limit on ducks this year is three daily and six in possession, a cut from last year's four and eight. Within this allowance, a hunter may have no more than one mallard daily and two in posession, one canvasback or redhead daily or in possession, two wood ducks daily and four in possession, and two black ducks daily and four in possession. Although the mallard limit is half of last year's the wood duck limit is doubled.

The coot limit is 10 daily and 20 in possession, and the limit on mergansers is five daily and 10 in possession, including not more than one hooded merganser daily and two in possession.

Daily limit on geese, outside the two special zones, is five including not more than two Canada geese, two whitefront geese, or one of each. Possession limit on geese is also five, including not more than two whitefront geese, or four Canada geese, or four white front and Canada geese in the aggregate.

In the Swain Lake Zone, bounded by U.S. Highways 36 and 65, and Missouri 5 and 240, the season will be Oct. 20 through Dec. 28, or until 25,000 geese have been harvested in the zone, whichever comes first. State and federal officials have tentatively agreed upon a daily limit of one goose in the zone in an effort to assure as long a season as possible.

In the Squaw Creek Zone, which includes Atchison and Holt Counties and the parts of Nodaway and Andrew Counties west of U.S. 71, the season will be Oct. 20 through Nov. 18 for Canada geese and Oct. 20 through Dec. 28 for other species. The limit on Canada geese is one daily and two in possession.

Shooting hours for all waterfowl will be a half-hour before sunrise to sunset. In additiona to a state hunting permit, hunters 16 and older will need a federal waterfowl stamp.

A daily limit of 3 pheasants and 79 days of hunting, again the nation's longest such season, is top fare in the potpourri of seasons announced by the Nebraska Game Commission. Opening date in the major pheasant range is Saturday, November 2, and elsewhere, November 9, with a January 19, 1969, closer for the entire state.

Mixed-bag hunters get the same opportunity on quail, with open areas and both starting and closing dates identical for both pheasants and quail.

Summer production data indicate a small pheasant decline over 1967 on a total statewide basis. While the southeast portion of Nebraska shows a marked increase in contrast to some parts of the state, the best bets still appear to be the southwestern and Panhandle areas. Possession limit is 12, all cocks.

Nebraska's quail numbers continue to increase, in keeping with population levels which have remained well above average in recent years. In 1967, quail shooters averaged 30 birds for the season. Limits vary from 6 to 8 birds daily in the two areas, with 18 in possession.

The other seasons:
Dates (inclusive), Daily Limit, and Possession Limit.
Prairie grouse, Sept. 21-Nov. 17, 3, 9.
Ducks, Oct. 12-20 and Nov. 16-Dec. 12, 3, 6.
Geese, Oct. 1-Nov. 3 and Nov. 9-Dec. 19, 5, 5.
Cottontails, Jan. 1-Dec. 31, 10, 30.
Squirrels, Sept. 1-Jan. 31. 7, 21.

Shooting hours in NEBRASKA land are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, seven days each week, and there is no plugging of shotguns required, except on waterfowl.

Note: If any sportsman wants Nebraska's complete HUNTER PACKET -- regulations, where to hunt, etc. -- he may write to NEBRASKA and Mixed-Bag, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509).

Despite the football boom, television in the United States and Canada finds itself in the position of a team that can't gain, yet dare not kick.

"All of us are in trouble - we're hurting," one American television executive days.

Another official of a U.S. network explains:

"None of us are making money on football, but none of us would dare give up our contracts. In fact, we're trying for more. It's a funny business. You blow a Saturday or a Sunday afternoon and you blow an entire audience for the weekend."

"It has never been a big commercial success," says John Mallow director of sales of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

And Murray Chercover, president of CTV, Canada's other network, says the production cost of football is out of proportion "in relation to the advertising efficiency."

There's no doubt about fan interest in football being at its peak. Sellout crowds are the rule rather than the exception.

So why are the television people worried.

"I'm afraid football TV has reached the saturation point-it's overexposed," says an American network official.

"Sponsors don't come running anymore - you have to chase them and twist their arm."

Another says, "The three major networks NBC, CBS, ABC are committed to around $110 million worth of football television this season. They will be lucky to sell three- fourths of it."

Rock Knocks Out Tigers, Lead Cut to 5

Rocky Colavito's long-term shutout is still intact but the Detroit Tigers' first place momentum isn't quite the same.

Colaviot made his first pitching appearance in 10 years Sunday and earned the victory with 2 2-3 innings of shutout relief as New York clipped Detroit 6-5 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Then the Rock returned to the outfield for the second game and cracked his 372nd career homer, helping the Uankees to a 5-4 victory and a sweep of the four-game series against the American League leading Tigers.

The four losses shaved Detroit's lead to five games over Baltimore. The Orioles nipped Boston 3-2 in 18 innings Sunday.

In other American League games, Minnesota walloped Chicago 10-2, California dropped Oakland 5-1 and Washington outlasted Cleveland 10-9.

In the National League, New York trimmed Cincinnati 7-1, Philadelphia flipped Atlanta 4-1, Chicago shut out Houston 2-0, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 5-4 and St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh 4-2.

Colavito pitched three scoreless innings against Detroit a decade ago when he was with Cleveland and Sunday's performance extended the blank string to 5 2-3 innings.

The strong-armed outfielder had volunteered to pitch when the Yankees signed him as a free agent last month and when the Tigers jumped into a 5-0 lead against Steve Barber Sunday, Manager Ralph Houk, thinking about three doubleheaders in three days, accepted the offer.

Colavito retired Al Kaline and Willie Horton, stranding two runners in the fourth inning and then shut out the Tigers in the fifth and sixth. With two out in the bottom of the sixth, the Uanks rallied.

Horton lost Andy Kosco's fly ball in the sun and it fell for a double. Tom Thresh walked and Bill Robinson, who had four hits in the doubleheader, smashed a three-run homer. Bobby Cox followed with a solo shot, tying the score.

A walk to Colavito and singles by Horace Clarke and Jake Gibbs gave New York the lead and Houk used regular pitchers Dooley Womack and Lindy McDaniel to preserve Colavito's victory.

In the nightcap, Colavito's third inning homer tied the score and Charlie Smith's two-run single in the fourth put New York in front. Steve Hamilton earned the victory with five innings of two-hit relief in which he struck out seven.

The sweep gave the rampaging Yankees 12 victories in the last 15 games and placed them at .500 for the first time since April 30.

Using the scoreboard and Detroit's double loss for inspiration, the Orioles wiped out an early 2-0 Boston lead with single runs in the seventh and eithth to force the game into extra innings.

Then, in the 18th, Bong Powell doubled with two out, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored the winning run on Brooks Robinson's single. Rookie Roger Nelson pitched seven scoreless innings of relief for the victory.

George Brunet pitched a sixhitter and Bobby Knopp drove in three runs, leading California past Oakland.

Knopp singled two runs home in the sixth and trippled another across in the eighth and Brunet, 13-12, halted a four-game California losing streak and a four-game winning streak forthe Athletics.

Four Chicago errors helped Minnesota to three unearned runs and the Twins pounded the White Sox. Rod Carew doubled, setting up a run in the second and drove in another with a single in the eighth.

Jim Kaat went all the way for his 10th victory and drove in a run in Minnesota's five-run wrapup rally in the ninth.

Ken McMullen smacked two home runs, driving in four runs but it was Tim Cullen's bases-loaded pinch triple in the seventh inning that broke a tie and carried Washington past Cleveland.

Jose Cardenal had two homers and Tony Horton one for the Indians.

Japan Retains Little League Baseball Title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. AP - Twelve-year-old Hideaki Higashide proudly held the winning baseball and shyly uttered a comment traditionally reserved for American youngsters:

"When I grow up, I want to be a ballplayer."

The crewcut youngster spoke Saturday after his three-hit shutout gave Wakayama, Japan, a 1-0 victory over Richmond, Va., in the championship game of the Little League World Series,

The triumph brought the title to Japan for the second straight year as Wakayama duplicated the feat of last year's champs from West Tokyo.

Many of the 15,000 fans were surprised at the low score of the contest. They had seen Japan demolish Wiesbaden, Germany, 14-2 in its opening round game, and shut out Santa Ana, Calif., 3-0 in the semifinal.

How to turn a 15-year-old boy into a car thief.

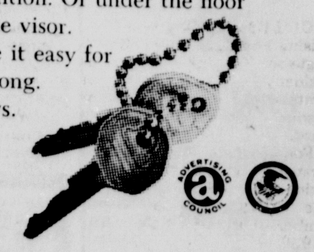
All you have to do is to be too tired—or too lazy—to take your keys with you when you leave the car.

Is it really that simple? You bet it is.

Every day, 1,000 cars are stolen by kids under 18. In fact, nearly half of all those arrested for car theft are too young to have a driver's license.

How do they do it? You make it easy for them. Half the cars stolen had the keys left in the ignition. Or under the floor mat. Or on the visor.

Don't make it easy for a kid to go wrong. Take your keys.



Don't help a boy go wrong. When you leave your car, take your keys.

Pirates Overdo Error, Lose to St. Louis 4-2

It might be human to err, but it doesn't pay to overdo it when you're playing the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pittsburgh pitching limited National League-leading St. Louis to just four hits Sunday, but the Pirates committed four errors and the Cardinals used them for a 4-2 victory.

The Pirates pounded out eight hits, but the St. Louis defense was flawless in support of Nelson Briles, 17-8, and Joe Hoerner, who relieved and put down a Pittsburgh threat in the eighth inning.

The win kept the Cardinals 13 games ahead of second place San Francisco and reduced Harry Carey's magic number to 20, that being wins by the Cardinals or losses by the second place team before the Cards clinch the pennant.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs blanked Houston 2-0, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 5-4, Philadelphia topped Atlanta 4-1 and the New York Mets pounded Cincinnati 7-1.

The New York Yankees swept Detroit 6-5 and 5-4, Washington outlasted Cleveland 10-9, the Chicago White Sox trounced Minnesota 10-2, California downed Oakland 5-1 and Baltimore nipped Boston 3-2 in 18 innings in the American League.

The Cardinals scored in the second inning. Orlando Cepeda walked, stole second, moved to third on a groundout and scored when shortstop Fred Patek fielded Mike Shannon's grounder and made a poor throw to first.

St. Louis added a run in the fourth when Shannon reached on third baseman Maury Wills' throwing error and scored when Julian Javier's single got past right fielder Gary Kolb for an error.

The clinching run came in the fifth when Lou Brock scored from second as first baseman Donn Clendenon missed a throw from pitcher Dock Ellis, who had fielded Bob Tolan's grounder.

Shannon's single and Javier's double produced the final St. Louis run in the sixth.

Matty Alou single in a run after Hoerner replaced Briles with the bases loaded and one out in the eighth. Hoerner then struck out the next two men to end the threat. Manny Mota hit a pinch homer for the Pirates in the ninth.

Ferguson Jenkins pitched a four-hitter and drove in a run with a groundout as Chicago snapped Houston's six-game winning streak and handed Larry Dierker his first loss since June 20. Dierker, who had won six in a row, now is 12-11.

Jenkins, 15-12 drove in the Cubs's first run in the second inning. Glenn Beckert's single, Billy Williams' double and Willie Smith's sacrifice fly produced the other run.

Los Angeles beat San Francisco's Jaun Marichal, 23-6, on Paul Popovich's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning.

The winning rally, which snapped the Dodgers' losing streak at eight games, started when Tom Haller singled and went to third as Marichal threw low in second on Ron Fairly's bunt. After an intentional walk and a force play at the plate, Popovich delivered his sacrifice fly.

San Francisco had tied it with two runs in the seventh. Ron Hunt singled home the first one and Willie Mays' infield out brought in the other.

Larry Jackson, 12-15, scattered five hits and Johnny Callifson, back in the line-up after an eight-day absence because of a pulled hamstring, homered and singled in a run in Philadelphia's triumph. Hank Aaron hit his 24th homer for Atlanta.

Tom Seaver threw a five-hitter and smacked a two-run double in leading the Mets over Cincinnati. Ed Kranepool and Art Shamsky backed Seaver, 12-9, with solo homers.

John Bench scored Cincinnati's only run when he led off the eighth with a double, moved to third on a groundout and came home on Seaver's wild pitch.

AFL Holds 10-5 Edge In Exhibition Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Steelers are not expected to win the National Football League title this season, but they do lead the league in embarrassment.

On the other hand, the Cincinnati Bengals, a last place choice as the American League's newest team, top their league in surprises.

Both teams climbed to the front Sunday when the Bengals shocked the Steelers 19-3 in an exhibition game at Morgantown, W. Va., for their first victory after three losses.

Cincinnati's triumph gave the AFL a stunning 10-5 bluge over the chagrinned NFL in interleague exhibitions, and with only eight such contests remaining, the NFL would have to win seven to come out on top.

The only other contest Sunday matched two NLF clubs and St. Louis scored a safety and a touchdown in the final quarter to beat the New York Giants 18-10 at New Haven, Conn.

Cincinnati gave the AFL a sweep of its two weekend interleague games as San Diego embarrassed the Los Angeles Rams 35-13 Saturday night.

In other games Saturday, Green Bay held off Dallas 31-27, Minnesota bombed Philadelphia 52-10, Chicago clobbered Washington 45-13 and New Orleans outscored Cleveland 40-27 in the NFL, and Kansas City downed Oakland 31-21 in the AFL.

Pittsburgh is supposed to lose some games, but Cincinnati is not expected to win very many. Adding insult to injury, the Bengals allowed the Steelers past midfield only once on their own power, and rookie quarterback Dewey Warren set up three touchdowns with his passing. The combination gave Paul Brown his first victory since returning to coaching after an illustrious career leading Cleveland.

Warren completed 12 of 21 ppasses for 268 yards in outpassing veteran Kent Nix, who hit only five of 20 for 64 yards.

The Steelers, playing without both its regular wide receivers and both regular running backs because of injuries, scored only on Bill Shockley's 33-yard field goal in the first half.

The Cardinals, managing only three field goals by Jim Bakken for three quarters, were losing 10-9 when a high pass from center went over punter Ernie Koy's head in the end zone for a safety and an 11-10 lead.

Minutes later, quarterback Charley Johnson, on leave from the Army and taking over from Jim Hart in the second half, boot-legged nine yards for a touchdown. Roy Shivers set up the score by returning the free kick after the safety 35 yards.

Green Bay avoided the embarrassment of losing three straight exhibition games by building a 31-10 lead against Dallas in a rematch of last year's NFL title contest. Craig Morton's two scoring passes brought the Cowboys back, but an on-side kickoff failed after the last touchdown as the game ended.

John Hadl sparked San Diego with early touchdown tosses of 45 yards to Jacques MacKinnon and 68 yards to Lance Alworth, and Dennis Partee added three field goals to drop the Rams.

Clint Jones scored two touchdowns and set up another and a field goal with his running for Minnesota. Dick Gordon caught three touchdown passes, two from Jack Concannon, in Chicago's romp.

New Orleans pulled away on Bill Kilmer's two scoring passes and Charlie Durkee's four field goals, and Kansas City, 4-0, relied on Len Dawson's two touchdown passes.

Watson Cards 21st As Buds Win Title

Earl Watson won his 21st game of the season for the Sikeston Budweisers at VFW stadium Saturday night and at the same time enabled his team to wrap up the championship of the first annual city wide softball tournament.

The victory was the 24th of the season for the team, which lost only seven games and which claimed the title of the Sikeston Fast Pitch Softball Association before entering the tournament last week.

Cooney Equipment finished second in the tourney as it did in league play, having won one game Saturday and losing one. Cooney opened with an 8-2 win over Trinity Baptist and then lost 6-5 to the Buds.

The Buds scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to claim the victory over Cooney in the double elimination tournament.

Don Agnew scored the tying run after opening the frame with a double. Fred Stewart scampered across with the winning tally on Charlie Gardner's bunt single.

Ron Voss led the Buds in hitting during the tournament with a nine for 14 showing at the plate.

Cooney took the lead with four big runs in the first inning and held the Buds to two before it tied the margin in the second.

Steve Ledbetter scored the lead run for Cooney in the sixth after leading off with a double and scoring on Dicky Schuenberg's two bagger.

The tournament field was made up of four teams from each of the two city leagues, the SFPSA and the Church league.

The Missouri Conservation Commission has announced a 30-day duck season for 1968, 10 days shorter than last year, and limits that include one mallard daily, half of last year's allowance. The dates are Nov. 1 through 30.

In establishing the regulation, the Commission was strictly bound by federal limitations announced earlier by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The 1968 regulation also included a goose season similar to last year's Except in two special zones of northern Missouri, the season will be Oct. 20 through Dec. 3 and Dec. 19 through Jan. 12.

The hunter's ability to identify duck species will continue to be important this year, as the overall duck limits contain separate limits on various species.

The overall limit on ducks this year is three daily and six in possession, a cut from last year's four and eight. Within this allowance, a hunter may have no more than one mallard daily and two in posession, one canvasback or redhead daily or in possession, two wood ducks daily and four in possession, and two black ducks daily and four in possession. Although the mallard limit is half of last year's the wood duck limit is doubled.

The coot limit is 10 daily and 20 in possession, and the limit on mergansers is five daily and 10 in possession, including not more than one hooded merganser daily and two in possession.

Daily limit on geese, outside the two special zones, is five including not more than two Canada geese, two whitefront geese, or one of each. Possession limit on geese is also five, including not more than two whitefront geese, or four Canada geese, or four white front and Canada geese in the aggregate.

In the Swain Lake Zone, bounded by U.S. Highways 36 and 65 and Missouri 5 and 240, the season will be Oct. 20 through Dec. 28, or until 25,000 geese have been harvested in the zone, whichever comes first. State and federal officials have tentatively agreed upon a daily limit of one goose in the zone in an effort to assure as long a season as possible.

In the Squaw Creek Zone, which includes Atchison and Holt Counties and the parts of Nodaway and Andrew Counties west of U.S. 71, the season will be Oct. 20 through Nov. 18 for Canada geese and Oct. 20 through Dec. 28 for other species. The limit on Canada geese is one daily and two in possession.

Shooting hours for all waterfowl will be a half-hour before sunrise to sunset. In additiona to a state hunting permit, hunters 16 and older will need a federal waterfowl stamp.

A daily limit of 3 pheasants and 79 days of hunting, again the nation's longest such season, is top fare in the potpourri of seasons announced by the Nebraska Game Commission. Opening date in the major pheasant range is Saturday, November 2, and elsewhere, November 9, with a January 19, 1969, closer for the entire state.

Mixed-bag hunters get the same opportunity on quail, with open areas and both starting and closing dates identical for both pheasants and quail.

Summer production data indicate a small pheasant decline over 1967 on a total statewide basis. While the southeast portion of Nebraska shows a marked increase in contrast to some parts of the state, the best bets still appear to be the southwestern and Panhandle areas. Possession limit is 12, all cocks.

Nebraska's quail numbers continue to increase, in keeping with population levels which have remained well above average in recent years. In 1967, quail shooters averaged 30 birds for the season. Limits vary from 6 to 8 birds daily in the two areas, with 18 in possession.

The other seasons:

Dates (inclusive), Daily Limit, and Possession Limit.

Prairie grouse, Sept. 21-Nov. 17, 3, 9.
Ducks, Oct. 12-20 and Nov. 16-Dec. 12, 3, 6.
Geese, Oct. 1-Nov. 3 and Nov. 9-Dec. 19, 5, 5.
Cottontails, Jan. 1-Dec. 31, 10, 30.
Squirrels, Sept. 1-Jan. 31. 7, 21.

Shooting hours in NEBRASKA land are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, seven days each week, and there is no plugging of shotguns required, except on waterfowl.

Note: If any sportsman wants Nebraska's complete HUNTER PACKET -- regulations, where to hunt, etc. -- he may write to NEBRASKA and Mixed-Bag, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509).

Despite the football boom, television in the United States and Canada finds itself in the position of a team that can't gain, yet dare not kick.

"All of us are in trouble - we're hurting," one American television executive days.

Another official of a U.S. network explains:

"None of us are making money on football, but none of us would dare give up our contracts. In fact, we're trying for more. It's a funny business. You blow a Saturday or a Sunday afternoon and you blow an entire audience for the weekend."

"It has never been a big commercial success," says John Mallow director of sales of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

And Murray Chercover, president of CTV, Canada's other network, says the production cost of football is out of proportion "in relation to the advertising efficiency."

There's no doubt about fan interest in football being at its peak. Sellout crowds are the rule rather than the exception.

So why are the television people worried.

"I'm afraid football TV has reached the saturation point-it's overexposed," says an American network official.

"Sponsors don't come running anymore - you have to chase them and twist their arm."

Another says, "The three major networks NBC, CBS, ABC are committed to around $110 million worth of football television this season. They will be lucky to sell three- fourths of it."

Rock Knocks Out Tigers, Lead Cut to 5

Rocky Colavito's long-term shutout is still intact but the Detroit Tigers' first place momentum isn't quite the same.

Colaviot made his first pitching appearance in 10 years Sunday and earned the victory with 2 2-3 innings of shutout relief as New York clipped Detroit 6-5 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Then the Rock returned to the outfield for the second game and cracked his 372nd career homer, helping the Uankees to a 5-4 victory and a sweep of the four-game series against the American League leading Tigers.

The four losses shaved Detroit's lead to five games over Baltimore. The Orioles nipped Boston 3-2 in 18 innings Sunday.

In other American League games, Minnesota walloped Chicago 10-2, California dropped Oakland 5-1 and Washington outlasted Cleveland 10-9.

In the National League, New York trimmed Cincinnati 7-1, Philadelphia flipped Atlanta 4-1, Chicago shut out Houston 2-0, Los Angeles edged San Francisco 5-4 and St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh 4-2.

Colavito pitched three scoreless innings against Detroit a decade ago when he was with Cleveland and Sunday's performance extended the blank string to 5 2-3 innings.

The strong-armed outfielder had volunteered to pitch when the Yankees signed him as a free agent last month and when the Tigers jumped into a 5-0 lead against Steve Barber Sunday, Manager Ralph Houk, thinking about three doubleheaders in three days, accepted the offer.

Colavito retired Al Kaline and Willie Horton, stranding two runners in the fourth inning and then shut out the Tigers in the fifth and sixth. With two out in the bottom of the sixth, the Uanks rallied.

Horton lost Andy Kosco's fly ball in the sun and it fell for a double. Tom Thresh walked and Bill Robinson, who had four hits in the doubleheader, smashed a three-run homer. Bobby Cox followed with a solo shot, tying the score.

A walk to Colavito and singles by Horace Clarke and Jake Gibbs gave New York the lead and Houk used regular pitchers Dooley Womack and Lindy McDaniel to preserve Colavito's victory.

In the nightcap, Colavito's third inning homer tied the score and Charlie Smith's two-run single in the fourth put New York in front. Steve Hamilton earned the victory with five innings of two-hit relief in which he struck out seven.

The sweep gave the rampaging Yankees 12 victories in the last 15 games and placed them at .500 for the first time since April 30.

Using the scoreboard and Detroit's double loss for inspiration, the Orioles wiped out an early 2-0 Boston lead with single runs in the seventh and eithth to force the game into extra innings.

Then, in the 18th, Bong Powell doubled with two out, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored the winning run on Brooks Robinson's single. Rookie Roger Nelson pitched seven scoreless innings of relief for the victory.

George Brunet pitched a sixhitter and Bobby Knopp drove in three runs, leading California past Oakland.

Knopp singled two runs home in the sixth and trippled another across in the eighth and Brunet, 13-12, halted a four-game California losing streak and a four-game winning streak forthe Athletics.

Four Chicago errors helped Minnesota to three unearned runs and the Twins pounded the White Sox. Rod Carew doubled, setting up a run in the second and drove in another with a single in the eighth.

Jim Kaat went all the way for his 10th victory and drove in a run in Minnesota's five-run wrapup rally in the ninth.

Ken McMullen smacked two home runs, driving in four runs but it was Tim Cullen's bases-loaded pinch triple in the seventh inning that broke a tie and carried Washington past Cleveland.

Jose Cardenal had two homers and Tony Horton one for the Indians.

Japan Retains Little League Baseball Title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. AP - Twelve-year-old Hideaki Higashide proudly held the winning baseball and shyly uttered a comment traditionally reserved for American youngsters:

"When I grow up, I want to be a ballplayer."

The crewcut youngster spoke Saturday after his three-hit shutout gave Wakayama, Japan, a 1-0 victory over Richmond, Va., in the championship game of the Little League World Series.

The triumph brought the title to Japan for the second straight year as Wakayama duplicated the feat of last year's champs from West Tokyo.

Many of the 15,000 fans were surprised at the low score of the contest. They had seen Japan demolish Wiesbaden, Germany, 14-2 in its opening round game, and shut out Santa Ana, Calif., 3-0 in the semifinal.

How to turn a 15-year-old boy into a car thief.

All you have to do is to be too tired—or too lazy—to take your keys with you when you leave the car.

Is it really that simple? You bet it is.

Every day, 1,000 cars are stolen by kids under 18. In fact, nearly half of all those arrested for car theft are too young to have a driver's license.

How do they do it? You make it easy for them. Half the cars stolen had the keys left in the ignition. Or under the floor mat. Or on the visor.

Don't make it easy for a kid to go wrong. Take your keys.

Don't help a boy go wrong. When you leave your car, take your keys.

--CHICAGO IS POWDER KEG--

CHICAGO -- Police intelligence reports are even more alarming than the newspaper accounts of the trouble that may be in store for the Democratic convention here.

Chicago is threatened with an invastion of black militants, white agitators, new leftists, Cuban exiles, Communists, Vietniks, Pacifists, hippies and yippies, who plan to disrupt the Democratic convention with everything from peaceful protests to violent upheaval. They are already converging upon Chicago from all over the country.

If they are successful, they will give the TV cameras a picture of ragina anarchy. The television networks fully intend to cooperate, not along because they expect more news outside than inside the convention hall, but also because they are sore at the Democrats for forcing them to move their equipment and entourages from Miami to Chicago at an estimated cost of $3 million.

Instructions have gone out to the TV crews to set up most of their cameras at strategic locations outside the amphitheater to pick up the action.

The Republicans already are preparing to capitalize on the Democrats' misfortune by contrasting their own peaceful proceedings in Miami Beach with the expected disorders in Chicago. Indeed, at least one pro-Nixon outfit, partially financed by Richard Nixon's millionaire friend B. B. Rebozo, is heading for Chicago to contribute to the disorder.

Here are some of the more disturbing reports that have been picked up by police intelligence:

-- Chicago's Negro youth gangs, including the Blacnstone rangers, disciples, dukes and elephants, are reported to be preparing to kick up violence in the streets. Information has been received that the Jackson executioners have stockpiled weapons, including shotguns in an apartment near the convention site.

--MARKED MEN--

-- An informant has tipped off police that the Blackstone rangers agreed at a secret meeting on August 1 to gun down the two leading Democratic candidates, Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy. At a subsequent meeting on Aug. 12, the informant reported, guns were distributed, and Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., was added to the list of targets.

-- Robert Brown, the Chicago director of the militant SNCC organization, has boasted privately that Black militants are going to "tear up" Chicago. They reportedly are being brought into town by Eddy Brown, brother of the Black rabble-rouser H. Rap Brown. Robert Brown (no relation) also has advocated the use of dynamite, according to police reports, to bomb the Democratic convention.

-- Reginald Hawkins, a pistol-packing Negro dentist from Charlotte, N. C., has declared his intention privately of coming to Chicago with a shock troop of "Black boys" who won't be afraid to "shoot back" in the event of trouble. He intends to protest the seating of the North Carolina delegation.

-- Negro protestant ministers, belonging to Chicago's Englewood ministerial association, allegedlyplan to disrupt the convention and force delegates to walk the distance between their hotels and convention hall by lying in the streets and otherwise tying up traffic.

-- An auto caravan of Cuban exiles is reported to be on its way to Chicago from Miami. It was organized allegedly by Elimio Nunez Portuondo, who also happens to head the Cuban-Americans for Nixon. This organization has charged its office supplies and equipment to the account of Nixon's close friend, real estate promoter, B. B.Rebozo.

-- The youth international party, known collequially as "yippies," is planning a hippie festival in coincide with the Democratic convention. This is attracting the bearded and unbathed set to Chicago from all over the country.

--HUGE PEACE DEMONSTRATION--

The largest invasion force, however, will be bussed to Chicago by the National Mobilization committee to end the war in Vietnam. This is the same coalition of new left and pacifist organizations that started the "peace march" on Washington last October.

Just as that mass demonstration erupted into violence on the steps of the pentagon, the current mobilization has been issuing press statements about peaceful protests but privately has encouraged the militants to provoke violence.

One police report claims that the committee has trained a group of militant demonstrators to attempt to "crash-in" to break into the convention amphitheater. They will be directed by marshals carrying walkie-talkies. Calls have gone out for medics to give first aid to the demonstrators and electronic experts to operate the radio equipment.

A secret planning session, presided over by Dave Dellinger, the National co-chairman, was held on Aug. 4, in Highland Park, Ill. It was agreed to set up an "action headquarters" near the convention site and to establish approximately 50 centers throughout the city.

Ramparts magazine allegedly has agreed to publish a Daily newspaper listing the locations of the centers and the schedule of activities. The committee plans to test the firmness of the police with preliminary confrontations at the hotels. The demonstrations will be encouraged to attend a mass rally for Sen. Eugene McCarthy at Grant Park, and to follow on Aug. 28 by a mass march on the convention.

A motley coalition of dissident organizations has agreed to cooperate with the mobilization committee. The resistance, a militant anti-draft organization, is attempting to organize a caravan in San Francisco.

Donald Kalish, who organized the demonstrations against Dow Chemical plants, is reported to be on his way to Chicago from Los Angeles with his girl friend, Aleta Wallach. Ray Bartee Haile, Jr., a Dallas militant, has promised to bring 400 activists to Chicago from Dallas. Similar reports have been received from more than a dozen cities.

Even the Communist party has assigned Donald Hamerquist to coordinate the activities of the militants in Chicago.

On top of the telephone and taxicab strikes, all this could turn the Chicago convention into a national disaster.

Ferguson's Service Praised

COLUMBIA—A resolution praising Board member Oliver B. Ferguson for his service as President of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri was passed by the Board.

Ferguson, a Fredericktown newspaper publisher, served as president from June 7, 1967, to June 28, 1968. He has been a member of the board since Jan. 1, 1955.

The text:

"Whereas, Oliver B. Ferguson has been a member of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri since January 1, 1955, and

"Whereas, he has served said Board with distinction from February of 1963 until June of 1967 as Vice President, and

"Whereas, he was elected President of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri on June 7, 1967, and served with outstanding distinction and ability in such office until June 28, 1968, and

"Whereas, said Oliver B. Ferguson gave unstintingly of his time and efforts, and at great personal sacrifice to his personal business and private affairs to carry out the duties and obligations of the Presidency of said Board of Curators.

"Whereas, the University of Missouri, and the State of Missouri, have been the beneficiaries of the wise counsel, good judgment and outstanding leadership of said Oliver B. Ferguson,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved:

"That The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri hereby expresses to said Oliver B. Ferguson the gratitude and thanks of The Board of Curators, the administration, faculty and students of the University of Missouri, and the citizens of the State of Missouri, for his wise leadership as President of the Board, and

"That this resolution be spread upon the minutes of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri, and a copy thereof, suitably inscribed, be furnished to Oliver B. Ferguson."

Bell City News

Donald Hossier To Be Stationed In Germany

BELL CITY - P.V.T. Donald Hossier, finished H.I.T. training at Fort Sill Okla, left Monday morning for Germany, after spending a 27 day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Hoosier and other relatives of Bell City.

Young Man Fires Gun At House

POPLAR BLUFF - Mrs. Violet Adams reported to police that a young man fired a shotgun blast into her home at 1:58 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Adams stated that she heard a noise on her front porch and went to the door. She stated that a man was there and asked the whereabouts of her daughter.

When she told him her daughter wasn't home he cursed her and went to his car. After he got to his car he pulled a shotgun out of it, fired into the house and drove off.

--CHICAGO IS POWDER KEG--

CHICAGO -- Police intelligence reports are even more alarming than the newspaper accounts of the trouble that may be in store for the Democratic convention here.

Chicago is threatened with an invastion of black militants, white agitators, new leftists, Cuban exiles, Communists, Vietniks, Pacifists, hippies and yippies, who plan to disrupt the Democratic convention with everything from peaceful protests to violent upheaval. They are already converging upon Chicago from all over the country.

If they are successful, they will give the TV cameras a picture of ragina anarchy. The television networks fully intend to cooperate, not along because they expect more news outside than inside the convention hall, but also because they are sore at the Democrats for forcing them to move their equipment and entourages from Miami to Chicago at an estimated cost of $3 million.

Instructions have gone out to the TV crews to set up most of their cameras at strategic locations outside the amphitheater to pick up the action.

The Republicans already are preparing to capitalize on the Democrats' misfortune by contrasting their own peaceful proceedings in Miami Beach with the expected disorders in Chicago. Indeed, at least one pro-Nixon outfit, partially financed by Richard Nixon's millionaire friend B. B. Rebozo, is heading for Chicago to contribute to the disorder.

Here are some of the more disturbing reports that have been picked up by police intelligence:

-- Chicago's Negro youth gangs, including the Blacnstone rangers, disciples, dukes and elephants, are reported to be preparing to kick up violence in the streets. Information has been received that the Jackson executioners have stockpiled weapons, including shotguns in an apartment near the convention site.

--MARKED MEN--

-- An informant has tipped off police that the Blackstone rangers agreed at a secret meeting on August 1 to gun down the two leading Democratic candidates, Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy. At a subsequent meeting on Aug. 12, the informant reported, guns were distributed, and Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., was added to the list of targets.

-- Robert Brown, the Chicago director of the militant SNCC organization, has boasted privately that Black militants are going to "tear up" Chicago. They reportedly are being brought into town by Eddy Brown, brother of the Black rabble-rouser H. Rap Brown. Robert Brown (no relation) also has advocated the use of dynamite, according to police reports, to bomb the Democratic convention.

-- Reginald Hawkins, a pistol-packing Negro dentist from Charlotte, N. C., has declared his intention privately of coming to Chicago with a shock troop of "Black boys" who won't be afraid to "shoot back" in the event of trouble. He intends to protest the seating of the North Carolina delegation.

-- Negro protestant ministers, belonging to Chicago's Englewood ministerial association, allegedlyplan to disrupt the convention and force delegates to walk the distance between their hotels and convention hall by lying in the streets and otherwise tying up traffic.

-- An auto caravan of Cuban exiles is reported to be on its way to Chicago from Miami. It was organized allegedly by Elimio Nunez Portuondo, who also happens to head the Cuban-Americans for Nixon. This organization has charged its office supplies and equipment to the account of Nixon's close friend, real estate promoter, B. B.Rebozo.

-- The youth international party, known collequially as "yippies," is planning a hippie festival in coincide with the Democratic convention. This is attracting the bearded and unbathed set to Chicago from all over the country.

--HUGE PEACE DEMONSTRATION--

The largest invasion force, however, will be bussed to Chicago by the National Mobilization committee to end the war in Vietnam. This is the same coalition of new left and pacifist organizations that started the "peace march" on Washington last October.

Just as that mass demonstration erupted into violence on the steps of the pentagon, the current mobilization has been issuing press statements about peaceful protests but privately has encouraged the militants to provoke violence.

One police report claims that the committee has trained a group of militant demonstrators to attempt to "crash-in" to break into the convention amphitheater. They will be directed by marshals carrying walkie-talkies. Calls have gone out for medics to give first aid to the demonstrators and electronic experts to operate the radio equipment.

A secret planning session, presided over by Dave Dellinger, the National co-chairman, was held on Aug. 4, in Highland Park, Ill. It was agreed to set up an "action headquarters" near the convention site and to establish approximately 50 centers throughout the city.

Ramparts magazine allegedly has agreed to publish a Daily newspaper listing the locations of the centers and the schedule of activities. The committee plans to test the firmness of the police with preliminary confrontations at the hotels. The demonstrations will be encouraged to attend a mass rally for Sen. Eugene McCarthy at Grant Park, and to follow on Aug. 28 by a mass march on the convention.

A motley coalition of dissident organizations has agreed to cooperate with the mobilization committee. The resistance, a militant anti-draft organization, is attempting to organize a caravan in San Francisco.

Donald Kalish, who organized the demonstrations against Dow Chemical plants, is reported to be on his way to Chicago from Los Angeles with his girl friend, Aleta Wallach. Ray Bartee Haile, Jr., a Dallas militant, has promised to bring 400 activists to Chicago from Dallas. Similar reports have been received from more than a dozen cities.

Even the Communist party has assigned Donald Hamerquist to coordinate the activities of the militants in Chicago.

On top of the telephone and taxicab strikes, all this could turn the Chicago convention into a national disaster.

Ferguson's Service Praised

COLUMBIA—A resolution praising Board member Oliver B. Ferguson for his service as President of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri was passed by the Board.

Ferguson, a Fredericktown newspaper publisher, served as president from June 7, 1967, to June 28, 1968. He has been a member of the board since Jan. 1, 1955.

The text:

"Whereas, Oliver B. Ferguson has been a member of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri since January 1, 1955, and

"Whereas, he has served said Board with distinction from February of 1963 until June of 1967 as Vice President, and

"Whereas, he was elected President of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri on June 7, 1967, and served with outstanding distinction and ability in such office until June 28, 1968, and

"Whereas, said Oliver B. Ferguson gave unstintingly of his time and efforts, and at great personal sacrifice to his personal business and private affairs to carry out the duties and obligations of the Presidency of said Board of Curators.

"Whereas, the University of Missouri, and the State of Missouri, have been the beneficiaries of the wise counsel, good judgment and outstanding leadership of said Oliver B. Ferguson,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved:

"That The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri hereby expresses to said Oliver B. Ferguson the gratitude and thanks of The Board of Curators, the administration, faculty and students of the University of Missouri, and the citizens of the State of Missouri, for his wise leadership as President of the Board, and

"That this resolution be spread upon the minutes of The Board of Curators of the University of Missouri, and a copy thereof, suitably inscribed, be furnished to Oliver B. Ferguson."

Half Million Filters Monthly From Plant

DEXTER — An estimated half-million filters a month will be produced at the new Fram factory when the plant gets into production here, Les Sleinkofer, Jr., plant manager, told the Kiwanis club.

By October, 1969, the company hopes to have between 150 and 200 employed, with a payroll in excess of $75,000 per month, Sleinkofer declared.

Sleinkofer told of the progress on the new Dexter industry, with the construction of the building coming along in good shape, and with equipment now arriving daily and some of it being installed.

The plant is huge -- three acres under one roof -- and will be "in production" as soon as possible, the manager declared. Fram officials are anxious to complete the building, finish the installation of equipment, so that actual production can begin, he pointed out.

He said that he and his associates have met with "full cooperation" from local Chamber of Commerce officials, city officials, and others, in bringing the new industry to Dexter.

Many applications for employment have been received, but little of the actual hiring has been done as yet, he pointed out.

In explaining some of the technicalities of the operation in Dexter, Sleinkofer said that production here would be of filters -- both oil and air -- under contract for other firms. In other words, the filters here will carry the name and be sold by other firms, including oil companies and the like.

This type of production calls for various specifications for various filters, so that, in reality, a number of types of filters will be produced at the local plant. Fram has plants throughout the United States and in foreign countries.

Human Rights Lesson Topic

MATTHEWS - "Human Rights - 1968" was the topic for the lesson led by Mrs. B. B. Conrad when the Christian Women's Fellowship met at the home of Mrs. William Depro Thursday evening. Suggestions of study materials and action projects in which church women should be involved during the Internation Year of Human Rights were listed. A check-list for evaluating the community in areas of employment, education, social security, equal protection of the law, citizenship rights, housing, health and general welfare, freedom of thought, conscience and religion provided thought provoking comments during the roundtable discussion.

From the mission study book "New Forms of Mission" Mrs. Dennis Parsons reviewed the second chapter "The People We Send as Missionaries." It identified new opportunities available to laymen to engage in mission work.

Mrs. Joe Silverthorn led the devotion. Mrs. Lester King presided during the business session at which a report was given on the Aug. 3 ice cream social. A dessert course was served by the hostess during the social hour.

Mrs. Nelson Lumsden and daughter Ruth Ann visited last week in Litchfield, Ill., with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spalding and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hawkins and sons, Tim and Todd, of St. Louis visited last Thursday with his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Robbs.

Miss Donna Jo Reid, who suffered a concussion and fractured back in an auto accident Aug. 10, was moved last Thursday from Missouri Delta Community Hospital to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Bill Harris of Texarkana, Ark., and cousin, Miss Deene Ann Whitten. Her father, Ellis V. Reid, and brothers, Ellis W. of Jackson, Miss., and Bill of Fort Campbell, Ky., visited her during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Faries, Lila and Reggie Vandiver and their guests, Susan and Ann Keasler of Crawford, Miss., spent last weekend at Horseshoe Bend, Ark.

Mrs. M. H.Radcliffe enjoyed a vacation last week in the Ozark area near Branson with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Radcliffe and sons of Danville, Ill., and Mrs. Radcliffe's mother, Mrs. Mary Dell Lear of Jackson.

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gaines and their six-week-old daughter, Darla Lynn, who was making her first visit to family and friends.

Lee Rakestraw of Bonneville, Miss., visited here Monday and Tuesday with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rakestraw, and with friends made while teaching here 10 years ago. Rakestraw is now teaching in a junior college at Booneville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gurley and daughter Mary Lou and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gurley of St. Louis visited here last Saturday with Mr. L. D. Waters.

Speaker at the Christian Church Sunday was the District 10 minister, the Rev. Charles Barr. While here he was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lumsden.

Mississippi County Property Evaluated

CHARLESTON - Thirty National Youth Corps representatives, accompanied by agents of the Missouri State Tax Commission have began to measure and evaluate commercial property in Mississippi County.

Beginning Monday the same group of workers will begin a similar program on all residential property.

The purpose is to equalize assessments for tax purposes. Similar work has been completed in Ste. Genevieve county, and in Madison.

The NYS group or high school students engaged in this program will be working under the direction of the state tax commission, the county court and county assessor. In the residential area the group will determine the square footage of all houses, age, whether brick or siding, number of bathrooms, and whether it has central air conditioning, and whther it has a full basement. All facts are recorded on cards, check by the agent for the tax commission, and then sent to Jefferson City for evaluation. Size of the lot will also be made part of the record.

A formula has also been worked out to equalize the valuations of all farm land, the tax commission agent said.

As soon as the work has been completed in the county the complete list will be publicly posted in the office of the county clerk for a period of 30 days. Any taxpayer is then fre to inspect the list, compare figures, and then register a complaint if he so desires. The chairman of the State Tax Commission, the county court and assessor will meet with such taxpayers, and to over the figures.

Eventually these tentative assessments will become part of the permanent record.

Total cost of this program is expected to be less than $5,000 for Mississippi county. By comparison, the county of Callaway hired a private concern to reassess all property within the county, and the bill came to $94,000. A number of other counties have also asked for this service by the State Tax Commission, the agent added.

JOE SCOTT, extension agronomist at the Delta Center, Portageville, inspects kenaf, a fiber crop used for pulp production by paper mills. The kenaf grows as high as 10 feet. Kenaf and other new crops can be seen at a Field Day Sept. 5.

New Crops Will Be Displayed

PORTAGEVILLE - Southeast Missouri farmers attending the Delta Center Field Day Sept. 5 will see something new reports Joe Scott, extension agronomist.

New crops are being tested and new research on old crops are being tried.

The new crops to be seen are kenaf and oilseed varieties of sunflowers. Kenaf, a fiber crop that has a high potential for pulp production to be used by paper mills, is being tested. Variety and fertilizer tests are being conducted on the high oilseed Russian sunflower varieties. A research program is being conducted on sugar beets which includes varieties, fertilization, disease control and irrigation.

The new cotton variety Mo-dell developed at the Delta Center will be shown and discussed along with two other new promising varieties. New weed control, disease and insect control treatments are being tried on cotton.

A soybean variety and irrigation study that includes new soybean varieties will be included in the tour of the field. Weed control studies on soybeans that include newpost-emergency herbicides will be featured at the field day.

Grain sorghum acreage is increasing in Southeast Missouri. New varieties and fertility treatments are being tried at the Delta Center for the first time.

An irrigation study is being conducted by the station meteorologis to determine how much water cotton needs and used under irrigated and non-irrigated conditions.

New control methods for combating the Southwestern and European corn borer will be pointed out to visitors at the field day.

A tomato breeding program that consists of varieties are harvested entirely by mechanical means will be a stop on the field tour.

The field day will start at 9 a.m. Lunch will be available at the field.

Farm-Operating Loan Rate Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration has increased its interest rate on farm-operating loans for the first time in more than 30 years.

The maximum rate has been five per cent since 1947, the FHA said Thursday, but now is 5½ per cent. The increase was provided in a new law signed by President Johnson.

Operating loans are made to family farmers for the purchase of such things as livestock, machinery and livestock feed. They are made directly through the FHA, a credit agency of the Department of Agriculture.

The new law sets up a flexible interest rate which may be adjusted yearly to cover costs, the FHA said.

This year the agency estimates farm operating loans will total $275 million, about the same as for the year ended June 30.

The new law also expands FHA loan programs aimed at helping farmers develop small businesses or recreational areas on their land.

The loans will be limited to $60,000 for real estate development and $35,000 for equipment and operating expenses, payable over seven years at 5½ per cent. The limit previously for nonfarm enterprise loans by the FHA was $3,500, the department said.

Recreation projects may include converting farms to areas for fishing, boating, camping and golfing, the department said.

Young Men Can Apply for Academies

WASHINGTON - Every young man in Missouri's tenth congressional district, who is interested in attending either the U. S. military academy at West Point, the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis, or the U. S. air force academy at Colorado Springs, has an opportunity to participate in a competitive scholastic examination, conducted by the Civil Service Commission. The results will be used by Congressman Paul C. Jones in making his nominations.

Sept. 2 is the deadline for filing application to take the examination. A request may be made to Congressman Jones asking for a form which he requires all applicants to complete and return in order to receive consideration. The form should then be mailed in time to reach the office of Congressman Jones, 2302 Rayburn Building, Washington, D. C., not later than Sept. 2.

Young men between 17 and 21 living in any of the 16 counties of the congressional district are eligible to take the examination.

Only those who take this examination will be considered for appointment.

The examination, will be given simultaneously at West Plains, Poplar Bluff, Cape Girardeau, and Farmington. Arrangements can be made for applicants who are attending college to take the examination in the city where the college is located or another nearby location.

Beans in Light Soil Could Use Water

BENTON - The soybean crop in Scott and Mississippi counties looks good on the heavier soils area farm management agent Richard F. McIntosh says. Moisture is becoming critical on the lighter soils.

Many soybean fields are in full bloom or filling pods and moisture stress during this period of growth is critical. Soybeans damaged by moisture shortages do not set as many pods and both the number and size of beans per pod are reduced.

In prior years, some farmers have doubled their soybean yields by irrigating one time during this stage of growth.

Field crops specialist suggest applying enough irrigation water to wet the soil at least two feet ddep but not more than three feet deep for soybeans.

A soil auger or moisture probe can be used to check the depth of water penetration.

In order to wet the soil two to three feet deep it will take the following amounts of water on the different soil types. On course sandy soil apply 1½ inches ofwater. On sandy loam soil apply 2¼ inches of water. On silt loam soil apply 2¾ inches of water. On clay soil apply 2 5/8 inches of water.

These amounts of water are required if the soil is at 50 per cent of field capacity when irrigation is started.

On clay gumbo soil care should be taken to prevent waterlogging the soil.

Kennett to Vote on Bonds to Build Plant

KENNETT - The Kennett city council last night approved an ordinance calling for a special election Sept. 17, on the issuance of industrial revenue bonds totaling $5 million for the purchase and construction of the new Uniroyal Plant which is being located in Kennett.

The bonds will be payable solely from revenue from the new industry and will in no way affect local taxes.

Composing Talent Sweeps Webb Up, Up and Away

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When he was 18, Jim Webb flunked a college music course, broke up with his girl, got on an airplane and wrote "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

At 19 he rode skyward in a balloon for a publicity stunt and wrote "Up, Up and Away."

Now 21, the composer prodigy of pop music needs no balloons or airplanes. His "MacArthur Park" is at the top of the charts and Jim Webb's career is soaring.

He has been signed to write the score for the film musical of "Peter Pan." Nearly completed is a second album of songs for actor Richard Harris whose first Webb Album, "A Tramp Shining," was a runaway success. Frank Sinatra, among others, has asked for some Webb songs. Taping has begun on a television special, "Jim Webb and His Friends. And on his latest single record, "One of the Nicer Things," Jim Webb—composer and lyricist—makes his singing debut.

It's been a fast and dizzying ascent for the kid who came out of Oklahoma in 1964 knowing he had to write songs: "There was a time in my life when, as a matter of body chemistry, I wrote three songs a week."

Jim came to San Bernardino, a desert town 60 miles from Hollywood, when his father, a Baptist minister, was assigned to a parish there. Then Jim's mother died, and his father decided to go back to Oklahoma. Jim, then 18 and enrolled in college, remained.

Things did not go well. His grades were poor, and the academic regimen appeared to be hindering rather than helping him. A professor suggested that Jim take his talent to Hollywood.

He broke up with his girl, made a brief visit to Oklahoma, and on that auspicious flight home wrote the song that catapulted him to success.

At first he lived in a bare Hollywood apartment, sleeping on a blanket on the floor. Then "By the Time I Get to Phoenix" was recorded. It did well, but not as well as the song that followed: "Up, Up and Away." An airline eventually bought the song for a commercial. Jim Webb started making money.

He leased a huge, tree-shaded old house just off Hollywood Boulevard where he lives with an entourage of friends, musicians and his business manager.

Articulate and soft-spoken, still with an Oklahoma drawl, Webb seems the calm center of this whirlwind success.

"I try to keep my mind on my work and write like I always wrote."

Half Million Filters Monthly From Plant

DEXTER — An estimated half-million filters a month will be produced at the new Fram factory when the plant gets into production here, Les Sleinkofer, Jr., plant manager, told the Kiwanis club.

By October, 1969, the company hopes to have between 150 and 200 employed, with a payroll in excess of $75,000 per month, Sleinkofer declared.

Sleinkofer told of the progress on the new Dexter industry, with the construction of the building coming along in good shape, and with equipment now arriving daily and some of it being installed.

The plant is huge -- three acres under one roof -- and will be "in production" as soon as possible, the manager declared. Fram officials are anxious to complete the building, finish the installation of equipment, so that actual production can begin, he pointed out.

He said that he and his associates have met with "full cooperation" from local Chamber of Commerce officials, city officials, and others, in bringing the new industry to Dexter.

Many applications for employment have been received, but little of the actual hiring has been done as yet, he pointed out.

In explaining some of the technicalities of the operation in Dexter, Sleinkofer said that production here would be of filters -- both oil and air -- under contract for other firms. In other words, the filters here will carry the name and be sold by other firms, including oil companies and the like.

This type of production calls for various specifications for various filters, so that, in reality, a number of types of filters will be produced at the local plant. Fram has plants throughout the United States and in foreign countries.

Human Rights Lesson Topic

MATTHEWS - "Human Rights - 1968" was the topic for the lesson led by Mrs. B. B. Conrad when the Christian Women's Fellowship met at the home of Mrs. William Depro Thursday evening. Suggestions of study materials and action projects in which church women should be involved during the Internation Year of Human Rights were listed. A check-list for evaluating the community in areas of employment, education, social security, equal protection of the law, citizenship rights, housing, health and general welfare, freedom of thought, conscience and religion provided thought provoking comments during the roundtable discussion.

From the mission study book "New Forms of Mission" Mrs. Dennis Parsons reviewed the second chapter "The People We Send as Missionaries." It identified new opportunities available to laymen to engage in mission work.

Mrs. Joe Silverthorn led the devotion. Mrs. Lester King presided during the business session at which a report was given on the Aug. 3 ice cream social. A dessert course was served by the hostess during the social hour.

Mrs. Nelson Lumsden and daughter Ruth Ann visited last week in Litchfield, Ill., with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spalding and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hawkins and sons, Tim and Todd, of St. Louis visited last Thursday with his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Robbs.

Miss Donna Jo Reid, who suffered a concussion and fractured back in an auto accident Aug. 10, was moved last Thursday from Missouri Delta Community Hospital to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Bill Harris of Texarkana, Ark., and cousin, Miss Deene Ann Whitten. Her father, Ellis V. Reid, and brothers, Ellis W. of Jackson, Miss., and Bill of Fort Campbell, Ky., visited her during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Faries, Lila and Reggie Vandiver and their guests, Susan and Ann Keasler of Crawford, Miss., spent last weekend at Horseshoe Bend, Ark.

Mrs. M. H.Radcliffe enjoyed a vacation last week in the Ozark area near Branson with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Radcliffe and sons of Danville, Ill., and Mrs. Radcliffe's mother, Mrs. Mary Dell Lear of Jackson.

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gaines and their six-week-old daughter, Darla Lynn, who was making her first visit to family and friends.

Lee Rakestraw of Bonneville, Miss., visited here Monday and Tuesday with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rakestraw, and with friends made while teaching here 10 years ago. Rakestraw is now teaching in a junior college at Booneville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gurley and daughter Mary Lou and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gurley of St. Louis visited here last Saturday with Mr. L. D. Waters.

Speaker at the Christian Church Sunday was the District 10 minister, the Rev. Charles Barr. While here he was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lumsden.

Mississippi County Property Evaluated

CHARLESTON - Thirty National Youth Corps representatives, accompanied by agents of the Missouri State Tax Commission have began to measure and evaluate commercial property in Mississippi County.

Beginning Monday the same group of workers will begin a similar program on all residential property.

The purpose is to equalize assessments for tax purposes. Similar work has been completed in Ste. Genevieve county, and in Madison.

The NYS group or high school students engaged in this program will be working under the direction of the state tax commission, the county court and county assessor. In the residential area the group will determine the square footage of all houses, age, whether brick or siding, number of bathrooms, and whether it has central air conditioning, and whther it has a full basement. All facts are recorded on cards, check by the agent for the tax commission, and then sent to Jefferson City for evaluation. Size of the lot will also be made part of the record.

A formula has also been worked out to equalize the valuations of all farm land, the tax commission agent said.

As soon as the work has been completed in the county the complete list will be publicly posted in the office of the county clerk for a period of 30 days. Any taxpayer is then fre to inspect the list, compare figures, and then register a complaint if he so desires. The chairman of the State Tax Commission, the county court and assessor will meet with such taxpayers, and to over the figures.

Eventually these tentative assessments will become part of the permanent record.

Total cost of this program is expected to be less than $5,000 for Mississippi county. By comparison, the county of Callaway hired a private concern to reassess all property within the county, and the bill came to $94,000. A number of other counties have also asked for this service by the State Tax Commission, the agent added.

JOE SCOTT, extension agronomist at the Delta Center, Portageville, inspects kenaf, a fiber crop used for pulp production by paper mills. The kenaf grows as high as 10 feet. Kenaf and other new crops can be seen at a Field Day Sept. 5.

New Crops Will Be Displayed

PORTAGEVILLE - Southeast Missouri farmers attending the Delta Center Field Day Sept. 5 will see something new reports Joe Scott, extension agronomist.

New crops are being tested and new research on old crops are being tried.

The new crops to be seen are kenaf and oilseed varieties of sunflowers. Kenaf, a fiber crop that has a high potential for pulp production to be used by paper mills, is being tested. Variety and fertilizer tests are being conducted on the high oilseed Russian sunflower varieties. A research program is being conducted on sugar beets which includes varieties, fertilization, disease control and irrigation.

The new cotton variety Mo-dell developed at the Delta Center will be shown and discussed along with two other new promising varieties. New weed control, disease and insect control treatments are being tried on cotton.

A soybean variety and irrigation study that includes new soybean varieties will be included in the tour of the field. Weed control studies on soybeans that include new post-emergency herbicides will be featured at the field day.

Grain sorghum acreage is increasing in Southeast Missouri. New varieties and fertility treatments are being tried at the Delta Center for the first time.

An irrigation study is being conducted by the station meteorologis to determine how much water cotton needs and used under irrigated and non-irrigated conditions.

New control methods for combating the Southwestern and European corn borer will be pointed out to visitors at the field day.

A tomato breeding program that consists of varieties are harvested entirely by mechanical means will be a stop on the field tour.

The field day will start at 9 a.m. Lunch will be available at the field.

Farm-Operating Loan Rate Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration has increased its interest rate on farm-operating loans for the first time in more than 30 years.

The maximum rate has been five per cent since 1947, the FHA said Thursday, but now is 5½ per cent. The increase was provided in a new law signed by President Johnson.

Operating loans are made to family farmers for the purchase of such things as livestock, machinery and livestock feed. They are made directly through the FHA, a credit agency of the Department of Agriculture.

The new law sets up a flexible interest rate which may be adjusted yearly to cover costs, the FHA said.

This year the agency estimates farm operating loans will total $275 million, about the same as for the year ended June 30.

The new law also expands FHA loan programs aimed at helping farmers develop small businesses or recreational areas on their land.

The loans will be limited to $60,000 for real estate development and $35,000 for equipment and operating expenses, payable over seven years at 5½ per cent. The limit previously for nonfarm enterprise loans by the FHA was $3,500, the department said.

Recreation projects may include converting farms to areas for fishing, boating, camping and golfing, the department said.

Beans in Light Soil Could Use Water

BENTON - The soybean crop in Scott and Mississippi counties looks good on the heavier soils area farm management agent Richard F. McIntosh says. Moisture is becoming critical on the lighter soils.

Many soybean fields are in full bloom or filling pods and moisture stress during this period of growth is critical. Soybeans damaged by moisture shortages do not set as many pods and both the number and size of beans per pod are reduced.

In prior years, some farmers have doubled their soybean yields by irrigating one time during this stage of growth.

Field crops specialist suggest applying enough irrigation water to wet the soil at least two feet ddep but not more than three feet deep for soybeans.

A soil auger or moisture probe can be used to check the depth of water penetration.

In order to wet the soil two to three feet deep it will take the following amounts of water on the different soil types. On course sandy soil apply 1½ inches ofwater. On sandy loam soil apply 2¼ inches of water. On silt loam soil apply 2¾ inches of water. On clay soil apply 2 5/8 inches of water.

These amounts of water are required if the soil is at 50 per cent of field capacity when irrigation is started.

On clay gumbo soil care should be taken to prevent waterlogging the soil.

Kennett to Vote on Bonds to Build Plant

KENNETT - The Kennett city council last night approved an ordinance calling for a special election Sept. 17, on the issuance of industrial revenue bonds totaling $5 million for the purchase and construction of the new Uniroyal Plant which is being located in Kennett.

The bonds will be payable solely from revenue from the new industry and will in no way affect local taxes.

Young Men Can Apply for Academies

WASHINGTON - Every young man in Missouri's tenth congressional district, who is interested in attending either the U. S. military academy at West Point, the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis, or the U. S. air force academy at Colorado Springs, has an opportunity to participate in a competitive scholastic examination, conducted by the Civil Service Commission. The results will be used by Congressman Paul C. Jones in making his nominations.

Sept. 2 is the deadline for filing application to take the examination. A request may be made to Congressman Jones asking for a form which he requires all applicants to complete and return in order to receive consideration. The form should then be mailed in time to reach the office of Congressman Jones, 2302 Rayburn Building, Washington, D. C., not later than Sept. 2.

Young men between 17 and 21 living in any of the 16 counties of the congressional district are eligible to take the examination.

Only those who take this examination will be considered for appointment.

The examination, will be given simultaneously at West Plains, Poplar Bluff, Cape Girardeau, and Farmington. Arrangements can be made for applicants who are attending college to take the examination in the city where the college is located or another nearby location.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures

By SYD KRONISH

Although it's a year late in arriving on the philatelic scene Turkey has issued a set of four colorful stamps hailing 1967 as "Tourism Year."

The symbol, a dove of peace and an olive branch, appears on each of the new stamps. The 50 kurus shows Karagoz, the Turkish Punchet Theater. The 60 kurus depicts the sword and shield dance. The 90 kurus illustrates the Janissary Band. The 100 kurus bears a single illustration of a figure from the puppet theatre.

The Turkish postal authorities also announced a set of two honoring "Europa" and depicting the symbolic key design used by all countries issuing stamps for this common cause.

The little island of Montserrat is the first to announce the issuance of a stamp honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King. The decision to issue the stamp was made one day after the assassination. The new adhesive will be part of the International Human Rights Year issue. The first stamps of Montserrat were issued in 1876. Its main industry is tourism.

Fiji has issued a new definitive series of stamps to replace a similar set released in 1961. Each stamp bears a likeness of Queen Elizabeth. The designs show native houses, passion fruit flowers, the rare Nautilus Pompilius sea shell, white reef heron, hawk moth, nagel fish, bamboo raft, tiger moth, black marlin, sun birds, ringstrabed sea snake, outrigger canoe, golden cowrie shell, Emporor Gold Mine, bamboo orchids, ceremonial whale's tooth and the Fiji coat of arms.

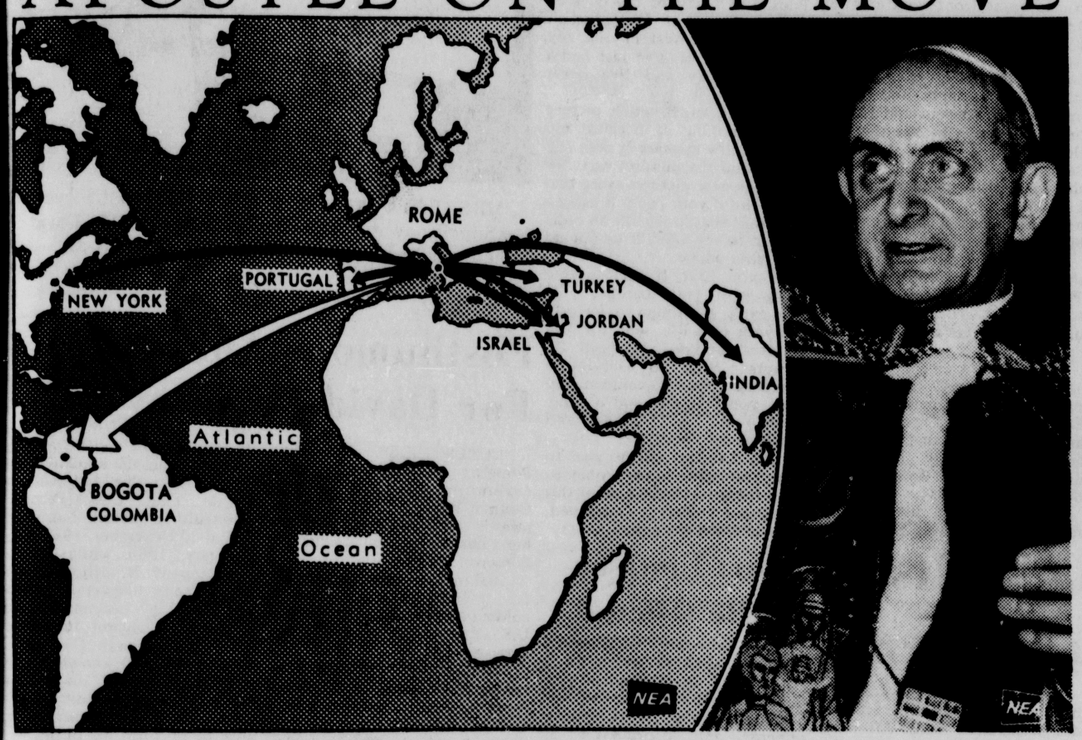
Belgium honors the Mexico City Olympic Games with five semi-postals. The Olympic events depicted are gymnastics, weight lifting, hurdling, bicycle racing and yachting.

APOSTLE ON THE MOVE



Pope Paul VI's journey to Bogota, Colombia, to participate in the 39th World Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic church points up his own nickname for himself—"Apostle on the move." He has traveled farther and more often than any of his recorded 261 predecessors as Bishop of Rome and is the first pontiff to journey by air. Previous visits have been to India, the Mideast (Israel and Jordan), Turkey, Portugal and New York, to appear at the United Nations. The only continents he has not yet visited are Africa and Australia.

Artist's sketch depicts tunnel exploration using equipment in kit developed at U.S. Army Natick Laboratories.

Tunnel Kit Provides Exploration Equipment

Infantrymen in Vietnam recently have begun using a tunnel exploration kit developed at the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories, Natick, Mass.

The new kit brings together the many items necessary for an unusual task that U.S. soldiers face every day in Vietnam: searching the maze of enemy underground hideouts.

The tunnel kit was the quick response of the Natick staff to requests from soldiers in Vietnam for a package of equipment that would be readily available for tunnel exploration.

Natick technologists determined what soldiers wanted and needed in the kit and put the package together mainly from material already in the Army's supply system.

Most of the necessary items are packaged in a jungle rucksack, making a single unit that weighs only about 18 pounds. The remaining essential components, such as bayonets and load-carrying equipment, are available in Vietnam through normal supply channels.

The complete tunnel kit provides equipment for three soldiers. It consists of four major sub-assemblies:

- Weapons system, including two .22-caliber automatic pistols, two pistol holsters, two bayonets and scabbards and four pairs of special silicone rubber and aluminum ear plugs that protect the ears from sharp noises, but allow the hearing of voices and other normal sounds.
- Communications system, including a lightweight communications set with a headset that has a microphone at the back of the head and a receiver over one ear. Incoming sound can be cut off by a volume control that still allows the man in the tunnel to be heard outside. Wire is payed out from a cable dispenser attached to the back of the tunnel explorer's belt.
- Lighting system, including two lightweight, waterproof lanterns that operate on six-volt dry batteries.
- Individual equipment, including standard Army load-carrying items such as field packs, belts, suspenders and ammunition cases. (ANF)

By SYD KRONISH

Although it's a year late in arriving on the philatelic scene urkey has issued a set of four colorful stamps hailing 1967 a: Tourism Year."

The symbol, a dove of peace and n olive branch, appears on each of he new stamps. The 50 kurus hows Karagoz, the Turkish Pup- et Theater. The 60 kurus depicts the sword and shield dance. The 90 kurus illustrates the Janissary Band. The 100 kurus bears a single illustration of a figure from the puppet theatre.

The Turkish postal authorities also announced a set of two honoring "Europa" and depicting the symbolic key design used by all countries issuing stamps for this common cause.

H.E.L.P. Aids I-70 Motorists

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. -- Every day, 24 hours a day, motorists crossing the Show-Me State on Interstate 70 have something new going for them -- H.E.L.P.

H.E.L.P., the Highway Emergency Locating Plan, is a network of citizen's band, two-way radios along Interstate 70. Motorists with two-way radios in their cars can call the nearest Shell Service Station for assistance and information. The system, developed and sponsored by the Automobile Manufacturers Association and the Shell Oil Company, has recently been introduced to Missouri as part of a nationwide test of the program. The stretch of Interstate 70 between St. Louis and Kansas City is one of the testing grounds for H.E.L.P. Other tests of the program are now underway on the Southeast Coast and the West Coast.

The federal government, which has been working on the problems of aiding motorists on limited access highways for a long time, originally solicited the auto industry for help in developing more feasible solutions to these problems. The methods that were used bfore the H.E.L.P. program was initiated include roadside phones, solar powered emergency signal systems, highway radio transmitters and more road patrols.

The H.E.L.P. program may go a long way in replacing these systems. There are more than two million CB (Citizens Band) mobile radios in use in the nation today, and their use grows dramatically. In Missouri alone, there are nearly 250,000 licensed CB radio operators. Many of the radios are combination transmitters and receivers, called transceivers.

Most present-day transceivers have 23 channels, of which the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has designated Channel 9 as the emergency call channel.

Sixteen Shell dealers between St. Louis and Kansas City have agreed to take part in the H.E.L.P. program. They are the first in the country to be organized into a network for communication with motorists via two-way radios. They have, at their own expense, equipped themselves with transceivers and antennas and many have mobile CB equipment in their tow or service trucks. Calls on H.E.L.P. are answered by the Shell station nearest or by one of the private CB operators hearing the call. Only Shell opeartors are permitted to join the H.E.L.P. program but in emergencies other radio opeartors can answer a call and relay it to a Shell station.

Many local radio clubs throughout the state assist in the H.E.L.P. program. One of these is called REACT (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens Team), a Central Missouri CB radio club, and has been in existence for some time. Its goal is to provide 24-hour-a-day monitoring service covering all of mid-Missouri with its own facilities and providing links to similar services provided by other CB organizations in other areas of the state and the nation. The H.E.L.P. system will add more radios to this network.

One reason the system is so effective is that the FCC has given the Shell stations permission to use higher towers than the regulation 25 feet high towers allowed for most CB operators. The service stations may go to 200 feet towers, giving them much greater and clearer reception.

In addition to providing emergency service for motorists, the H.E.L.P. system also gives the motorists travel information about road repairs, traffic, weather and even food and lodging available along their route.

To the service stations in the program, H.E.L.P. means lots of extra work but Shell station owners along 1-70 say it is paying off in satisfied customers and quick emergency service. Although designed to help those motorists who have two-way radios in their cars, it also functions well for those without two-way radios. A large proportion of the calls received asking for emergency help are called in by someone with a radio who has seen a fellow motorist without such equipment in difficulty.

Promotion of the system is by billboards along the 210-mile route informing motorists of the presence of H.E.L.P. and giving them directions on how to use it.

In addition to helping motorists, the H.E.L.P. system could eventually evolve into part of a national civil defense program and help in routing traffic in and out of major cities and along major roadways in case of disaster.

Ann Landers

Questionnaire Strikes Out Prospective Bridegroom

Dear Ann Landers: Marvin and I have been going together for over a year. We are both in our 30's and old enough to know what we are doing. Marvin was married briefly five years ago but it didn't work out.

Two weeks ago Marvin began to talk marriage. He made it clear that he was not actually proposing, just "considering it" because there were a few things he had to find out first. Tonight he asked me five questions which he had written down on a piece of paper. Here are the questions:

(1) Do you need any dental work done?

(2) Do you need any surgery?

(3) What kind of insurance do you carry?

(4) Are you in line to inherit any money?

(5) Is there any insanity in your family?

I like Marvin very much and we get along fairly well but these questions have raised some doubts in my mind. What do you think?-- MISS D.

Dear Miss: I think you don't need a nut like this for a husband. One thing is certain, it isn't necessary to ask HIM question number five. You already know the answer.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old girl. My parents were divorced last year. My mother didn't want me. Neither did my dad but he took me because there just wasn't any place for me to go.

My father is an alcoholic. He comes home from work at 4:30 p.m. and starts to hit the bottle. By 6:00 p.m. he is stoned. He won't let me turn on the lights because it hurts his eyes. I can't study without lights. We live in a one-room apartment and I sleep on the couch -- he has the bed that pulls out of the wall. The bathroom is down the hall. We share it with two other families. I can't study in there. Please help me. I'm going nuts. -- MISERABLE GIRL

Dear Miserable: No girl should have to live like that. Talk to your clergyman about a foster home. There are aspects of this setup far worse than the light problem.

Dear Ann Landers: How old are you, anyway? In a recent column you mentioned the Stanley Steamer. I haven't heard anyone mention that car in at least 30 years. My grandfather drove one and I'm no kid. I'll be 63 my next birthday.

Every now and then you say something that gives away your age. Why don't you go straight and take that picture out of the paper and put one in that looks like you? I'll bet the picture I'm looking at right now was taken 20 years ago. --- NOBODY'S FOOL

Dear No: Simmer down, Pops. I've heard of the covered wagon, too, but that doesn't mean I came West in one. My age is no secret. I've just had a 50th birthday and I've never tried to hide it.

I don't know which picture you're looking at because my column now appears in over 700 papers and the pictures vary. We send out new pictures every two years and if your paper is using a mug shot that looks like an oldie send it to me and I'll take it up with your editor.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

100 Housing Units to Be Built in Dexter

DEXTER - Announcement was made here Thursday that the Federal Housing Authority has taken title to a 13-acre tract of land at the southwest end of the Ira V. Holmes property.

One hundred low rent housing units will be constructed on the site.

Seventy of these units will be for elderly living, the other thirty for low-income family living. The complex will have an office and maintenance building which will probably be in connection with a community space building. It was pointed out that the community building will be just that, available for the use of the entire community within limits of Housing Autnoritu regulations, according to Harry Jennings, executive director of the local project.

Total cost of the project will be within limits of $1,476,000, with the community building to cost approximately $41,000. Facilities for preparing and serving light refreshments will be included in the community building.

A survey of the ground has been run and tentative lay out design has been made. After the local board approves plans by Architect Stanley Brown, Dallas, Texas, bids will be advertised, allowing 30 days before opening, Jennings said. The board hopes to have the bid opening within 60 days, and the Housing Assistance Administration has estimated construction time at one year on a 100-unit facility. If bids are within architects estimated cost and are approved by the Housing Authority construction can start immediately after bid opening.

The site is at the northern edge of Dexter and slopes gently to the south. It lies to the west of Cash and Carry Market and Jim Carney, owner and operator of the market, has given easement to the county for a 50-foot wide strip from the housing authority facility to his market. Carney will construct an all-weather road which will then be maintained by the county.

Howard Chrisman is board chairman of the local housing authority, Dr. F. C. Northington, vice chairman, Jennings, executive director, and Howard Hill, Bill Edwards and Marsh Watkins, members. The authority maintains an office at One N. Walnut in the Chrisman building.

Two Paving Projects Okayed

DEXTER — Three ordinances were the main items of business at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

An Ordinance authorized paving on Fannetta Street from One Mile Road west to Woodland Drive.

Another approved the name change of Hickory Hills Subdivision Number Two to Kentwood Hills Subdivision.

Other action included approval of a purchase of an incinerator for the City Cemetery.

It was also voted that the Council would meet the first Monday night in September which is Labor Day.

One Alderman, James Gunn, was not present at the Monday night session.

MRS. FAYE POMEROY OF LUTESVILLE receives posthumous awards honoring her husband, Pfc. David K. Pomeroy, killed in Vietnam Feb. 18., from Lt. Col. J. J. Reedy, commanding officer of the Fifth U.S. Army advisor group in Cape Girardeau.

Posthumous Awards For David Pomeroy

LUTESVILLE — Mrs. Faye Pomeroy of Lutesville, in a ceremony at the Bollinger County Bank, Monday received awards posthumously honoring her husband, Pfc. David K. Pomeroy.

Making the presentation was Lt. Col. J. J. Reedy, commanding officer of the fifth U.S. army advisor group in Cape Girardeau.

The awards included the bronze star and purple heart medals, good conduct medal, combat infantryman badge, national defense service medal, Vietnam campaign ribbon and the expert badge with rifle and pistol bar.

Private First Class Pomeroy was killed in Vietnam Feb. 18, less than two months after his arrival. He entered the army June 13, 1967.

The citation, accompanying the bronze star medal, reads:

"Citation by direction of the President, awarded to Pfc. David K. Pomeroy, United States Army.

For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. Private First Class Pomeroy distinguished himself during the period 30 November, 1967 to 18 February, 1968, while assigned to Company B, 4th Battalion, 3rd Infantry. Private Pomeroy was initially assigned as an ammunition- bearer in one of the mortar squads. Due to his competence and knowledge, he was soon placed in a fire direction control position and, after only a few weeks he was able to perform his duties as a computer with minimum supervision. On several occasions, Private Pomeroy performed the duties of radio-telephone operator. He was able to keep abreast of the tactical situation at all times and could supply his platoon leader with the locations and missions of the other elements of the company in any situation. Private First Class Pomeroy's capable performance in many diversified fields, his outstanding devotion to duty and willingness to work long and arduous hours were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflected great credit upon himself, the American Division and the United States Army."

Others present for the presentation were Pfc. Pomeroy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pomeroy of Lutesville, and his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Stewart and children, Jonathan and Lora Lee of Rolla.

Mrs. Pomeroy is a former resident of New Madrid and the daughter of Mrs. B. C. Horton of New Madrid.

If You Were the Judge

No Conspiracy in Alien's Marriage

By Jack Strauss,
LL.B.

Ethel fell madly in love with Alfredo and became redder as he became bolder. When Alfredo finally turned on his charm full blast, their romance began to sizzle and they got married.

What Ethel didn't know, however, was that Alfredo was an alien and had concocted a scheme to marry her in order to avoid deportation. She found out the truth when Alfredo was arrested and charged with "conspiracy" to defraud the U.S. by marrying a U.S. citizen to obtain legal residence in the United States.

As it turned out, Alfredo's motive for marrying Ethel didn't bother Ethel at all. She had been snared by a romantic Latin lover and didn't mind it at all.

"If I'm not complaining," she argued in court, "I don't see why it should bother anyone else?

' Because he didn't seriously intend to be married," answered the prosecuting attorney. "He only intended not to be deported. He tricked everyone by entering into an invalid marriage."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you jail amorous Alfredo?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while Alfredo may not have taken his marriage seriously, Ethel did. In fact, the judge noted, she was not only satisfied, she was real tickled with it. Consequently, since it takes two to conspire and Ethel was not a conspirator, there was no conspiracy.

Cairo May Be Served by Sun Airlines

CAIRO - Scheduled air service at Cairo Airport can be obtained if the area can show a need exists for the service.

Calvin Watson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that Sun Airlines has indicated they will establish an air service to Cairo if the traffic pattern shows they can afford to stop here.

Watson said that industries in the area such as Burkart and West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., have expressed a desire for such service in Cairo.

Several years ago Ozark Lines had service into Cairo, but this was discontinued because of its limited use.

"We now believe that we have sufficient amount of air travel and would use the service and that it would pay an airline to institute scheduled stops here," Watson said.

He pointed out that numerous Cairo people regularly travel to Cape Girardeau and Paducah for air connections.

Sun Airlines is in process of merging with Ong Airlines to provide expanded service in 11 states with connections with all major airlines. The company uses the Lear Jetliners, plus turbojets.

"We are now flying over Cairo enroute to Carbondale and Memphis," said C. L. Dinison, vice president of Sun Airlines. "We would be very much interested in talking to Cairo about service to and from your city in the near future,"

In addition topassenger service, the airline would provide air freight and air express services.

The Chamber of Commerce is conducting a survey to determine how many corporations, businesses, individuals and others would use a scheduled airline into Cairo. Information supplied will be an important factor the airlines decision on whether to place Cairo Airport on their schedules.

H.E.L.P. Aids I-70 Motorists

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. -- Every day, 24 hours a day, motorists crossing the Show-Me State on Interstate 70 have something new going for them -- H.E.L.P.

H.E.L.P., the Highway Emergency Locating Plan, is a network of citizen's band, two-way radios along Interstate 70. Motorists with two-way radios in their cars can call the nearest Shell Service Station for assistance and information. The system, developed and sponsored by the Automobile Manufacturers Association and the Shell Oil Company, has recently been introduced to Missouri as part of a nationwide test of the program. The stretch of Interstate 70 between St. Louis and Kansas City is one of the testing grounds for H.E.L.P. Other tests of the program are now underway on the Southeast Coast and the West Coast.

The federal government, which has been working on the problems of aiding motorists on limited access highways for a long time, originally solicited the auto industry for help in developing more feasible solutions to these problems. The methods that were used bfore the H.E.L.P. program was initiated include roadside phones, solar powered emergency signal systems, highway radio transmitters and more road patrols.

The H.E.L.P. program may go a long way in replacing these systems. There are more than two million CB (Citizens Band) mobile radios in use in the nation today, and their use grows dramatically. In Missouri alone, there are nearly 250,000 licensed CB radio operators. Many of the radios are combination transmitters and receivers, called transceivers.

Most present-day transceivers have 23 channels, of which the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has designated Channel 9 as the emergency call channel.

Sixteen Shell dealers between St. Louis and Kansas City have agreed to take part in the H.E.L.P. program. They are the first in the country to be organized into a network for communication with motorists via two-way radios. They have, at their own expense, equipped themselves with transceivers and antennas and many have mobile CB equipment in their tow or service trucks. Calls on H.E.L.P. are answered by the Shell station nearest or by one of the private CB operators hearing the call. Only Shell opeartors are permitted to join the H.E.L.P. program but in emergencies other radio opeartors can answer a call and relay it to a Shell station.

Many local radio clubs throughout the state assist in the H.E.L.P. program. One of these is called REACT (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens Team), a Central Missouri CB radio club, and has been in existence for some time. Its goal is to provide 24-hour-a-day monitoring service covering all of mid-Missouri with its own facilities and providing links to similar services provided by other CB organizations in other areas of the state and the nation. The H.E.L.P. system will add more radios to this network.

One reason the system is so effective is that the FCC has given the Shell stations permission to use higher towers than the regulation 25 feet high towers allowed for most CB operators. The service stations may go to 200 feet towers, giving them much greater and clearer reception.

In addition to providing emergency service for motorists, the H.E.L.P. system also gives the motorists travel information about road repairs, traffic, weather and even food and lodging available along their route.

To the service stations in the program, H.E.L.P. means lots of extra work but Shell station owners along 1-70 say it is paying off in satisfied customers and quick emergency service. Although designed to help those motorists who have two-way radios in their cars, it also functions well for those without two-way radios. A large proportion of the calls received asking for emergency help are called in by someone with a radio who has seen a fellow motorist without such equipment in difficulty.

Promotion of the system is by billboards along the 210-mile route informing motorists of the presence of H.E.L.P. and giving them directions on how to use it.

In addition to helping motorists, the H.E.L.P. system could eventually evolve into part of a national civil defense program and help in routing traffic in and out of major cities and along major roadways in case of disaster.

Ann Landers

Questionnaire Strikes Out Prospective Bridegroom

Dear Ann Landers: Marvin and I have been going together for over a year. We are both in our 30's and old enough to know what we are doing. Marvin was married briefly five years ago but it didn't work out.

Two weeks ago Marvin began to talk marriage. He made it clear that he was not actually proposing, just "considering it" because there were a few things he had to find out first. Tonight he asked me five questions which he had written down on a piece of paper. Here are the questions:

(1) Do you need any dental work done?

(2) Do you need any surgery?

(3) What kind of insurance do you carry?

(4) Are you in line to inherit any money?

(5) Is there any insanity in your family?

I like Marvin very much and we get along fairly well but these questions have raised some doubts in my mind. What do you think?-- MISS D.

Dear Miss: I think you don't need a nut like this for a husband. One thing is certain, it isn't necessary to ask HIM question number five. You already know the answer.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old girl. My parents were divorced last year. My mother didn't want me. Neither did my dad but he took me because there just wasn't any place for me to go.

My father is an alcoholic. He comes home from work at 4:30 p.m. and starts to hit the bottle. By 6:00 p.m. he is stoned. He won't let me turn on the lights because it hurts his eyes. I can't study without lights. We live in a one-room apartment and I sleep on the couch -- he has the bed that pulls out of the wall. The bathroom is down the hall. We share it with two other families. I can't study in there. Please help me. I'm going nuts. -- MISERABLE GIRL

Dear Miserable: No girl should have to live like that. Talk to your clergyman about a foster home. There are aspects of this setup far worse than the light problem.

Dear Ann Landers: How old are you, anyway? In a recent column you mentioned the Stanley Steamer. I haven't heard anyone mention that car in at least 30 years. My grandfather drove one and I'm no kid. I'll be 63 my next birthday.

Every now and then you say something that gives away your age. Why don't you go straight and take that picture out of the paper and put one in that looks like you? I'll bet the picture I'm looking at right now was taken 20 years ago. --- NOBODY'S FOOL

Dear No: Simmer down, Pops. I've heard of the covered wagon, too, but that doesn't mean I came West in one. My age is no secret. I've just had a 50th birthday and I've never tried to hide it.

I don't know which picture you're looking at because my column now appears in over 700 papers and the pictures vary. We send out new pictures every two years and if your paper is using a mug shot that looks like an oldie send it to me and I'll take it up with your editor.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

100 Housing Units to Be Built in Dexter

DEXTER - Announcement was made here Thursday that the Federal Housing Authority has taken title to a 13-acre tract of land at the southwest end of the Ira V. Holmes property.

One hundred low rent housing units will be constructed on the site.

Seventy of these units will be for elderly living, the other thirty for low-income family living. The complex will have an office and maintenance building which will probably be in connection with a community space building. It was pointed out that the community building will be just that, available for the use of the entire community within limits of Housing Autnoritu regulations, according to Harry Jennings, executive director of the local project.

Total cost of the project will be within limits of $1,476,000, with the community building to cost approximately $41,000. Facilities for preparing and serving light refreshments will be included in the community building.

A survey of the ground has been run and tentative lay out design has been made. After the local board approves plans by Architect Stanley Brown, Dallas, Texas, bids will be advertised, allowing 30 days before opening, Jennings said. The board hopes to have the bid opening within 60 days, and the Housing Assistance Administration has estimated construction time at one year on a 100-unit facility. If bids are within architects estimated cost and are approved by the Housing Authority construction can start immediately after bid opening.

The site is at the northern edge of Dexter and slopes gently to the south. It lies to the west of Cash and Carry Market and Jim Carney, owner and operator of the market, has given easement to the county for a 50-foot wide strip from the housing authority facility to his market. Carney will construct an all-weather road which will then be maintained by the county.

Howard Chrisman is board chairman of the local housing authority, Dr. F. C. Northington, vice chairman, Jennings, executive director, and Howard Hill, Bill Edwards and Marsh Watkins, members. The authority maintains an office at One N. Walnut in the Chrisman building.

MRS. FAYE POMEROY OF LUTESVILLE receives posthumous awards honoring her husband, Pfc. David K. Pomeroy, killed in Vietnam Feb. 18., from Lt. Col. J. J. Reedy, commanding officer of the Fifth U.S. Army advisor group in Cape Girardeau.

Posthumous Awards For David Pomeroy

LUTESVILLE — Mrs. Faye Pomeroy of Lutesville, in a ceremony at the Bollinger County Bank, Monday received awards posthumously honoring her husband, Pfc. David K. Pomeroy.

Making the presentation was Lt. Col. J. J. Reedy, commanding officer of the fifth U.S. army advisor group in Cape Girardeau.

The awards included the bronze star and purple heart medals, good conduct medal, combat infantryman badge, national defense service medal, Vietnam campaign ribbon and the expert badge with rifle and pistol bar.

Private First Class Pomeroy was killed in Vietnam Feb. 18, less than two months after his arrival. He entered the army June 13, 1967.

The citation, accompanying the bronze star medal, reads:

"Citation by direction of the President, awarded to Pfc. David K. Pomeroy, United States Army.

For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. Private First Class Pomeroy distinguished himself during the period 30 November, 1967 to 18 February, 1968, while assigned to Company B, 4th Battalion, 3rd Infantry. Private Pomeroy was initially assigned as an ammunition- bearer in one of the mortar squads. Due to his competence and knowledge, he was soon placed in a fire direction control position and, after only a few weeks he was able to perform his duties as a computer with minimum supervision. On several occasions, Private Pomeroy performed the duties of radio-telephone operator. He was able to keep abreast of the tactical situation at all times and could supply his platoon leader with the locations and missions of the other elements of the company in any situation. Private First Class Pomeroy's capable performance in many diversified fields, his outstanding devotion to duty and willingness to work long and arduous hours were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflected great credit upon himself, the American Division and the United States Army."

Others present for the presentation were Pfc. Pomeroy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pomeroy of Lutesville, and his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Stewart and children, Jonathan and Lora Lee of Rolla.

Mrs. Pomeroy is a former resident of New Madrid and the daughter of Mrs. B. C. Horton of New Madrid.

PRAYER: Dear God, help us to show forth our praise and thankfulness to Thee by helping others to see good and beauty in the commonplace things of life. By so doing, help us to increase beauty in the lives of all mankind. Amen.

"Flying Shuttle"

Contrary to widespread belief, it was not the invention of the steam engine which led to the industrial revolution, but the "flying shuttle," a mechanical device for the weaving and spinning of cotton goods, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Aug. 26, the 239th day of 1968. There are 127 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1920, the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution went into effect. American women were guaranteed the same voting rights as men.

On this date:

In 1346, King Edward III of England defeated Philio VI of France in the Battle of Crecy in Northern France. It's said artillery was used for the first time in history.

In 1584, the Dutch painter, Frans Hals, was born.

In 1765, the home of Governor Thomas Hutchinson of Massachusetts was sacked by a mob who thought he favored the British Stamp Act.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler demanded that France return the Saar to Germany.

In 1937, Japan blockaded Chinese shipping.

In 1964, a Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, nominated President Lyndon B. Johnson by acclamation.

Ten years ago - 15 persons died in a Typhoon in Japan.

Five years ago - A United Nations team began a survey in North Borneo and Sarawak to determine whether the people of the two British colonies wished to join the Federation of Malaysia.

One year ago - Bandits on the Italian island of Sardinia were kidnaping and murdering people in defiance of a government crackdown.

Retired Farmer Kennett Dies

BLOOMFIELD -- Services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday in Chiles-Cooper Funeral Home for Wm. N. Kennett, a retired farmer who died Saturday in a Poplar Bluff hospital of an apparent heart attack.

The Rev. Guy D. Magee, Bloomfield, will officiate. Burial will be in Horner Cemetery, Hornersville.

Kennett, 86, was born July 18, 1882, in Canton, Ga. He spent his childhood in Hornersville.

On March 22, 1902, he was married to Miss Etta Foster. She died in November of 1964.

Kennett was a member of the Zion Methodist Church.

Surviving are two sons, Loyd Kennett, Traverse City, Mich., and Nathan Kennett, Hardin; four daughters, Mrs. A. N. Corbin, Wood River, Ill., Mrs. Linden Perkins, Hornersville, Mrs. Clarence Taylor, Bloomfield and Mrs. Robert Ledbetter, Cahokia, Illinois.

Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Harris, Holly, Mich., and Mrs. Bernie Cochrum, Kennett; 19 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Jean Bodger to Join Library Staff

JEFFERSON CITY -- The appointment to the Missouri state library staff of Mrs. Joan Bodger, known for her work in children's literature, was announced today by Charles O'Halloran, Missouri state librarian.

Mrs. Bodger will serve as children's services consultant for the state library, effective in mid-September. She is the author of "How The Heather Looks," first published in 1959, in which she recounts her impressions on a trip to those areas of Britain which have provided background for children's books.

Mrs. Bodger studied at the School of Librarianship at the University of California in Berkley. She is a children's story-teller and book reviewer.

Infants in the mid-20th century are healthier and have a better chance of survival than at any time in history. The infant mortality rate in the United States in 1900 was about 150 per 1,000 live births; the rate today is about 25 per 1,000 live births.

Tucker Buys Dexter Firm

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The L. A. Tucker Truck Lines Inc., has taken over opreation of the Hart Truck Line of Dexter. It recently acquired the line following receipt of a certificate of convenience and necessity from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Purchase of the line was from Gordon Hart, who had operated the business many years, serving Dexter, Doniphan, Malden and Poplar Bluff areas and interconnecting into Memphis, Tenn., but not serving Arkansas points.

The newly-acquired line has 89 units of equipment for shortline operation, which are now added to the extensive fleet of 266 units operated by Tucker in service to Cairo, Kennett, Caruthersville, Sikeston, Perryville, St. Louis, Jackson, Blytheville, Ark., and Memphis. Terminal offices, following takeover of the new line, will be in Dexter, Malden, Poplar Bluff and Doniphan, with the main offices here. The line now has 281 employes in all phases of its operation.

Lawyer Pleads Innocent to Bank Robbery Charges

KANSAS CITY (AP) - A Kansas City lawyer who was shot and wounded after a bank robbery Friday pleaded innocent from his hospital bed Saturday.

U. S. Commissioner J. Whitfield Moody went to General Hospital after federal bank robbery charges were filed by Calvin Hamilton, U. S. attorney for Western Missouri.

James Herrington, 43, a criminal lawyer, entered a plea of innocent. He suffered wounds in an arm and leg after a man entered the Metropolitan National Bank and ordered a woman teller toempty cash drawers. He showed the woman a revolver and ran out with a sack full of money.

The gunman was pursued by two bank officials and ran up a stairwell of a nearby building where he was shot by a police officer.

The money, several thousand dollars, was recovered.

Letters From Home Save GI's Life

DIGHTON, Kan. (AP) - Like most GIs in Vietnam, Pfc. James D. Fletcher carried his letters from home in his helmet. The habit saved his life.

Fletcher is convalescing from wounds suffered July 19 when chunks of shrapnel ripped through his helmet from an exploding grenade.

The packet of letters from Cheryl, his bride of 20 months he left back in Dighton, was shredded and torn by the jagged shards of hot metal. But the letters, serving as a buffer, shielded Fletcher's brain from fatal damage, doctors said.

He was wounded in a battle for Hill 156, near the Cambodian border, where his outfit, the 4th Battalion, 31st Light Infantry Brigade, 196th Infantry, was ordered to cut an enemy supply route.

Fletcher rallied a small group of surviving American infantry men, and directed their fire which held back the Viet Cong until the wounded could be removed to safety.

For his action, Fletcher has been recommended for the Silver Star, the Army's third highest award for heroism.

Cheryl still tries to get a letter from home mailed off to him every morning, knowing he needs them more than ever now to help him toward recovery.

A little gossip, a little news, sweetened with love and a wife's expression of pride for his brave deed, and her prayer that he was spared from harm.

"I'm proud of you. Thank God, you're safe. I miss you."

Retired Printer Dies at Lilbourn

LILBOURN - Earl George Patterson, 56, a retired printer, died at his home at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Born June 21, 1912, in Morristown, Minn., he was the son of George and Florence Huff Patterson. He had lived here five years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Grace Patterson; one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Lee Hickson, and one stepdaughter, Mrs. Barbara Webster, both of Millington, Tenn.; one brother, Douglas Patterson, Deerfield, Ill., and two sisters, Miss Florence Patterson and Miss Joyce Patterson, both of Highwood, Ill.

Services were at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Ponder Funeral Home. The Rev. Gilbert Hulme officiated.

Burial was in Mounds Park cemetery near Lilbourn.

Hawaii U. Bows To Bikini Power

HONOLULU (AP) - The University of Hawaii has bowed to a new student movement-bikini power. The school dropped a ban on bikinis in the university's swimming pool during recreational hours.

The issue arose last month when two bikini-clad instructors were refused admission to the pool. This led to a demonstration and circulation of petitions. The brief swim suits were banned after several girls lost then while diving.

Plastic Inserted in Eye Restores Sight

COLUMBIA — "Doc, I would not take a million dollars for this thing," Fred Matthias of Highland City, Kan., says about a piece of plastic inserted in his eye that restored his sight through an operation at the University of Missouri medical center.

Matthias had been blind five years. In 1963 he was working with liquid fertilizer when a valve on the storage tank broke and anhydrous ammonia alkali hit him in the face. Although he felt as if his eyes were freezing, he learned later that the alkali had actually burned his eyes, leaving nothing but scar tissue. His sight was reduced to vague shadows and he could only do work around the house with his family's help.

He sought help at several hospitals without success. Then Matthias heard of the Lions eye tissue bank at the UMC medical center. He made an appointment to see ophthalmologists there. But the doctors recognized the burns on Matthias' eyes as the type which would continue to produce scar tissue and they felt a cornea transplant would be unsuccessful. One transplant was tried and it failed; it seemed the patient would remain blind.

Then in 1967, Dr. Leo Landhuis, instructor of surgery (ophthalmology) and director of the Lions Eye tissue bank, learned of a new eye operation developed by a doctor in Houston. A tiny, plastic, cylindrical - shaped keratoprosthesis ("button," as Matthias calls it) is put in the eye of persons blinded by chemical burns so that light can reach the back of the eye, which is usually undamaged. Some of the Texas doctor's patients had been able to see after this operation.

Dr. Landhuis told Matthias about the operation and suggested he think about it. If the operation were to be done, the eye surgeons would first operate on his worst eye, so Matthias felt he had nothing to lose.

In March, this year, Dr. Landhuis removed some scar tissue and a cataract in the first step of the operation. then he scraped off more scar tissue, located the center of the eye and trephined a tiny hole. The surgeon's primary concern was to see that the eye did not leak any fluid which would destroy the chance for a successful operation. After the hole was made, the plastic "button" was inserted and preserved sclera from the Eye Tissue Bank was used to sandwich and insert in place on the Eye Tissue Bank was used to sandwich the insert in place on the eye in the preplaced hole. The surgeon replaced the conjunctiva over the eye to give it a chance to heal.

Matthias had to wait until June to learn if he would see. He remembers, as the doctor removed the conjunctiva and the scar tissue, Dr. Landhuis kept asking, "Can you see anything, Fred?" At first the answer was no, then it changed to, "I can see something. I see print," Matthias said excitedly. The doctor could not guess what the patient saw, Matthias spelled out "H U I S, M D," the last half of the doctor's name from a tag sewn on his white coat.

"I got a real good look at the doctor that day for the first time, too," Matthias said.

Matthias told of his joy in seeing his two-year-old daughter for the first time, of seeing his other children and how they had grown, and the new styles in automobiles and buildings.

Matthias said he would be willing to go through a similar operation on his other eye.

"My left eye is a better eye and we've got to try for everything. These doctors know what they are doing," he said.

One reason Fred Matthias can read today is because some Missourian gave his eyes to the Lions Eye Tissue Bank. The Medical Center at the University of Missouri - Columbia is headquarters for the Eye Bank which is supported by the Missouri Lions Clubs. One of the 67 substations is within 50 miles of almost every person in Missouri. Tissue from this Eye Bank has been supplied throughout the country as well as Vietnam, South America and the hospital ship, the S. S. Hope.

Sclera, cornea and other eye tissue transplants are carried out at the Medical Center. Here, also, tissue is preserved and stored up to five years for emergency use.

Eyes come from Misssouri citizens who sign donor cards to give their eyes after death so someone else can see. More than 4500 Missourians have already signed donor cards.

To the person receiving sight from a donor, it is, as Fred Matthias says, "a little bit of a miracle."

Retired Farmer Kennett Dies

BLOOMFIELD -- Services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday in Chiles-Cooper Funeral Home for Wm. N. Kennett, a retired farmer who died Saturday in a Poplar Bluff hospital of an apparent heart attack.

The Rev. Guy D. Magee, Bloomfield, will officiate. Burial will be in Horner Cemetery, Hornersville.

Kennett, 86, was born July 18, 1882, in Canton, Ga. He spent his childhood in Hornersville.

On March 22, 1902, he was married to Miss Etta Foster. She died in November of 1964.

Kennett was a member of the Zion Methodist Church.

Surviving are two sons, Loyd Kennett, Traverse City, Mich., and Nathan Kennett, Hardin; four daughters, Mrs. A. N. Corbin, Wood River, Ill., Mrs. Linden Perkins, Hornersville, Mrs. Clarence Taylor, Bloomfield and Mrs. Robert Ledbetter, Cahokia, Illinois.

Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Harris, Holly, Mich., and Mrs. Bernie Cochrum, Kennett; 19 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Jean Bodger to Join Library Staff

JEFFERSON CITY -- The appointment to the Missouri state library staff of Mrs. Joan Bodger, known for her work in children's literature, was announced today by Charles O'Halloran, Missouri state librarian.

Mrs. Bodger will serve as children's services consultant for the state library, effective in mid-September. She is the author of "How The Heather Looks," first published in 1959, in which she recounts her impressions on a trip to those areas of Britain which have provided background for children's books.

Mrs. Bodger studied at the School of Librarianship at the University of California in Berkley. She is a children's story-teller and book reviewer.

Infants in the mid-20th century are healthier and have a better chance of survival than at any time in history. The infant mortality rate in the United States in 1900 was about 150 per 1,000 live births; the rate today is about 25 per 1,000 live births.

Tucker Buys Dexter Firm

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The L. A. Tucker Truck Lines Inc., has taken over opreation of the Hart Truck Line of Dexter. It recently acquired the line following receipt of a certificate of convenience and necessity from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Purchase of the line was from Gordon Hart, who had operated the business many years, serving Dexter, Doniphan, Malden and Poplar Bluff areas and interconnecting into Memphis, Tenn., but not serving Arkansas points.

The newly-acquired line has 89 units of equipment for shortline operation, which are now added to the extensive fleet of 266 units operated by Tucker in service to Cairo, Kennett, Caruthersville, Sikeston, Perryville, St. Louis, Jackson, Blytheville, Ark., and Memphis. Terminal offices, following takeover of the new line, will be in Dexter, Malden, Poplar Bluff and Doniphan, with the main offices here. The line now has 281 employes in all phases of its operation.

Lawyer Pleads Innocent to Bank Robbery Charges

KANSAS CITY (AP) - A Kansas City lawyer who was shot and wounded after a bank robbery Friday pleaded innocent from his hospital bed Saturday.

U. S. Commissioner J. Whitfield Moody went to General Hospital after federal bank robbery charges were filed by Calvin Hamilton, U. S. attorney for Western Missouri.

James Herrington, 43, a criminal lawyer, entered a plea of innocent. He suffered wounds in an arm and leg after a man entered the Metropolitan National Bank and ordered a woman teller toempty cash drawers. He showed the woman a revolver and ran out with a sack full of money.

The gunman was pursued by two bank officials and ran up a stairwell of a nearby building where he was shot by a police officer.

The money, several thousand dollars, was recovered.

Letters From Home Save GI's Life

DIGHTON, Kan. (AP) - Like most GIs in Vietnam, Pfc. James D. Fletcher carried his letters from home in his helmet. The habit saved his life.

Fletcher is convalescing from wounds suffered July 19 when chunks of shrapnel ripped through his helmet from an exploding grenade.

The packet of letters from Cheryl, his bride of 20 months he left back in Dighton, was shredded and torn by the jagged shards of hot metal. But the letters, serving as a buffer, shielded Fletcher's brain from fatal damage, doctors said.

He was wounded in a battle for Hill 156, near the Cambodian border, where his outfit, the 4th Battalion, 31st Light Infantry Brigade, 196th Infantry, was ordered to cut an enemy supply route.

Fletcher rallied a small group of surviving American infantry men, and directed their fire which held back the Viet Cong until the wounded could be removed to safety.

For his action, Fletcher has been recommended for the Silver Star, the Army's third highest award for heroism.

Cheryl still tries to get a letter from home mailed off to him every morning, knowing he needs them more than ever now to help him toward recovery.

A little gossip, a little news, sweetened with love and a wife's expression of pride for his brave deed, and her prayer that he was spared from harm.

"I'm proud of you. Thank God, you're safe. I miss you."

Retired Printer Dies at Lilbourn

LILBOURN - Earl George Patterson, 56, a retired printer, died at his home at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Born June 21, 1912, in Morristown, Minn., he was the son of George and Florence Huff Patterson. He had lived here five years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Grace Patterson; one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Lee Hickson, and one stepdaughter, Mrs. Barbara Webster, both of Millington, Tenn.; one brother, Douglas Patterson, Deerfield, Ill., and two sisters, Miss Florence Patterson and Miss Joyce Patterson, both of Highwood, Ill.

Services were at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Ponder Funeral Home. The Rev. Gilbert Hulme officiated.

Burial was in Mounds Park cemetery near Lilbourn.

Hawaii U. Bows To Bikini Power

HONOLULU (AP) - The University of Hawaii has bowed to a new student movement-bikini power. The school dropped a ban on bikinis in the university's swimming pool during recreational hours.

The issue arose last month when two bikini-clad instructors were refused admission to the pool. This led to a demonstration and circulation of petitions. The brief swim suits were banned after several girls lost then while diving.

Plastic Inserted in Eye Restores Sight

COLUMBIA — "Doc, I would not take a million dollars for this thing," Fred Matthias of Highland City, Kan., says about a piece of plastic inserted in his eye that restored his sight through an operation at the University of Missouri medical center.

Matthias had been blind five years. In 1963 he was working with liquid fertilizer when a valve on the storage tank broke and anhydrous ammonia alkali hit him in the face. Although he felt as if his eyes were freezing, he learned later that the alkali had actually burned his eyes, leaving nothing but scar tissue. His sight was reduced to vague shadows and he could only do work around the house with his family's help.

He sought help at several hospitals without success. Then Matthias heard of the Lions eye tissue bank at the UMC medical center. He made an appointment to see ophthalmologists there. But the doctors recognized the burns on Matthias' eyes as the type which would continue to produce scar tissue and they felt a cornea transplant would be unsuccessful. One transplant was tried and it failed; it seemed the patient would remain blind.

Then in 1967, Dr. Leo Landhuis, instructor of surgery (ophthalmology) and director of the Lions Eye tissue bank, learned of a new eye operation developed by a doctor in Houston. A tiny, plastic, cylindrical - shaped keratoprosthesis ("button," as Matthias calls it) is put in the eye of persons blinded by chemical burns so that light can reach the back of the eye, which is usually undamaged. Some of the Texas doctor's patients had been able to see after this operation.

Dr. Landhuis told Matthias about the operation and suggested he think about it. If the operation were to be done, the eye surgeons would first operate on his worst eye, so Matthias felt he had nothing to lose.

In March, this year, Dr. Landhuis removed some scar tissue and a cataract in the first step of the operation, then he scraped off more scar tissue, located the center of the eye and trephined a tiny hole. The surgeon's primary concern was to see that the eye did not leak any fluid which would destroy the chance for a successful operation. After the hole was made, the plastic "button" was inserted and preserved sclera from the Eye Tissue Bank was used to sandwich and insert in place on the Eye Tissue Bank was used to sandwich the insert in place on the eye in the preplaced hole. The surgeon replaced the conjunctiva over the eye to give it a chance to heal.

Matthias had to wait until June to learn if he would see. He remembers, as the doctor removed the conjunctiva and the scar tissue, Dr. Landhuis kept asking, "Can you see anything, Fred?" At first the answer was no, then it changed to, "I can see something. I see print," Matthias said excitedly. The doctor could not guess what the patient saw, Matthias spelled out "H U I S, M D," the last half of the doctor's name from a tag sewn on his white coat.

"I got a real good look at the doctor that day for the first time, too," Matthias said.

Matthias told of his joy in seeing his two-year-old daughter for the first time, of seeing his other children and how they had grown, and the new styles in automobiles and buildings.

Matthias said he would be willing to go through a similar operation on his other eye.

"My left eye is a better eye and we've got to try for everything. These doctors know what they are doing," he said.

One reason Fred Matthias can read today is because some Missourian gave his eyes to the Lions Eye Tissue Bank. The Medical Center at the University of Missouri - Columbia is headquarters for the Eye Bank which is supported by the Missouri Lions Clubs. One of the 67 substations is within 50 miles of almost every person in Missouri. Tissue from this Eye Bank has been supplied throughout the country as well as Vietnam, South America and the hospital ship, the S. S. Hope.

Sclera, cornea and other eye tissue transplants are carried out at the Medical Center. Here, also, tissue is preserved and stored up to five years for emergency use.

Eyes come from Misssouri citizens who sign donor cards to give their eyes after death so someone else can see. More than 4500 Missourians have already signed donor cards.

To the person receiving sight from a donor, it is, as Fred Matthias says, "a little bit of a miracle."
